THE COMMERCIAL HOTEL.

Many Alterations and Improvements Made by Landlord Langley

Proprietor P. Langley, of the Commercial Hotel, 54 and 56 Jarvis-street, is receiving the congratulations of his friends these days on the manner in which his hotel has been improved.

The painters, paper-hangers, carpenters and masons have been busy and the result is a thoroughly up-to-date hotel. There are fifty bed rooms, all as neat and clean as the proverbial new pin, while the comfortable well-lighted dining room will accommodate 64 guests at one sitting. Mr. Langley is a firm believer in providing his guests with the best there is in the way of food, and that an excellent bill-of-fare is invariably the order of the day. The bar is stocked with pure liquors of all kinds. At $1.00 and $1.50 per day, the present rates of the Commercial Hotel are one of the best houses in the city and will no doubt do an immense business during the time of the exhibition.

THE WARM WELCOME.

Mr. Cummings Says He Will Have His House in Order.

"Glad am I to be able to announce that the Slater Shore Store will be in fine shape for exhibition time," said Charles Cummings, as he surveyed the work now about completed in the store at 117 Yonge-street. There has been no interference with business while the work was in progress.

Cases of the fall styles in the Slater shoe await the formal fall opening, which takes place on Saturday next. "But what I desire most is to meet our exhibition visitors on the week following, believe me, and every store on Yonge-street is a good show place, and we must convince our guests of our sincerity in making them welcome visitors whether they come to buy or just to look."

The Manager's Message.
The manager of the Semi-ready Wardrobe says that the success of the Semi-ready does not need his heralding, and that its universal adoption is proven by the many imitations and counterfeits which are offered to the public. Every ready Semi-ready garment has the trademark and price sewed into the inside pocket. There is no excuse for the man who allows himself to be deceived.

"I am sending in special orders for suits every week. These are Semi-ready garments made by actual measurement, and they are tailored as no merchant tailor can possibly tailor clothes. Ten days is the usual time taken to fill orders for 'specials'."

"I wish I could take my patrons to see the Semi-ready tailor shops. They are on the side of Mount Royal, far away from the crowded factory district, and expert tailors are at work there throughout the year."

Garment Workers' Convention.
The International Garment Workers' fourth annual convention will open in the assembly room of the Labor Temple at 8 o'clock this morning. About 100 delegates from all over the continent will sit in session for two days.

Subjects such as the representation of labor in the government of nations, the recognition of the union label, and the question of capital to labor will be discussed. A photograph exhibition of all the union labels will be given to the delegates on the night of one of the members, J. H. Clark of Buffalo. Tomorrow night the joint association will give a magnificent honor to the visitors.

Russian Train Robbery.
Moscow, Aug. 25.—Twelve armed men today held up the Ivanovo passenger train, about fifty miles from here, and robbed a railway cashier of $2500 and escaped to the forest.

Subsequently two of the robbers were arrested.

DOCTORS VISIT THE FALLS

SEE THE BIG POWER PLANT

Three Hundred Delegates and Friends the Guests of Electrical Development Co.

Members of the British Medical Association to a large number were on Saturday entertained at Niagara Falls by the Electrical Development Company of Ontario, represented by Sir Henry Pellatt, the president, and H. H. Macrae, the general manager.

The party left Toronto at 9 o'clock by special train, and reached the Falls at 11, when they were taken by special car to the works of the company at Tempest Point. There about two hundred members went down into the wheel pit and into the big tunnel, and explored the coffer dam until 1 o'clock, when all to the number of three hundred, had lunch at the new Clifton House.

Sir H. M. Pellatt was in the chair, and with him were Lady Pellatt, Sir Hector Cameron, Dr. Franklin, Dr. McMurtry, Professor Sherrington, Dr. and Mrs. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Bond, Dr. Griffiths, Dr. McKenzie, Dr. H. Ashby, Mons. Le Docteur Lapique, Mrs. Gunn, Madame Lapique, and Marcus Gunn.

The president proposed the health of the King, and afterwards Dr. Rees and Dr. McMurtry moved a vote of thanks to Sir Henry Pellatt, which was replied to by him. Speaking as a Canadian, and as expressing the views of Canadians, he said that Canadians were more than delighted to welcome to the Dominion the British Medical Association and their friends, not only because of the pleasure given in meeting them, but also because we were anxious that they add their fellow countrymen should know Canada better than it had been known heretofore.
