LEAFS NOW THIRD WIN TWO CONTESTS

Good Pitching by Thompson and Brady-Richmond Team is Weak.

The Leafs found the Richmond Rebels the easiest picking of the year in the Monday double-header at Hanlan's Foint. Blackburne's crew won the first same by 6 to 1 and the second by the same score. Thompson's all-round work featured the opener. Tho he only allowed three hits, he was really better than he looked. Frequently Tommy had the batter two and nothing and then grew careless, in one case letting the victim walk. It was close enough up to the sixth, when we were only one to the sixth, when we were only one to the store two gone Thompson doubled along the right foul line, clearing the bases. Next the vorsatile flinger showed up his speed by sprinting from first to home on Trout's slow roller past Priest.

King Bredy was almost as good in the second and the result was just the same. He had everything, including lots of stuff, and also generally had the Rebels in the hole. It should have been a shut out, but Hayden's heave to centre field, following Truesdale's error, let in one run. Southpaw Ross, formerly with Shocker at Ottawa, showed a fine brand and fielded his position nicely. However, he was not so successful in the pinches as the King. Barrow displayed a new umpire, Westervelt, who had a lot of trouble in the opener, coming in for an unmerciful roasting when he declared Reynolds safe at the plate for Richmond's only run. At that 't looked like, as the Immertal Byron II, would say, "the multitude was wrong." Kritchell like a real steenlechaver instead of a colision and umps decided he lit on the plate.

We were first to show in the opening game. Viox and Blackburne singled in the second and viox came home when Smith south and sit was here that Kritchell made of a first to show in the pening half. Clemens hit to Smith and if was here that Kritchell when the plate on Smith's good throw.

Thompson singled in the fifth and rode home later when Priest booted Murray's roller. The sixth was a merry session. We counted four. Viox's third hit started the fun. Blackburne doubled and when Smith walked the bases we

Mooney Gibson Retires And Returns to London at

LONDON, Aug. 28.—George Gibson, one of the greatest ball players of the last fifteen years, has given up his professional career and has returned to this city. He first saw the light of day on July 22, 1880, and has been making a business of baseball for thirteen years. William Reid, for many years a ball player, and later an umpire in the old city league, first saw the possibilities of Gibson at the time the latter was playing with the Londons. Gibson went to Buffalo and showed up well, but as Stallings at that time had a great many catchers the young player was sold to Montreal, and after two seasons he went up to the great Pittsburg organization, which Clarke was just commencing to build into championship form. Gibson was one of the best purchases Dreyfuss ever made. He has been a tower of strength of the Pirates, and in 1909, with Adams, had his most spectacular year, when he caught 150 games, breaking the record, and then by his masterly work bohind the bat practically generaled the Pittsburg team to the world's championship against Detroit.

MCCORMICK PLAYGROUND.

About 1500 people thronged the Mc-Cermick Playgrounds last evening to see the members of that centre give their annual outdoor entertainment. The program consisted of 16 numbers and each one in their turn brought forth hearty applause. The polka, danced by Nana Hayes and Helen Fleming, received special praise, while the bun-eating contest by ten junior boys, put the crowd into fits of daughter. The march of the ellies very fittingly brought the evening to a close. Ald. G. A. Archibald presided and spoke very encouragingly of the work done by the children and also of what the playground meant to the

A well-known surgeon was imparting some clinical instructions to half a dozen students who accompanied him on his rounds. Pausing at the beside of a doubtful case, he said:

"Now, gentlemen, do you think this is or is not a case for operation?"

One by one the students made their diagnosis, and all of them came to the conclusion that it was not.

"Well, gentlemen, you are all wrong," said the wielder of the scalpel, "and I shall operate tomorrow."

"No you won't!" exclaimed the patient, as he rose in his hed, "There's six yotes to one against it. Gimme my clothes."

"The first tihme I ever saw a professional ball team," said Jeff Thesreau, the old Toronto pitcher, now with the Cliants. "was when the Browns came down to Fredericksburg, Mo., to play an amateur team for which I pitched in 1907. They beat us, 26 to 6.

"Later, when I was in the International League, Joe Yeager, formerly with the Browns and then with Montreal, recognized me as the kid who had pitched against St. Louis that day.

"Do you know the reason we hit you so hard?" he asked.

"No, I replied.

"Why, your catcher gave his signals without attempting to conceal them, and they were plain as day to us. All the batters knew what to expect, and we were almost ashamed to beat you that way."

"I know," said the father, playfully, "but I won't tell."

"Did Cousin George start it?" persisted the youth, "No," said father.

"Did Cousin Nicholas?"

"No," said papa, "Did Francis Joseph?"

"No," said the old man, "Well, who did, then?"

"I'll tell you, son. You remember Ted.

"Well, who did, then?"
"Til tell you, son. You remember Teddy Roosevelt came out of Central Africa and called on us several years ago, and I showed him our magnificent army: I showed him the zens and the submetrines and the gas bags, and Teddy, greatly impressed, slapped me on the back and said: "Bill, my boy, you can lick the world." And, like a damned fool, I believed him."
