LATE LOCALS

Registrar Jones reports eight marriages and nine births (six males), during the past week.
Steamship Manchester Corporation, Captain Head, arrived this morning from Manchester.

D. Boyaner, the Dock street optician, has placed a handsome display case in front of his store.

The funeral of the late Charles Nevins will take place at 3.30 Sunday afternoon from his late home, Douglas avenue.

If good values in clothing will interest you at all, then call at the Union Clothing Co., 20-28 Charlotte St., while their great Mid-Summer Sale is going on—Call today and be satisfied.

A good sized crowd attended the St. Andrew's Roller Rink last night, a number of whom skated for the first time, and they were not long learning to become quite graceful skaters.

Roller skating, unlike ice skating, can be learned in a very short time, most people being able to skate after five minutes instruction. The City Cornet Band will be on hand this afternoon and evening with a special programme of music.

Frank E. Jones, and his assistant, returned last night from Chatham, N. B., where they have been engaged in installing electric lights in the home of John McKane. Mr. McKane is now in possession of the building property of the Sinclair Lumber Company at Derby Junction, near Chatham. He has arranged with the company at Newcastle to supply the current to his properties, all of which will be lighted by electricity. Mr. McKane's home is a beautiful one, with broad verandah, handsome drawing rooms and dining hall and large roomy bathrooms. It is recognized as one of the handsomest residences on the North Shore. There will be over 200 lights in all.

HAD HIS THUMB CHEWED

Richard Walsh Received Painful Injuries Last Night.

There was something of a mix-up on Union street last night, which resulted, seriously, as Richard Walsh of No. 1 Hook and Ladder Co. had his thumb badly chewed and Fred Keefe, of 16 Cornsack street, charged by Walsh with assault, which includes the bad thumb. Keefe's dog had a difference of opinion with another dog. They were parted, when Mr. Walsh came along with a fox terrier, which the bull-dog promptly tackled. In an effort to part them, Mr. Walsh placed a foot on the bull-dog's leg. At that moment a woman rushed up and ordered him to let the bull-dog go. He motioned her away and at last succeeded in getting the fox terrier, which had been badly injured, from the bull-dog. The scene then shifted to King street east, in front of No. 1 Hook and Ladder station. Mr. Walsh told the police he was sitting on the door of the station when Keefe, who a number of other men, came along, and walking up to the former, asked if he was the man who owned the fox terrier, which was now by his side. On being informed that he was the owner, Keefe, so Walsh says, struck him a blow on the face and a tussle then ensued. Walsh and Keefe were soon parted, but the former's finger is badly hurt, Keefe, he says, having taken it in his mouth.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Frank S. Rogers Broke His Arm Last Night in Strange Fashion

Frank S. Rogers, the Chatham street jeweller, met with a rather peculiar accident last evening while going to Brookville on the suburban train. He was sitting with the elbow on the window-sill when something struck him. This was followed by intense pain in the arm. Arriving at Brookville, he phoned for Dr. Thomas Walker, who arrived by the Quebec express. He found Mr. Rogers' injuries painful and hard to explain. The bone of the upper arm was broken four or five inches from the elbow, while one bone of the forearm, and perhaps both, is broken. The elbow is, strange to say, uninjured. On the forearm is an abrasion of the skin such as a file might make. Mr. Rogers does not think an object, such as a protruding nail on a car passed on the trip, could have caused the injury, but is rather more inclined to believe something was thrown or something fell from directly above the window. L. R. Ross, I. C. R. terminal experient, says he was unable to see what could have struck Mr. Rogers. After the accident he made a personal investigation of the line for fully a mile out of town and saw nothing within three feet of the track over which the train on which Mr. Rogers was a passenger had passed. Mr. Rogers will be kept in the house for some time.

ANOTHER POSITION

Herman W. Redstone, of Kingston, N. B., who left here a short time ago with letters of introduction from the Employment Bureau of the Currie Business University, Ltd., writes stating that he accepted a position on the shipping staff of a novelty factory, in Boston, starting at nine dollars per week with the understanding that if he proved satisfactory, in two weeks time his salary would be raised to twelve dollars per week. His employer has just notified him that he is to have full charge of the department at a salary of $700 per year. This young man's brother also secured a position through the C. B. U. Employment Bureau at a salary of $550 in this city, about a month ago.

SITUATION IN COAL FIELDS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 21.—A mass meeting of Ohio coal operators of the Pittsburgh vein, was held here yesterday and last night to consider the situation in the Southeastern Ohio coal fields. No statement was given out further than that it is probable that another conference of operators will be held at Wheeling next week.

KILLED BY A KICK IN CHEST

Patrick St. John Kicked by a Horse in Boston Dies of His Injuries.

(Boston Globe, July 20.)

Patrick St. John, aged 44, living at 1-217 Washington street, was kicked in the chest by a horse at the Arcade stables, where he was employed, about seven last evening, and received injuries that caused his death about an hour later at the City Hospital. Although there was scarcely a mark visible on his chest to show where the hoofs of the horse had struck him, the blow caused internal injuries, and doubtless had a severe effect upon his heart.

St. John was bedding down some of the horses when he met his death. The animal that kicked him had never shown fractious tendencies before and so the stableman was not on his guard against any show of temper from that particular horse. The other men were at work in other parts of the stable and no one saw the accident, but one of them heard St. John fall and heard his groans and ran to his help. The men about the stable say that St. John was a good-natured fellow and a hard worker. He had been employed there for about five years. He lived over the stable, was unmarried, and nothing is known of his relatives. He came from Halifax.

THE CIRCUS MADE GOOD

Barnum & Bailey's Big Shows Were the Best Ever Seen Here.

The circus has come and gone and its visit is now nothing but a pleasing memory, something to be talked about and discussed for a long time to come.

One feature of the Barnum and Bailey show that seemed to be appreciated greatly by the people was the fact that everything was shown exactly as advertised, in marked contrast to many shows that have been here before. The "tip of death" was fully up to the expectations, being just as pictured in the many lithographs about the province. All the aerial acts, trained animals, acrobats, bicycle stunts, tight wire walking, etc., were just as advertised and in most cases the feats were little short of marvelous.

The clowns were good. There was nothing offensive or nasty about their actions and it was a case of "something doing" all the time.

The side shows were much superior to the usual run of such exhibitions everything being shown as promised. A considerable and very noticeable feature of the show was the entire absence of anything in the shape of rowdiness about the employees. There was no loud talking or swearing and the requests of drivers on the big teams for room were made in a gentlemanly manner. It is estimated that about 25,000 people witnessed the two performances yesterday, and it would be safe to say $25,000 was carried away from the city.

The street cars were taxed to their utmost to accommodate the large crowds and the special train run by the C. P. R. were very liberally patronized. Judging from the expressions of satisfaction from the people attending the show Barnum and Bailey's may be sure of a generous reception should they visit here again.

HOW ONLOOKER PLACES THEM

Where He Predicts Provincial Papers Will be Found in Next Provincial Election.

Onlooker in the New Freeman today has the following:

The Carleton Sentinel, of Woodstock, does not shut its eyes to effective opposition work. It says: "The opposition seems to be quietly making an effort to win the North Shore through the medium of an educational campaign. Since last year a paper was started under Conservative auspices in the town of Campbellton, and now we have another sheet of the opposition stripe in the town of Newcastle. These signs point to the fact that those who are directing the assault upon the administration intend to do a blow in its old-time stronghold, the North Shore, perhaps emboldened by the success of the pastwork ticket three years ago in New Brunswick. Mr. Hazen of course realizes that the cannot hope to get a majority from the southern and western parts of the province alone; he must win a respectable following on the North Shore before he can seize the reins of government."

In the next lineup the following journals will probably be found fighting for the "outs"—Campbellton Tribune, Newcastle Leader, Chatham World, Moncton Times, Sackville Post, St. Croix Courier, Fredericton Glenner and Woodstock Press, while more or less assistance may be received from such free lances as the Chatham Commercial and St. John Globe. It will be seen that this opposition will have ever so much better newspaper service than formerly, save in one vital section, the city of St. John. There is also a persistent and partially successful still hunt for candidates going on, largely under the direction of the organizer, Mr. Hubbard, who is said to be more than willing to try his personal fate in Sunbury."

MIGHT HAVE BEEN SERIOUS BLAZE

Prompt discovery of a fire on the ground floor of the D. F. Brown Paper Box Co. building, last night about 8.30, prevented a big blaze. The first to notice the outbreak was Mr. Hamilton, of Carleton. He was walking up Duke street and saw smoke issuing from a side window of the factory. An alarm was sent in from box 28.

The door fronting in Canterbury street was broken in and the chemical engine was driven around to the rear. The fire had started near a brick chimney and close to where there was paper and cans of turpentine.

Water was turned on but the chemical was sufficient to overcome what little fire there was.

The Telegraph this morning in publishing the names of those who stood well in the High School entrance examinations mentioned Cyril McDonald. It should have read Cyril McDonald.
