DOG'S TRIP TO THE FRONT.
From London to the Trenches to Find Its Master.

A story of a London dog that mysteriously found its way to its master's soldier at the front—is told by E. G. Fairholme, chief secretary of the R. S. P. C. A. in a letter.
"There have been many instances," he says, "during the last few months of dogs attaching themselves to our soldiers. One—and the truth of the narrative, strange as it is, has been verified by me in every particular—tells how a terrier, 'Ringo,' was missed from his home at Lammersmith, his mistress not daring to write and tell her husband at the front that their pet was lost.
"A few weeks later she received a letter from him, telling how Prince had found his master in the trenches."
The society has established a special one at Boulogne for the reception of dogs deposited by British and French soldiers—London Express.

BRITISH TO STOP IMPORT OF GERMAN DIAMONDS

London, July 31.—The British government has taken steps to stop the import of German diamonds into England.

Heretofore all diamonds imported into the country must carry with them a certificate showing their origin.

It recently became known that several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds cut by German workmen in Rhar and Hansu were finding their way every week into the London market.

Garden. They came by way of Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Holland.

Young Barnes had married contrary to his father's wishes. Meeting his parent soon afterward, the father said angrily:

"Well, young man, I have made my will and cut you off with a dollar."

"I am sorry, father," said the youth contritely, "you don't happen to have the money with you, do you?"
