

JUNIOR COURSE AT VOCATIONAL SCHOOL TOLD OF

Outline of Instruction Sub- jects for Boys and Girls Announced

It was announced yesterday by Fletcher Pasopok that the outline of the junior or pre-vocational course at the Vocational School had been completed and that already there had been received 50 applications from those desiring to take this course. J. Newton Fanjoy will be principal and Miss Harriet Roberts one of the staff.

In the junior school the pupils will be those who have not passed High School entrance and the subjects of their curriculum will be the usual subjects of grades 7 and 8 in the academic schools with the exception that Latin will be omitted and algebra will be optional.

These subjects will include reading and spelling, writing and drawing, grammar, composition and literature, arithmetic, history, physics, health, nature study and geography. Three hours each week will be devoted to physical education. In addition, the boys and girls will both have a special try-out course in various vocational subjects.

For the boys this pre-vocational course will include motor mechanics, under which head will come instruction in the use and care of tools, study of various types of modern automobile, general principles of the construction of chassis and engines and the dismantling and assembling of various parts of a car.

Instruction in woodworking will also be given and this will include study of hand tools, their use and care, joints and furniture making, wood turning and finishing.

GIRLS' COURSES

The boys' pre-vocational course will also include the study of principles of electricity and simple electric wiring and the study of metal work and printing.

For the girls' pre-vocational subjects in the junior school there will be the study of food, its use in the body, planning and preparing and serving of food used in simple home meals, table service, marketing and the relation of foods to health. A home nursing course will also be given and this will include

Social Notes of Interest

Mrs. E. L. Corbitt, Duke street, entertained informally and most delightfully at her residence on Tuesday evening for the pleasure of her guest, Miss Isabelle Jenkins, of Ottawa, and a number of other visitors in the city. Bridge was played and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. F. C. Beattie was hostess at a greatly enjoyed luncheon and bridge at the Wayside Inn at Hampton on Tuesday afternoon, when the honor guests turning, ventilation and care of the sick room, making of beds, emergency treatment, invalid cooking and the care and feeding of children.

The girls will also study health and personal hygiene and this course will include care of teeth, hair, skin, etc., and the value of an attractive personality and how to obtain it. Household management will also be studied and in this course will be included the study of family co-operation, the family income and the care and decoration of the home.

OTHER SUBJECTS

Another subject will be clothing and textiles, in which cotton and flax products will be studied as well as production, manufacture, uses, finishes and prices of fabrics, the study of fibres and selection of fabrics and the making of simple undergarments and dresses, the care and repair of clothing, darning, mending and pressing and color and dye as they apply to the individual, the use and the occasion.

The girls' course will also include laundry subjects, such as washing agents and equipment, laundry processes, laundering of cotton fabrics and the removal of stains. Millinery work in the construction of a simple winter hat will also be taught.

Weddings

Ferguson-Stockford.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Stockford, 176 Adelaide street, at 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when their youngest daughter, Audrey Mabel, became the bride of George M. Ferguson, son of James Ferguson, of Lorneville. Rev. Henry Mahon, pastor of the Douglas avenue Christian church, officiated.

The bride looked charming in a gown of sand crepe, with shoes and stockings to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and roses. She was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harry Totten, of Providence. Clarence Stockford, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

The parlor was a scene of cut flowers and looked beautiful. Following the ceremony, a dainty supper was served to about 50 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson left on the Montreal train yesterday afternoon for Montreal, New York, Boston and Providence. The bride's going-away suit was of chambray with hat to match.

The wedding presents formed a beautiful and costly array and included cut glass, silver and linen. The groom's gift to the bride was a substantial check. On their return, the happy couple will reside at Lorneville.

Will Discuss Milk Rules Next Monday

A meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon four hours in order closed as unfit for habitation. Hon. Dr. Taylor, minister of health, was in conference with the board on the matter of milk regulations, and these will be further discussed at a special meeting of the board next Monday.

LOCAL LIBERALS MEET

At a meeting of the Liberal ward workers of the city held last evening, plans for ward organization were formulated and preliminary plans for the meeting to be addressed by Hon. W. L. McK. King on August 25 at the Imperial Theatre, were made.

were Miss Fowler, of Cambridge; Mrs. Charles Hargreaves, Boston, and Miss Maud McLean. The fortunate prize winners at bridge were Miss Fowler, Mrs. A. P. Barnhill and Miss Maud McLean. The guests went out to Hampton and returned by motor.

Mrs. Robin Vanwart and Mrs. Fred J. Newcomb entertained most enjoyably on Tuesday evening at Mrs. Vanwart's residence in honor of Miss Etta Heans, who is to be the principal in a happy event in the near future. During the evening a very nice traveling hat box was presented to Miss Heans and afterwards cards were enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served.

Those present were Miss Etta Heans, Miss Van Wilson, Miss Muriel Ring, Miss Gertrude Curli, Miss Louise Malcolm, Miss Marion Finley, Miss Lillian Heans, Miss Edna Perkins, Miss Sara Myatt, Mrs. H. M. Akerley, Mrs. J. F. Evans, Mrs. Robin Vanwart and Mrs. Fred J. Newcomb.

Mrs. G. K. McLeod entertained at a pretty appointed luncheon at her residence, Wellington Row, yesterday for the pleasure of Mrs. G. E. Stuart McLeod, who is her guest. Sweet peas were very effectively arranged in the decoration of the table.

Miss Agnes Murphy was hostess at a delightful dinner and bridge given last evening in one of the private salons of the Admiral Beatty Hotel in honor of the Misses Anna and Cecelia Horgan, of St. Catharines. Covers were laid for 18 and the flowers on the dinner table were most attractive. Golden glow, golden rod and bride's bouquet were used in a very artistic grouping. Bridge was played at four tables following the dinner. Besides the guests of honor and the hostess those present were Miss Gertrude Callaghan, Miss Ethel Callaghan, Miss Mary Callaghan, Miss Mary O'Neill, Miss Mary O'Leary, Miss Jean Horgan, Miss Susan Hammond, Miss Regina McCullough, Miss Margarette Murphy, Miss Margaret Murphy, Miss Beatrice Murphy and Miss Mary Glenne.

Mrs. Brydon Millidge, of Beauharnois, Que., is the guest of Mrs. F. T. Dunlop.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart McLeod, of Montreal, are the guests of Mr. McLeod's mother, Mrs. G. K. McLeod.

Miss Edith Cudlip has arrived from New York and is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. D. Cudlip, at Robtessy.

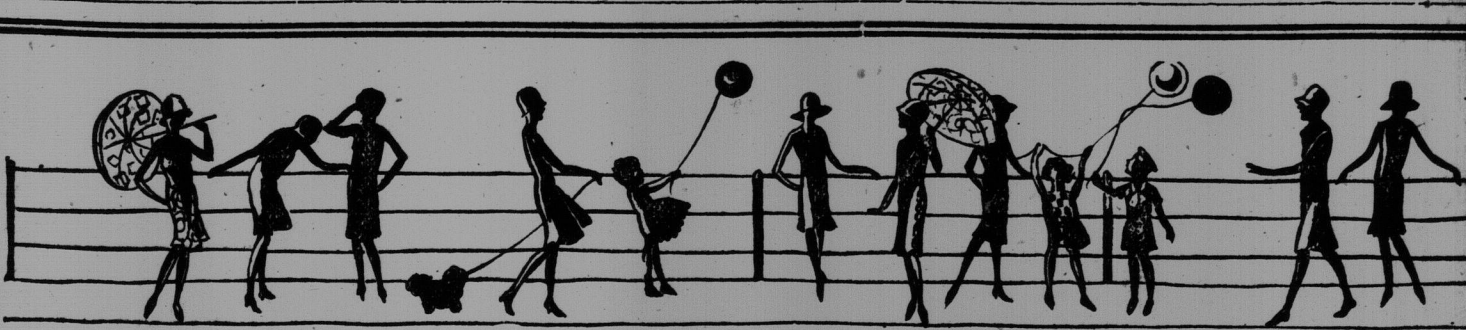

Mr. and Mrs. L. Gerald O'Neill, accompanied by their two children, Alice and Gerald, and Mrs. O'Neill's mother, Mrs. Thomas Killackey, were passengers on the Boston boat yesterday morning en route to their home in Provincetown, N. Y., after visiting relatives here. They will make the trip from Boston to New York by motor.

Mrs. Clarence R. D. Wetmore and Mrs. Kenneth E. MacLauchlan were the joint hostesses at a delightfully arranged bridge of six tables, at the summer home of Mrs. Wetmore, Sycamore Park, on Tuesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. W. H. Barker and Mrs. L. D. Spence, who are leaving Saint John in the near future. Mrs. Barker expects to take up her residence in Toronto, and Mrs. Spence in Halifax, N. S. Prizes for scores were won by Mrs. R. McLaughlin, Mrs. M. B. Hetherington, Miss Hazel Gregory and Miss Gladys Styles. At the tea hour delicious refreshments were served, when the hostesses were assisted by Miss Jean McLaughlin, Miss Elsie Spence, Miss Muriel Langstroth and Miss Christie Higgins. During the afternoon Mrs. Walter Gregg, on behalf of those present, presented the honored guests with silver bon bon dishes, and expressed sincere regret at their intended departure from the city.

Members of the Glen Falls Community Club greatly enjoyed a social evening at the Club House on Tuesday night. Dancing and cards passed the time very pleasantly. There were about 20 couples present.

Miss Mary Davis is visiting at St. Andrew's-by-the-Sea, the guest of Mrs. Norman Wilson.

A greatly enjoyed community dance was held at Acamag on Tuesday evening. The function took place at the "Rookery," the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Smith. The spacious rooms of this well known residence were beautifully decorated with green, red, Chinese lanterns, bunting and flags. Fully 80 guests enjoyed a delightful evening. The committee in charge of the decorations consisted of
