

the unit his kit was in much the same position as dozens of other people who were on course in Rivers and elsewhere, and the only article of kit that he admits having lost by his own neglect is one pair of black socks. All the rest of that kit he denies having lost by his own neglect. There is no evidence that he did lose it by his own neglect and there is considerable evidence that he did take reasonable steps to prevent the kit being lost.

W.A.T.