THE SOUND OF A VOICE.—Frederic S. Cozzens made quite a reputation with his "Sparrowgrass papers" and this novel that the GAZETTE commences to publish to-night has more than ordinary interest attached to it outside of the great literary merit of the work—viz, that it has been lying unpublished for over twenty years. It was found amongst Mr. Cozzens' M. S. S. at his death in 1869, and for various reasons has not been published until the present. It is a story of life in Paris, and written with great dramatic force and wonderful socal coloring, and must have been partially written when the author was in Paris and thoroughly impressed with his surroundings. The readers of the GAZETTE have had few if any better stories given them in the columns of this paper.

Pointers for the Wheelmen.

The Bicycling World and L. A. W. Bulletin says:—"We have never been thoroughly in favor of the "fol-de-rol" features of cycling. We mean the bugle blowing, flag carrying, gold lace trifles which have always given the non-riding public a false idea of the sport. Good old 'Sober sides' rather sneers at a lot of 'boys' that indulge in the butterfly and flap-doodle style of cycling. We do not think the pleasures of cycling enhanced one bit by the blowing of bugles, the flying of flags, and certainly the impression made on the general public is not one to increase respect for riders. * * * If the signs of the times are read aright the period for making runs 'show parades' is practically past, gold lace, bugles blasts, and other fol-de-rol must give way to modest, quiet and practical dignity."

* * * *

The following from a correspondent of Toronto Cycling will be of interest to safety and tricycle riders. "One of the greatest annoyances a safety rider experiences is the liability of the chain to wear hard and clog with dust and consequent difficulty to run smoothly. The following method of cleaning and keeping the chain in order, I have found to answer admirably: Take the chain off bearings, wipe off dust with a rag, then run it through spirits of turpentine, which will thoroughly clean out all the joints, wipe off chain again, then immerse it in tin vessel containing sufficient sperm oil to cover it, place vessel on stove and boil chain in the oil for a few minutes; again wipe off thoroughly and the result will surprise you the next time you try your wheel. This process is a little trouble, I admit, but once tried, as the advertisement says, you will use no other."

* * *

"Hawkshaw" in Bicycling World, says, "I have known cycling to increase a man's modesty so that after a year or two of it he couldn't summon up enough courage to mount the machine whose saddle, in the vanishing past, he was glued to for hours on a stretch seven times a week.

"The peacock has been forced out of the running since the ribbon flying cyclist has entered the race. Nature cannot compete with art, at least such art as has its inception at the remnant counter of the ribbon department."

* * * *

Osmond, the English champion, will ride a pneumatic tired ordinary this season.

* * * *

Riders of the ordinary should clean out the bearings by filling them with paraffine and spinning the wheels, which will thin out the oil and run off any grit that may be in the ball bearing cases.

After the oil is all run out, the bearings should be wiped off clean. As paraffine is not a lubricant it is necessary to put in a few drops of pure oil, or some of the prepared oil sold by the dealers. Any kind of oil will not do, as any oil that contains grit will ruin the bearings.

It is also well, before starting out the first of the season, to go over the machine carefully and thoroughly, and examine all the nuts to see that they are tight.

* * * *

The Boynton Bicycle Railroad Company offers to build a road from the Battery, New York, to Harlem at a cost not to exceed $100,000 per mile, and agrees to run through trains between these points, with four stops, in seven to ten minutes. The speed attained to accomplish this, would have to be better than a mile a minute. [Bicycling World.

CITY PAINTERS' WAGES. A meeting of the master painters was held last evening in Berryman's hall to consider the order of the Painters' union that hereafter all members must be paid $2 per day of nine hours. The master painters say that they have no objection to paying $2 per day to good men, but do not consider it fair to be compelled to pay that figure to persons who are not really worth it. A resolution was adopted last night instructing the secretary to send a communication to the president of the Painters' union asking that a committee meet the master painters this evening at eight o'clock in Berryman's hall to dicuss the matter. It has been decided to form a master painters association.

I BEG to inform you that in consequence of the lateness of the hour at which I concluded to offer for a seat at the Council Board to represent you, I find the limited time at my disposal will not enable me to interview you individually, and therefore I have decided not to offer this year.

I take this opportunity of thanking all those who gave me such gratifying assurances of support and beg to say that next year I will seek support at your hands sufficiently early to enable me to make a thorough canvas of the ward.
