Fizzled out.

Nothing is funnier than the way in which the Tory attack on the Senate has fizzled out. Before the Naval Bill was sent to the Upper House, the Government organs in part indulged in patronizing compliments to the Senators, praising them for their wisdom, experience, them for their wisdom, experience, farsightedness and public spirit. Sir George Ross was in particular singled out as an Imperialist of the Imperialists, and was told what a great thing it would be the far below to go for the control of the far below. be for him to help Mr. Borden out. Another portion of the Tory press, how-ever, assumed a menacing attitude from the beginning, and "warned" the Sena-tors that if they dared lay unholy hands tors that it they dared by thindy mass sealed as sure as sure could be. The members of the Upper House neither responded to the patronising compliment nor shivered before the menace. Neither did they lay violent hands upon the Bill.
They said in effect, "the people are the masters and absolute sovereigns in this Canada of ours. Both Senate and Com-mons are their servants. The sovereigns feel that we have no right to pass i all Torydom. The Senate was to be abol ished root and branch, the Senators were to be — but words fall to were to be — but words fall to adequately express what was to be done with the Senators. For a week or mor the government press were lurid with indignation and Tory politicians and ward heelers were "seeing red" from Halifax to Vancouver. But as in the Halifax to Vancouver. But as in the case of the awful curse uttered by some-body in the "Ingoldsby Legends," "Nobody seemed a penny the worse."
And now the fury has petered out "as ashes follow flame." The Senate still stands and the curses roared against it three weeks ago have sunk into a silence that is grotesque. The mending or ending of that body is not as easy as it might seem. If a Bill to this effect passes the Commons and the Senate, then it is likely that the Imperial Parliament would agree sary amendments of the British North America Act. But there is no fear of its passing the Senate no matter whether there is a Grit or a Tory majority there. There are thirty Tory Senators now in the House, many of them recently and resolved to "hold down their job" as ny who have ever sat in the cushioned chamber, especially when the Government is contemplating raising salaries all around to $5,000 per session. Oh, no, they will not give it up. The Commons of course might pass a resolution asking the Imperial Government to amend the Britetitution of the Senate might be changed, but there is not the least fear of the Mother Parliament doing this without first making sure that there is a concensus of opinion on the matter etween the two parties. Besides, Mr. purposes practically stated that the Senate shall remain as it is, for he has declared that he will wait until Time and the Grim Destroyer have given him a majority in that House to pass his rejected Naval Bill. In the meantime, of course, the same old ency" will await the event in the The truth forced out.

While the Government papers-especiin the usual round of abuse about the Great Liberal Leader, it is worth while recalling the estimate made of him by the leading Conservative paper in British Columbia, the "Victoria Colonist," when ago. Said that paper:

he visited the Pacific Coast a few years ago. Said that paper:

In Sir Wilfrid Laurier we have a fine type of a Canadian. To him and to others of his race Canada means something not quite the same as it does to those of us who are of British origin. When we try to measure his statesmanship and discover the motives of his policies, especially of those that have an Imperial aspect, we may miss their full meaning if we lose sight of this fact.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier never tires of preaching, if we may so say, the doctrines of Canadianism and restal barmony, and no one need healtate in conceding the worth fulness of such an effort, or in recognizing that he has done a great work in that direction. Netther will any one hesitate about expressing the hope that, whether his future term of office may be long or short, he may be spared many more years of usefulness, during which he can employ his magnetic personality and commanding eloquence in the promotion of a broad Canadian patriotism and in the development among the diverse peoples, which go to make up the population of Oanada, a firm and shiding faith in the world affords. expression of human government that the world affords.

expession of human government that the world affords.

When we come to speak more specially of SE Wilfrid Laurier as a man we are all as one. Whatever may be the place that he will in days to come occupy in the history of Canada and the Empire, he will be remembered as one who in his daily life set an example of Christian citizenship well worthy of emulation. It is a fine thing that the man in Canada, upon whom the eyes of the Empire are turned as upon no other, is one who exhibits in his intercourse with others in the simple dignity of his life and in his unfailing courtesy and kindliness those qualities of mind and heart which deserve and win universal esteem.

This is a splendid tribute to character This is a splendid tribute to charact nd personality triumphing over partizan

Every team in the Amateur Baseball League needs a lot of practice. It is no their money to see the game. In the disgrace to make an occasional error by either fumbling or muffing balls, yet when they come in doubles and perhaps triples then they become tiresome to the onlookers. Saturday and yesterday there ere three distinct kinds of ball in the three games. On the former day there was a fairly good game and a comedy, while yesterday the scores on both side ere large, many hits being made, and a ood proportion of misplays had also to be Saturday afternoon's game of baseball between the Progressives and the Capitals of the Senior Amateur League was a good one and was enjoyed by the several hundred spectators present. Although the Capitals batted better than the others, yet they were off in-fielding and the score ended 5 runs to 4. A BASEBALL COMEDY.

The second league game between the Wanderers and the R. C. G. A. teams was perhaps the most amusing ever seen on the Wanderers' grounds. The Wanderers put up a magnificent game, but their opponents did the very opposite (due, it is said, by them not having the regular team). Falls, somersaults, miffs, fumbles of rare character were seen. On one occasion one player imagined he was playing football, as he kloked the ball in his excitement. In the early part of the eighth innings, when the Wanderers had scored three runs for three singles, sided by four errors, both sides agreed to call the game off.

THE HOLIDAY GAME,
A couple of hundred fans attended yesterday's contest between the Wanderers and the Capitals. Both were confident of success, but only one aggregation could do so, and it proved to be the Capitals, although their opponents showed up very strong early in the game, while the others did the very reverse, as the runs by innings below will fully demonstrate. There was a lot of hitting, and consequently a proportionate share of fielding. One of the features of the game was the home runs, one of which, (that by Graham) nearly touched the Wanderer's club house. A baseman was properly "called down" by the umpire for interference of the base runner. Another feature (f) was the base steals made by the Capitals, and these materially aided the win. Poor throwing to baser gave the Capitals heart to try any old tind of steal, and in fact one of them (Phalen) did the trick to the home plate, while some of the players on the infield seemed to be in a sleep at the success of the Capi to endeaver to overtake in the third innings the big lead of 8 to 0. They did so and they had the score doubled the other way at the end of the eighth innings.

The score is given below: THE HOLIDAY GAME.

ARTICLE VI, And Last On This Subject.

The late Spring and early Summer months are the dullest in the Coal business. Nevertheless, inside and outside fixed charges are as heavy during those months as during the busiest ones. As an inducement to austomers to put Hard Coal in early, in this way helping to keep "the wheels moving, prices are put at the lowest possible figure. In previous articles, we have shown that in the Spring, lower Coal, COAL is now at its lowest Freight, Insurance and Cost of Delivery enable this to be done. If, however, Dealers were to continue selling at low prices into the Autumn, they would defeat the before the price ad- very object they set out to accomplish and vances which is certain would lose money besides. Plainly then, to occur after the end low Spring and Summer prices and late delivery do not go together, no matter how wishful Dealers may be to accommodate HUGH D. MACKENZIE CO., LIMITED, their customers in this respect. If, therefore, you buy from us, and we hope you do, or BE SURE TO GET will, we will be particularly pleased if you will take early delivery of your order. Doing so means much to us and a good deal to you. If another Dealer supplies you, take early delivery from him. By helping your dealer you benefit yourself.
