Thya Girl Shook Her Head When Dickens Was Mentioned.

It is a fact that the children who have had in abundance the old nursery tales, who have worn out numerous copies of tory, being led thence by gradual steps ance, seldom go down before the maligfriended her. Scattered about the floor of the sitting room were the books of a picked up the volume and was soon absorbed in the story. When the lady came in, she extended it to her, saying eagerly: antment, but it came too late. She awaited her turn at the library, and begged the attendant to choose for her. The lady hesitated, then extending a been done. volume by Dickens, said: "Will you She shook her head, saying: "I tried

Are The Jews Returning to Palestine? In the Missionary Review of the World Rev H H Jessup of Beirut, Syria, considers the subject of the number of Jews in Palestine He answers with an emphatic "No" the question, "Is it true that the Jews are flocking back to the land of their fathers by thousands and tens of thousands, and that soon they their kingdom and rebuild their temple?' show that in 1891 there were in Palestine proper only 45,031 Jews The Jews of Palestine are largely supported by the European rabbis' fund, receiving house rent and weekly rations from the comon fund, thus encouraged in habits of idleness. The Rothschild colonies are conducted on the same pauperizing system. In 1893 Mr. Jessup visited two of the colonies, finding the first an unthrifty and orlorn affair, the colonists looking sickly and dejected. The second colony had a splendid agricultural site, but lies on the margin of the most pestilential marsh in Palestine. He says: "The whole impres-sion made upon an observer with regard to these Jewish colonies is that they are ced, unnatural and of doubtful success. The pauperizing system which had made Jerusalem a great almshouse tends to demoralize the whole system of Pales-

seems to be a kind of fad, which is being pursued with a special object, having none of the elements which made the old Phoenician colonies and the modern Anglo-Saxon colonies successful.'

*1. The trend of Jewish migration at he present is westward, and further than rom the old land of Israel There are about four times as many Jews now in New York City as there are in the whole of Palestine. Tens of thousands whole of Palestine. Tens of thousands are going to the Argentine Republic in South America, They seem to be more and more torn loose from territorial attachments, and the great future of the Jewish race seems to be about to be wrought out in the free air of America. "2 The return of the Jews is to be a piritual return to Christ, their Messiah and Lord The marvelous prophecies of Ezekiel, 40 to 48, clothed in priestly language and figures which speak of a read-justment of the configuration of Palesine, of a temple a mile square, and a cial sacred 'oblation' or temple are a fty miles square, clearly refer in splen-id imagery to the future glories of the Church of Jesus Christ, and the 'waters lowing from beneath the sanctuary point to the life-giving streams of the Gospel ispensation, which are destined to vital ize and bless all mankind A literal fulment of those extraordinary prophecies is manifestly physically impossible without the most stupendous miracle ever per-Merely a Woman's Faith.

Singular Defense Advanced To Exculps Recent murder mysteries serve to recal that of Princess Caravella, a singularly party of friends at dinner at the Caravella palace, and as she had promised to attend a ball toward midnight she went princess asked her to return a little later, and twenty minutes afterward, when she returned, the girl found her mistress still lying on her bed with scarcely a muscle of the face changed, but stone dead, with the mark of a tiny bullet in the region of the heart.

empty, color being lent to the accusation by the fact that he was notoriously jeal His trial resulted in acquittal, partly in consequence of an extraordinary piece of testimony which was produced in court by one of the police officials. The story he related was this:—

A couple of days after the murder, or the removal of the seals from the doors of the bedroom, he had made a careful in-vestigation of the apartment and had found on the floor by the bedside one of small nephew, among them a copy of Little Red Riding Hood. Her life, barren and hard, had known nothing of literature save her lew school books. She against the candle that stood on the ta-ble by the bedside.

He produced the moth in court, and then proceeded to point out to the judges that some of the powder of the insect's wings was apparent on the black chony and gold stock and trigger of the little revolver which had been found on the table and with which the shooting had

He then called the attention of the judges and jury to the phenomenal facility with which the trigger yielded, and advanced the extraordinary argumen that the princess had been murdered by the night moth, which, he alleged must have flown into the room, attracted by the candle light, and falling with singed wings onto the table had discharged the revolver in the violence of its contacti

An old Russian woman some time age made a great sensation in St Petersburg by the display of wonderful feats of mem ory Irina Andrejewva Fedosova, the and can neither read nor write, by knows by heart over 19,000 legends, folk songs and poems. These she has rehearse at public recitals, which attracted aud ences representing the "best society" of the Russian capital. A writer describes one of these recitals as full of picturesque interest. "A little bent-figure appears, hobbles on the platform, sits down on a chair with hands folded and withered face, quite expressionless. Amid a hush of expectation she begins to speak; then her face brightens, her eyes open widely and sparkle, while her voice grows clear and penetrating She looks ten years speaks, half sings, the legends of her youth, tales of great wars, old fairy tales, long-lost tragedies or tender love stories: while the audience, carried away by he strange magnetism, listens spellboun laughs and weeps at her will." We can well imagine that such an entertainment has in it infinitely more of realistic charm than any theatrical show ever put upon the stage.—Leslie's Weekly.

Miss Pullman's Employment. If report is true Miss Florence Pullman is one of the most richly-paid in the country for her labors. She is the daughter of George M. Pullman, and is said to draw a salary of $10,000 a year from the Pullman company for naming cars. Miss Pullman evidences a preferment for eu phonious names. The selections do credit to her education and taste. Many of the names of the cars are of Spanish origin They are the names of countries, rivers historic towns, battlefields and flowers Such names as Brazil, Peru, Chill, Mex-American states, are frequently seen There is a fine discrimination displayed in the maining of cars for special service. For example, dining cars are in most instances named after celebrated cooks, as Savarin, and the cooks of famous and women. Smoking cars are given names which suggest luxury, as Sult cars are called Yellowstone, Yosemite Appalachian, Watkins Glen, and Niagara. -New York Home Journal.
