A MENACE TO CIVILIZATION.

President Roosevelt in his message to congress recommended the amendment of the American legal system so as to render less prevalent the long delays and obstruction of justice in certain cases, in which the laws of man than one state are involved. Such amendment would undoubtedly remedy an evil, but there are others so much greater in connection with the judicial system of the United States that it is surprised that a man of Roosevelt's clear vision and determination does not use his influence in favor of reform which the great and growing prevalence of unpunished crime urgently demands.

There have been ten thousand more men murdered in the United States during the past three years than were killed on the British side during the whole Boer war. Last year the number of homicides numbered 8,766.
Twenty a day, yet only 124 murderers were hanged. Nearly that number paid the extreme penalty in 1903, though the number of capital crimes in that year was only one-fifth of last year's record.

In one city, Chicago, last year, there were 128 murders. Of the 128 murders, eighteen were killed at the time of the crime or committed suicide; thirty-four convictions were secured and one man was hanged. In nineteen cases no arrest was made and in fifty-three cases the men arrested went free. Seventy-six murders escaped the just consequences of their crime. Many other American cities have records equally as black. In San Francisco, for another instance, there have been 114 murders in the last six years and not one man has been hanged.

Compare with this record of European cities. Take London, a city with more than three times the area and population of Chicago. There were only twenty-four murders last year as beside Chicago's 128 and, except in four cases, where they committed suicide, all the murderers were brought to justice and nine of them were hanged. In Paris last year there were only fifteen murders or attempted murders. In Canada in 1903 there were sixteen cases of manslaughter and eleven murders. Eleven men were sentenced to death and eight were hanged, the sentence of the other three being commuted.

Why the discrepancy? Why are the eyes of the law less acute and the scales of justice less true in the United States than in any other civilized country in the world?

The reason is undoubtedly found in the fact that the American judiciary is part and parcel of the political machine. Judges of the state courts which have jurisdiction for all crimes at affecting the federation, are, as a rule, elected by popular vote for short terms. In the perfection of the political machine, political nominations are almost wholly in the hands of "bosses" and "rings," whose manipulating in the majority of instances is graft. So, in the majority of cases, one man or a few in combination can control the local judges at his or their pleasure. If a judge shows independence, if he resists the political pull in favor of any prisoner before him, out he goes. As a result, it is almost impossible to bring to justice any man who can command strong political influence; not because every judge is an unscrupulous tool, but because it is no trouble for the powers to have their favorite criminal brought before a judge that is.

Thus the judiciary--upon which the nation depends for internal peace, for the prevention of crime, for the preservation of life and property, is made an instrument in the hands of the lowest and most criminal element. The weapon created for the administration of justice is placed in the hands of injustice.

Why does President Roosevelt stop to haggle over technicalities when the system is so rotten at the root that American civilization is in danger?

INVESTIGATION NECESSARY.

Sir Wilfrid is credited by some Upper Canadian papers with the intention of forcing a full investigation into the alleged conspiracy of Mr. Blair's reignation was a part. If he does so it will be for the good of Canadian politics. Charges of the most serious nature, involving many men high in financial and political circles are being thrown back and forth in the public press and if the matter is allowed to rest where it is the effect upon Canadian political life cannot be degrading. Libel suits are threatened, but it is the general belief that there is enough truth in some of the assertions to make it highly improbable that those concerned in the affair will dare face the publicity of the courts. Unless a parliamentary investigation is demanded and granted, it is probable that the public will always remain in the dark with reference to the facts that those concerned in the affair will have their faith in politicians and things political reduced nearer the vanishing point than it is now. If Sir Wilfrid is guilty of the charges of personal bribery and intimidation made against him, and if he has any idea of a savory record behind him-- which many of the others involved have not--he cannot permit the present situation, with its circumstantial charges and unsupported denials to continue.

A tabulation of the vote in the recent presidential election gives a grand total of 7,647,932 for Roosevelt and 5,176,857 for Parker, making a plurality of 2,471,075 for the former. This is compared with the vote in 1900, which was 7,147,419 for McKinley and 6,317, 882 for Bryan, a plurality of 509,537 for McKinley. Assuming the new tabulation to be substantially correct, it shows a total popular vote of 12,824, 839 against 13,575,696 in 1900, being a decrease from the former figures of 751,747. Where did this great loss take place? Not on the Republican side, for the Republican vote shows the great gain of 490,122. It occurred on the Democratic side, which shows the permanent vote fell off in thirty-seven states of the forty-five and gained over the Bryan vote in only eight. On the other hand the vote for Roosevelt gained over that for McKinley in all but eleven states and fell behind in those eleven.

The readiness of the chief of the fire department to hold a public meeting in connection with the charges against No. 1 Hook and Ladder Company, where the evidence was to be all on one side--for the chief and other firemen knew that Mrs. Hamilton would not be present-- gives rise to wonder why the authorities were so careful to keep the other investigation secret.

HIS TENTH BIRTHDAY.

(World's Events).
He has said good-bye to his rocking horse,
And the games he used to play;
While the house of blocks lies a tumbled heap,
He is ten years old today!

The soldier of tin, in its suit of blue With trimmings of finest gold, Is behind the door unnoticed now-- His owner is ten years old!
The top and drum have lost their charm And the drum has been sold;
And the woolly sheep have a lonely
"Baa"
For the boy who has gone away.

His mother sighs as she looks at him,
And knows that all earth's gold Can not restore the curls he hid Of her boy who is ten years old.
The little lad, who sat on her lap And rocked, and yesterday;
His feet now touch the floor, of course, For he's ten years old today!
--A. B. Pittman.

SATURDAY SERMONETTE.

BROAD-MINDED MEN VS. BIGOTED

Whenever I hear of a broad-minded man I always think of a thin, flat man.
There is not enough material in most men to give thickness and depth and breadth. The breadth is at the expense of the depth.
The broad-minded man knows a little--a very little--of almost everything, but knows no one thing thoroughly. He reads or skims--quite a number of books but never reads deeply and never gets at the heart of the subject. He is always superficial and is never interested in his hatred of the bigot who he continually denounces.
The bigot is a man you can respect, if you cannot love him. He is a man of victories and the courage of his deeds. He does not see very much of his eyes fixed on one object. He knows one thing well and he thinks that is all important. He is quite sure if you do not see with his eyes and hear with his ears and believe as he does that you will go to him. But for all that I like him; he is so beautifully narrow, and he is never a hypocrite and when you want him you can always find him.
If it were not for the bigot there would be very little truth in the world today. There are so many of him and each one holding some segment of truth, you get the whole circle. The bigot knows nothing of proportions, and never dreams that truth has many facets, but cries out when he sees one facet. "This is the truth the whole truth and nothing but the truth." The bigot is very much superior to the broad-minded man. The bigot wears a big hat which he pushes hard down upon his head as if clenching an argument, has an aggressive air and a resolute chin and walks as if he had a chip on his shoulder. I admire him and like to meet him--but not too often. The broad-minded man wears a number six hat and a weak chin, and if he has a broad-head it is very thin and flat. I am the first poet to sing the praises of the bigot, but I prefer him to his corrected shallow, antithesis, the broad-minded man.

ROBBED BOARDING HOUSE.

MONTREAL, Dec. 8--Leda Desjardins was tonight arrested by detectives and is charged with stealing one thousand dollars from her boarding house mistress, Mary Muroshy. Miss Muroshy kept the money under her

LOCAL NEWS.

Dr. T. H. Lunnay will lecture before the Young Men's Society of St.
Joseph tomorrow afternoon at 3.30.
At a meeting of No. 1 Hook and Ladder Co., held last evening, Chief Kerr appointed George Barker to the position of Lieutenant succeeding Mr.
Nichols, recently resigned.

Percy Hunter, manager of the Franklin printing office, Prince William street, is lying quite ill at his home with typhoid fever. His brother Richard has had to come from New York to assume charge of the business.
After a lengthy illness Frank Graham of Eastport, but for a number of years a resident of St. John, died Thursday afternoon at his residence, 482 Main street. He was 32 years old and an iron worker by trade. He is survived by his mother, two sisters and two brothers living at Eastport, and his wife, a daughter of the late T. Collins of St. John, and two children.

The of St. John will start a three months' boom on the first of January, which will extend over the maritime provinces. During these three months they aim at 1,200 conversions, and a permanent increase of 400 names to the soldiers' roll. They also expect an increase of 35 per cent. in financial aid.
Increase of 35 per cent. on week night attendance and 20 per cent. on Sunday evening attendance. They will also establish thirty new companies (or Sunday school classes) twenty-five extra meetings for children each week, and twenty-five more Band of Love classes.

At St. Mary's church tomorrow, Rev.
R. P. McKinnon will take the morning service and Rev. G. R. E. MacDonald will be the preacher in the evening.
This being the anniversary Sunday, the services will be of a suitable character. Special English missionary music will be provided.
Victoria Section, J. T. of H. and T. held a very interesting meeting in their rooms last night. A number of addresses were given, that of George C.
F. Keirstead being especially worthy of mention. Arrangements were made for the anniversary celebration, which will be held the first of the year.

At the regular meeting of Court Law-alist, I. O. E., Thursday night, the following officers were elected: L. T. Westmore, C. R. Gilbert Dykeman, V. C.
H.; Geo. W. Mullin, treasurer; W. A.
Eck, recording secretary; W. H. Hawker, financial secretary; Z. O. Wilson, orator; E. H. Hastings, sr., woodward; J.
Lasker, jr., woodward; H. B. Cunningham, sr., beadle; E. A. Thorne, jr., beadle; L. C. Wetmore, Gilbert Dykeman, W. A. Eck, trustees; T. Cunningham, F. A. Thorne, finance and audit committee.

There is one St. John man and there are several other former Canadians among the 240 members elect of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. The St. John man is John H.
Spinlow, now of Lawrence, who represents the sixth Essex district. The others are John M. McDonald, of Dan-chester, sixteen Suffolk district, who lived in Chatham, N. B.; Orlando Mc-Kenzie, formerly of Picton, and Norfolk, and the fourth Canadian is Pierre F. Pelouquin, now at Fall River.

ST. JOHN GIRL WEDS
A MILLIONAIRE.

Nurse Carrie Seely, daughter of D. L.
Seely Marries Aged and Wealthy Patient in New York.

Miss Alice Caroline Seely, daughter of D. J. Seely, ship broker, of this city, was married on Thursday in New York city to Frederic W. Stevens, a millionaire of that place. The marriage created great surprise in society in New York and caused a considerable ruffle in St. John.

Miss Seely has been in New York for some time following the profession of a nurse. She has been very successful in her work with much success and among her patients were many of the wealthy.
When Mr. Stevens became ill this fall and required the services of a nurse Miss Seely was recommended. Mr.
Stevens became enamored of his nurse and after a long courtship they were engaged. The wedding was held quietly at the Church of the Disciples, and afterwards for a honeymoon trip to Florida.
Some of Mr. Stevens' relatives are displeased at the match. Mr. Stevens was married before but was divorced from his first wife who is now the Marquise de Talleyrand-Perigord.
He has four children, all daughters. They are all the wives of prominent men. One daughter married the Count Orloff, a Polish nobleman.
Mr. Stevens is seventy years old, while his bride is only thirty-five.

A French physician, Dr. Foucault, has found that of 11,048 deaths investigated by him, 759, or 7 per cent., resulted from cancer. He could not find that heredity was a factor in the cause of the disease.

YORK THEATRE.
The coming event of the season will be the introduction of the Myrtle-Harder Stock Co., who come direct from their triumphs in the cities of New England, where they have broken all records. The artists with this company have been under Mr. Harder's management for the past four seasons. This alone proves their worth, and also their ability to handle the parts for which they are cast. My Jim, a screaming rural comedy in four acts, will be the opening piece, in which Mr. Harder will be seen to advantage. Miss Myrtle being the brilliant particular star of the female contingent. The piece is set with special scenery carried for this piece; and to add the brilliance, there are six sterling vaudeville acts, making it a continuous performance. The management has announced that anyone dissatisfied with the performances can rescue their money in return. This has never been offered before, and is a proof that there is merit to this company.
