

From Late English Papers.

The following notice to the memory of the late Lord Raglan, has been issued by the Household Guards. It is dated July 1.

"The General Commander-in-Chief has received Her Majesty's most gracious command to express his deep sense of loss at the death of a very gallant and勇敢的 general with which her Majesty's forces were so long engaged with which her able general, by the death of Field-Marshal Lord Raglan, the Commander of the Forces in the Crimea. Her Majesty has directed that the name of General General be also to be communicated to the Army in order that the military career of so illustrious an officer, shall be recorded, not only as an honorable testimony of her Majesty's sense of his eminent services, and the respect due to his memory, but an even example to all who follow him."

"After the death of the Duke Wellington, and before the services of Lord Fitzroy Somers were substantially recognized, in 1852, it was not until 1856 that he was appointed Master General of the Ordnance.

"Lord Raglan had issued two sons Arthur William Fitzroy, and Richard William Fitzroy. The former died in 1854, from a wound received on the banks of the Sutlej while serving under Lord Hardinge."

ROSAFARTE'S OPINION OF RUSSIA.

"The late reminiscences of Rosaferre in his exile, those of Las Cases have probably been the most read; and there is no doubt that the relation of that nobleman, and his wife, to the cause of the slaves, and to the slaves themselves, must be made for the extreme partiality with which the Count regarded Rosaferre, for he styles him the most extraordinary man that ever existed. Yet there can be no question of the sincerity and good faith of his record. There is no doubt that he was a man of great merit, and distinguished himself in the field of war, and deserved the rank of general in the fullness of his career."

"Rosaferre's long service was most usefully employed in those unceasing attentions to the interest and welfare of the army, shown by the kindness, the impartiality, and justice with which he treated all men."

"While in exile last year he was allowed to his Sovereign to take command of the army proceeding to the East; he never hesitated, and obeyed the summons, although he had reached an age when an officer may be disposed to resign from active duties in the field. At the head of the corps he was placed in command of the operations of the campaign, and, notwithstanding the difficulties he made for the extreme partiality with which the Count regarded Rosaferre, for he styles him the most extraordinary man that ever existed. Yet there can be no question of the sincerity and good faith of his record. There is no doubt that he was a man of great merit, and deserved the rank of general in the fullness of his career."

"He received the early ranks of his life; by his valour in the hottest moments of battle, and by his quick perception in taking advantage of the ground, of the movements of the enemy, he won the confidence of all the army, and became a great and brilliant general. In the midst of a winter's campaign, in a severe climate, and surrounded by difficulties he never despaired."

"The heroic army, whose forbearance satisfied the severest privations, in recognition of her loyalty to the Emperor, and of the services which they rendered to their Commander by the deep respects with which they now mourn his loss. Her Majesty is confident that the talents and virtues which distinguished Lord Raglan throughout the whole of his valuable life will be ever endear his memory to the British army."

"By command of the Right Hon. General Viscount Hardinge, Commander-in-Chief.

"G. A. Wetherell, Adjutant-General.

"Now that the war is over, and with the dead, independent testimony to his worth in open manifested. One verdict points out the kind of work he did in the Peninsula, and how well he performed it. Sir William Napier entitles it as 'one of the ablest' of all the wars in 1852. "The old regiments are immensely honored and experienced in all things necessary to sustain their strength and efficacy; the Staff was well practised; and Lord Fitzroy Somers, Military Secretary, and his colleagues, were interested in every thing which concerned the army, and were fully conversant with the political difficulties and being anticipated by the French in the European system, anticipated noble triumphs, which were happily realized."

"The activity he showed in Spain was shown also in the field, and his skill in winter, of indifference to those who had his loss as it appears from his private diary, kept by one of his nieces, de la Camp, make no fewer than forty-six inspections of the lines, between the 24th September and the 23rd November. To aid the enterprise, which was to be conducted in Spain, we may mention the remarkable fact, that, for the purpose of securing a better judgment of the state of the troops, several of those visits were made by Lord Raglan in plain clothes."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I have been here with Sultan to possess the empire, but we have since then once contemplated the idea, but Constantinople was always the object that was opposed to its execution."

"The Turkish capital was the grand stumbling block in the way of our success, and we have been compelled to it, as the real keystone of power, for one who possesses it may rule the world.—2d volume page 107."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"We have been up to Cape Northumberland, and I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."

"On another occasion the Emperor said:

"I am told that we have been about two miles."