PARSONAGE AND STABLE AT OAK BAY ARE BURNED

Methodist Pastor, Rev. A. C. Bell and Mrs. Bell sustain Serious Loss—Origin of Fire a Mystery—Much Pulp Wood Saved.

Special to The Standard.
St. Stephen, April 1.—The Methodist Parsonage at Oak Bay, six miles from St. Stephen, was totally destroyed by fire this afternoon together with the stable. The fire started about 2:30 while the pastor, Rev. A. C. Bell, and his wife were absent for only a short time.

Neighbors saw smoke coming through the roof of the main house near the chimney and the alarm was promptly given. The cause of the fire is very much of a mystery, for the occupants state that there had been no fire in the main house for several days. The contents of the stable and most of the contents of the house were saved, but Rev. Mr. Bell lost all of his library, the collection of a life time.

The loss is estimated at $3,000 on which there is insurance of about $1,200. Over a thousand cords of pulpwood belonging to various farmers was piled at the rear of the stable and close to the Shore Line Railway awaiting shipment and was saved only by the very energetic work of a crew of men who kept it covered with saw.

WHEN THE CLEAN SHAVE COUNTS.
When the gas alarm is given on the firing line in Europe and a rush made for the masks, one man has a better chance than any of the others involved. He is the man with the cleanest shave.

The device which is the perfect safety razor is held in such high esteem by the modern soldier, which was responsible for the introduction of gas and which has ousted itself ever since in the production of more deadly fumes, has, as a crowning achievement of its inventors, originated a vapor which will penetrate anything but the most perfect type of mask equipment will fail to prevent attack, unless tightly fits the face of the wearer.

And so it comes that the close shave is now regarded as one of the most important preventative against attack by gas. And doubtless this explains too, why the mechanical perfection of the safety razor is held in such high esteem by the modern soldier. It is his friend in need, in the front line trenches, as well as his friend in the rest camp and billets. And unlike his other bosom friend the rifle, it requires little or no attention. Unquestionably the day is coming when
