MARKET STRONGER

IN THE AFTERNOON

(McDougall and Cowans.)

New York, Oct. 24.—Apart from the prominence of a few extremely speculative in recoveries in Baldwin, Marine Ptd., and Maxican Pete. before the close. The volume of trading fell off considerably in comparison with recent days. Beth Steel was somewhat buoyant on account of declaration of usual dividend and a clatement of Prosident Grace after the meeting that in nominal times war business would be under 10 per cent. of the company's total. Its shipbuilding contraots are expected to keep the yards busy through 1919. Steel stocks generally recovered from the mid-day decline without making important gains. The market remained a trading affair, evidently waiting for some definite news of the money situation.

The commission's meeting has to do not only with the money market it self but also the position of the banks with reference to liberty loan subscriptions and the first installment thereon. The commission was again in session before the market closed.

MORE OPTIMISTIC VIEW OF PEACE

Sharp Opening Break in Grain and Early Rally in Cotton.

(McDougall and Cowans.)

New York, Oct. 24.—The presidents answer to Germany would seem to bring the negotiations to a climax. The sharp opening break in the grain market and the early rally in Cotton, probably reflected a somewhat more optimistic view of peace prospects, but incotton there is not only the uncertainty as to whether peace is near at hand or remote, but there is also conflict of opinion as to whether peace would be abullish or a bearish factor on prices. The early advance probably reflected covering for the most part but after the more urgent demand from shorts had been supplied, the market cased off under scattered selling accompanied by further talk of ginning returns and diminishing prospects for the expected cold wave in the southwest. On the whole, we do not think that there has been anything in the character of business of particular significance or any leadly material cleaned in the character of business of particular significance or any leadly material cleaned in the character of business of particular significance or any leadly material cleaned in the care way leadly material cleaned in the care way leadly material cleaned in the character of business of particular significance or any leadly material cleaned in the care way lea been anything in the character of business of particular significance or any really material change in the general

Wet Weather May Restrict Movement of Oats, Which is Relatively Firm.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Selling on the part of leading commission houses gave the corn market a swing to decidedly lower levels today. Uncertainty which prevailed at the outset was quickly overcome. Agressive support seemed to be lacking. Opening figures, which ranged from 5.8 cent decline to 3.8 cent advance, with November 1.27½ to 1.28, and December 1.23½ to 1.24, were followed by minor fluctuations and then a break all around.

ber 1.23½ to 1.24, were followed by minor fluctuations and then a break all around.

Wet weather appeared likely to restrict the movement of oats and then as the reason that the coming Victory Loan observed the weakness of corn. After opening unchanged to ½ cent hisher with November 69 5.8 to 69 7.8 valued with November 69 5.8 to 69 7.8 valued with narrow limits.

Provisions weckened with corn. Ribs fell the limit.

INCREASE IN SAVINGS.

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Savings deposits in Canadian banks have increased by another twenty-two million dollars. During September they reached a new high level with a total of $1,037,498,820, at the end of August twas also approximately twenty-two million dollars. The September returns also show an increase in bank circulation and an increase in bank circulation and an increase in demand deposits. Current loans both in and outside Canada are higher as compared with the previous month.
