

$10,000 Per Week Sunk In The Times

Passing of Great Newspaper
from Northcliffe's Control
Now Certain.

London, June 7.—It seems practically certain now that Premier David Lloyd-George has obtained control of the London Times.

This highly important development which has vastly more international significance than any mere commercial deal, however large, is reported in various weekly publications, although it has been denied in some quarters.

For several weeks the rumor has been current in clubs and newspaper circles that England's premier newspaper was passing into Government control, but the principal parties interested naturally would prefer to remain silent.

Today's Outlook boldly states that Lord Northcliffe has grown tired of his expensive toy, and that Sir John Ellerman, wealthy ship-owner, who already holds a block of stock in the Times, is now securing effective control, although nominal control will revert to the Walter family. Declaring that Lloyd-George has long wanted to "freeze out" Northcliffe the Outlook adds:

"The change represents a great professional success for the Premier. Always restive under press criticism, Lloyd-George felt particularly aggrieved that in all his disputes with France that great organ, which is regarded on the Continent as the 'voice of England' should steadily have opposed him."

This week's Nation also prints the rumor, and expresses the opinion that the change will not be for the good. The newspaper also mentions the possibility that Philip Kerr, former private secretary to the Premier, may become editor in the place of Wickham Steed.

It is commonly stated in the newspaper circles that the Times has been losing well over ten thousand dollars weekly for about a year, due mainly to the great industrial slump. Other generally prosperous newspapers, have also been running at a great loss, but it is believed that none of these has shown such a heavy deficit as the "Thunderer." During the past six months the expensive staff of the Times has been heavily curtailed.

Sobs In Tombs.

New York, June 7.—Weeping hysterically and refusing food, Francis Harmon, who represented himself as 22 years old, born in New York city on West Thirty-ninth street and living in a furnished room house at 71 East 124th street, was locked in a strong cell in the Tombs yesterday to answer charges of burglary.

The youth, not without a touch of professional pride, had admitted to the police that he is the author of fifty safe cracking exploits in the business district west of Broadway between Canal and Murray streets, which for three months have baffled the skill of the best headquarters detective talent.

Nine in One Night.

He had a fairly busy night Thursday, for in a single business building, 249 Broadway, Harmon had cracked nine safes before the flash of his electric torch early yesterday morning attracted the attention of a night watchman, who summoned Patrolman John Quasiano of the Beach street station. He had escaped through a window opening on a veranda and chance to the ground floor of the building next door, which is occupied by one of a chain of restaurants. At this point he found himself trapped and he was caught hiding in the restaurant kitchen of 251 Broadway.

Admits His Guilt.

Under police examination Harmon admitted that recent safe robberies in buildings on Murray, Chambers, Beekman, Hill, White and Hudson streets and West Broadway were his handiwork. Out of the whole lot of them, he said, he did not get enough ready money to keep him decently fed. His Thursday night enterprise netted him only $20 and some postage stamps. In several of these places, as on Thursday night, when disappointed, he spitefully had turned on the water taps. Except a flashlight and a revolver, his sole implements of burglary were some skeleton keys, a few highly tempered steel punches and a heavy headed machinist's hammer.

Found Safes Easy.

"Most safes are as easy to smash as a soap box," he explained. "I always drove in my steel punch at a point about two inches above the combination lock with two or three blows around it; you can knock it off with a hammer or rip it loose with a jimmy."

Harmon says he was left an orphan as an infant, and that his foster parents sent him to an orphan near Tarrytown. Since he left there in 1914 he had worked for a bookbinder and had run errands, but he could not hold a job. He had tried the Y. M. C. A. but "got nothing out of it."

"I'm an orphan and I never had half a chance, I figured that the world owes me a living and I don't give a damn." With that final utterance the young and smasher broke into sobs and wept.

Wave of Industrial Unrest
Has Receded Declares the President.

Quebec, June 7.—The wave of industrial unrest and visionary radicalism in Canada has receded and is receding, though at high tide it caused damage that will take time to repair, J. S. McKinnon, Toronto, advised delegates to the jubilee convention of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, which was opened this morning in the Chateau Frontenac, in the course of his address as president.

J. S. MCKINNON.

The delegates, who come from cities in the Dominion, from Halifax to Vancouver, were formally welcomed on behalf of the province by Premier Taschereau, and on behalf of the city by Mayor Samson.

Mr. McKinnon, in his address, also traced the steady growth of manufacturing in the Dominion since the association was formed fifty years ago, and he emphasized the fact that the industrial system of Canada now employs 700,000 people, who, with their departments, number 2,000,000 of the country's population.

Glancing over the industrial situation, Mr. McKinnon contended that it was time for legislators to call a halt in the passing of social measures dealing with the limitation of hours of labor, workmen's compensation and minimum wages, the effect of which, he argued, had been to decrease the amount of work done and to increase the cost of products.

Mr. McKinnon also dealt with unemployment and pointed out that it could be lessened if Canadians would purchase Canadian made goods in preference to similar articles made in foreign countries, notably the United States.

J. E. Walsh

The report of the executive committee presented today by J. E. Walsh, general manager of the association, referred to what had been accomplished towards trade stimulation in the Dominion by the "made in Canada" campaign conducted during the past year on behalf of the association.

The operations for the year under review of the industrial relations committee of the association, which were described by a report presented on its behalf, showing that it had opposed vigorously any legislation giving effect to the following conventions:

The eight-hour day, unemployment insurance, the entire suppression of private employment agencies, and had endorsed measures seeking to prohibit the employment of women six weeks before and six weeks after child birth, all reasonable restriction of night work for women, and the reservation of the execution of public works for periods of unemployment.

Thos. Rodden

After presenting his report as treasurer, Thomas Rodden, Toronto, outlined the programme the association should carry out and for which increased fees were required. He said the industrial relations committee should be strengthened, particularly in connection with the different provincial sections. He pointed out new problems were arising as a result of after-the-war relationships between employer and employee. The associa-

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain
How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestions are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after meals. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

tion should be in a position to supply information on labor conditions in any part of Canada to its members, as well as prepare reports on labor developments through the world. They also had to meet the consequences of men getting political favor with high ideals, but no knowledge of economics. There was the instance of the fixing of a minimum wage for women in Ontario. That was one of the worst things that had ever been put upon them, if wages were fixed it must follow that the price of products should be fixed too. They had all known what an infernal injustice resulted from the fixing of prices by the board of commerce. These were the problems the association would have to meet and the reasons why a strong industrial relations committee would be required.

Psychology Basis of Disease Theory

Body Not Mere Machine,
Harvard Professor Tells Alienists.

Boston, June 6.—Medical science has placed too much stress on the mechanical theory of disease and must recognize that functional disorders have a place equally important to that of organic disorders, Prof. William MacDougall, Harvard University psychologist, said in addressing the American Psychiatric Association last night.

"I believe the mind has a nature and a structure and functions of its own, which cannot be described fully and adequately in terms of structure of the brain and its psychological processes. And if that be true, it does not seem logically impossible that the nature of the mind itself may be disordered or impaired or defective."

"If we are to make satisfactory progress in psychological medicine," said Professor MacDougall, "we still need, it seems to me, to recognize fully and frankly the claim of functional disorders to a place of equal importance and reality with the organic or structural disorders. That recognition can come only from a revision of the conception of organisms as mere mechanisms or machines, a concept that has

Bicycles for Everyone

ANY BOY OR GIRL in the Maritime Provinces can secure a sixty-five dollar "Pathfinder" bicycle, complete with mud-guards, air pump, parcel carrier and stand, with coaster brake, reinforced frame, spring saddle, and in fact everything that goes to make a bicycle complete, and at the same time earn fifteen dollars pocket money, payable in cash.

If there is a boy or girl who does not want a bicycle, any of them may earn a watch or any other prize they desire by the most generous proposition that has ever been made to the young people of the Maritime Provinces.

Pictorial Review is desirous of securing one million additional readers and in order to do so offers the Pathfinder bicycle mentioned above to any boy or girl who will, before October 15th, sell three hundred copies of this popular woman's magazine. Pictorial Review retails at twenty-five cents per copy. Anyone who wishes to enter this competition pays only twenty cents per copy for the magazine and thus makes five cents on every copy sold. To win the bicycle it is necessary that you shall send your money and your order for whatever number of copies of the July issue you may require, to H. V. Mackinnon & Son, P. O. Box 1109, St. John. These magazines will be delivered to you free of charge by Dominion Express. Sell them as quickly as you can and order more. A strict account is kept of all you buy and as soon as you have sold three hundred copies the bicycle will be shipped to you; all charges prepaid. In case you do not desire a bicycle write for particulars about the number you have to sell to secure one or other of the various watches which will be given as prizes. Already boys and girls in different places have sold more than one hundred copies of the June issue of Pictorial Review, and at the rate they are going will have earned their bicycles by the middle of July. Any one can do it!

The generosity of this magnificent offer will be realized when it is remembered that three hundred copies of the magazine costs the competitor only sixty dollars and that the bicycle is worth more than the entire sum paid for these magazines. No such offer was ever made to the boys and girls of these provinces. Do not lose time. You can secure scores of customers this month who will take the magazine from you every month, and in a very short time you will have finished your three hundred sales and be in possession of an up to the minute bicycle. Let us hear from you at once.
