Under-Currents By The Duchess

I read some of them—were almost vehement on the subject. And at last, as you know, papa gave in, agreed to his proposal, and—

"And here we are, with an expressive glance round her. "But vehement. I don't like that word. So eager to seize upon us. My good child, why didn't you tell me all this before? Don't you think we had better take the reins, literally, into our own hands, and get out of this old ark and make a run for it even now—at the last moment? To mind mind the affair looks black as Erebus. No doubt he wants to get us into his clutches either to incarcerate us in his donjon keep or to assassinate us out of hand."

"But why? Even such wild measures are not used without a motive."

"Well, what was this vendetta, this terrible life-long quarrel that was kept up between him and father with such monotonous persistence?"

"That had to do with our grandfather's will. Papa was the eldest son, yet the property was left to Uncle Gregory; and that for no reason at all. Naturally papa was very angry about his accused Gregory of unjust undue influence."

"Oh, there must have been a reason!"

"No dissension that had not been healed for many years. It seems our grandfather disapproved of our father's marriage, and at that time made a will disinheriting him; but later on he sent for papa and mother, and took a great fancy to her, and told papa he had revoked the first will and made a fresh one in his favor. Whether he did it or not no one knows. Most probably he meant to, but never did it, as the first will only was found at his death, in which Uncle Gregory was named sole heir. I really can't go into it, a little wearily. "All my life the story has been dinned into my ears; and as I know it, such is the case."

"Just so, and of course there is a good deal behind that you don't know. There always is; nobody ever tells quite everything. And besides—Oh! Oh, Vera! Oh! what has happened?"

Chapter 11.
A propo. ma as one shall see in a summer's day.

She clutches in an agonised fashion at the leather side of the crazy old chariot, which has toppled partly over to the left side, her side, and so stands in a decidedly dissipated position. The argument drives presumably asleep, had let the horses wander at their own sweet will, and they being old and sleepy too, the result was that they had dragged two of the wheels up on a steep bank and nearly capsize the carriage. It is still, indeed, very unpleasantly possible that it will go over, each second makes it likelier that the occupants of it will soon be buried beneath its skeleton remains, when suddenly the horses' heads are caught by a firm hand, and after a struggle, brief and inglorious—for they are too starved and too aged, poor brutes! to argue much—they are forced backwards into a respectable position on the public road.

"Oh, thank you, says Miss Dysart, leaning forward and addressing with earnest glance and heightened colour the young man who had risen—descended, perhaps, sounds pleasanter and more orthodox—like a good angel from somewhere—he woid on their right, no doubt. A fishing-od, lying on the sand where he had flung it when papa—poor old hero, proclaims the fact that he has been whipping the stream that gleams here and there brilliantly through the interstices of the trees. He looks a gentleman; there is no doubt about that, thinks Miss Dysart quickly. As for Griselda she goes even a little further and tell herself absent that, if plain, he had a pleasant look.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-LIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

"Ottawa St., Hull, P.Q.
"Fruit-a-lives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-lives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-lives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism".

LORENZO LEDUC.

Box a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

"Oh, no, says he, lifting his hat a soft sigh, peaked fore and aft—"you mustn't thank me. It was really nothing. Poor brutes, I think they were asleep; they—it is hot, isn't it? This last he says hastily, as if ashamed of his animadversion on the age of the sorry cattle in question—their horses no doubt; and there is something wonderfully charming in the faint apologetic colour that springs into his cheeks. As he finishes speaking he looks at Griselda so hard that she feels it incumbent on her to return his glance and to say something.

Poor Kidney Action Brings Fatal Results

It is well for everyone to realize that from the moment the kidneys fail to remove the poisons from the blood stream, these poisons accumulate and set up the infections that cause disease.

What are the indications which give warning of this approaching suffering? Here are a few of the symptoms. That pain in the back, dizziness, swollen joints or ankles, painful urination or brick dust deposits. At the first attack of any of these troubles turn to the old tried and tested kidney remedy—Gin Pills. Take them as directed and you will ward off chronic troubles. Do not misunderstand the name Gin Pills. How they came to be called Gin Pills is this:

Gin has long been considered a remarkable curative agent for kidney or bladder trouble. This virtue comes from one ingredient alone in Gin and NOT from the alcohol. That is why the beneficial ingredients in gin can be taken in pill form, without alcohol, and that is what you get when you use Gin Pills.

When you decide to try Gin Pills you are protected. Buy a box from any dealer for 50 cents. If you do not get genuine relief after taking them, all you have to do is ask for your money back and it will be returned.

This is certainly a generous offer; but we make it feeling that once you have tried Gin Pills and know the beneficial results they bring, you will continue to use and recommend them.

A free sample will be sent if you address your request to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont.
