

It's a gusher

There's at least one Clarkson resident who is not concerned about the high cost of home heating oil.

Region of Peel works department employees extracted 80 gallons of oil and 200 additional gallons of oil and water mixture from Sheridan Creek last weekend. It is believed that a resident dumped the oil while changing his heating system to gas.

The oil did not flow into Lake Ontario.

Mississauga fire department responded to a call from a concerned resident at 3 a.m. Friday.

THE LAW

1 killed in fog

Sunday morning's fog claimed the life of an 18-year-old Woodlands School student and seriously injured three other people in two accidents shortly after midnight.

George James Ganyu was killed instantly when his car, heading southbound on Erin Mills Parkway collided with a northbound car driven by Albert Lorne Post of Caledon.

Police say Ganyu realized too late that he had crossed the centre line in the fog and swerved to avoid the Post vehicle but was struck broadside just below Thomas Street.

Barbara Lee West, a 19-year-old passenger in the Ganyu vehicle is in Mississauga Hospital with major injuries.

In a collision on the North Service Road at Ravendale Court, police say a westbound car driven by Ronald MacNaughton, 21, of Norval, crossed over the centre line of the North Service Road and collided with a car driven by Craig Gemmel, 16, of Windy Oaks Drive in Mississauga. Gemmel was transferred to Toronto Western Hospital with major injuries and was in intensive care yesterday.

Gemmel's 19-year-old brother, Brian, a passenger in his vehicle, was taken to Mississauga Hospital with major injuries and removed from intensive care Monday.

MacNaughton is charged with impaired driving in connection with the second accident. No charges were laid in the first.

Realtor charged

Peel police charged a Rexdale real estate agent with theft after a customer complained to his real estate company. Police say a purchaser of a house on Chapley Crescent in Mississauga made a $1,000 downpayment in June. The realtor failed to give the money to his company within 48 hours as required by law, police say. Police arrested Chiefton Walter McDowall, 51, of Derry Road last Wednesday.

Biker charged

A Toronto motorcyclist has been charged by officers from both Peel and OPP after he was spotted speeding on Highway 401 Thursday about 4 p.m. at 100 km per hour. OPP officer R.W. O'Donnell followed the biker from the Airport Expressway area to the Dixie Road cutoff which the biker sped off on and retreated inside a restaurant. Peel officers were called to assist and entered to find a man shouting abusive and obscene language. They arrested the man for causing a disturbance. As he was being placed in the police cruiser, another man began shouting and making obscene gestures and struck an officer when police attempted to arrest him. Greg Devon Kimber, 24, of Van Every Street is charged with obstructing police, causing a disturbance, speeding and failing to keep within a marked laneway. Gordon Donald Kimber, 19, of Mabel Avenue of Toronto is charged with causing a disturbance and assault with intent to resist arrest.

Charge wrong

The Times erroneously reported recently that Peter John Lombardi, 23, of Mississauga was charged with break and enter in connection with a theft at a Port Credit paint store. Lombardi, was charged with possession of stolen property in connection with the theft. Lombardi was also charged with theft over $200 in connection with tools and tape cassettes taken from a truck.
