HOME READING AND STUDY

There are two general ways by which a missionary reading campaign may be started in a Sunday school. One is a big, popular, enthusiastic movement, spurred by a contest or the giving of awards. The other is a "still hunt." The latter will probably produce the most normal results and there is less likelihood of a reaction against missionary literature.

Only the most general suggestions can be given for a "still-hunt" reading campaign. One or two individuals keeping steadily at it may get results. Many of the missionary books belonging to the author are read each year by business men and women, professional people, high-school students and younger boys and girls. In the back of every lending book is written, "Will each one who reads this book write his name below?" For library books, such a sentence may appear on a slip of paper pasted in the back.
