STRANGE SUICIDE CASE.—The "Investigator" tells how a jury got around a sane or insane clause in an accident policy. A man by the name of Paul Steinsland held a Macabee's certificate. He tired of life and hanged himself to the knob of his kitchen door. The Macabees refused to pay and the case went to a jury. The jury brought in a verdict that Steinsland, hanging to the knob of his kitchen door, was not a suicide. Juries make sad havoc sometimes of restrictive clauses in insurance policies, says our contemporary, to which may be added they often make sad havoc of common sense and justice when dealing with insurance cases.

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE held its Annual Convention in New York on 15th and 16th inst., which was attended by over 350 representatives. After a sumptuous repast in the Hotel Martin, business was entered upon. Mr. Ayres fourth vice-president. Mr. J. S. Roberts, secretary, and Third Vice-president Woodward addressed the Convention. Mr. Woodward announced the creation of a "Roll of Honour," for faithful and continuous service. To each of those who had been in the company's service more than five years was presented a medal that had been inscribed with the number of years of service. Those who had been with the company ten or fifteen years received recognition also being awarded medals of a more costly character and workmanship, and each of those more than twenty-five years received a medal studded with a diamond and handsomely engraved. In all, many medals were presented, and the idea, a novel one, was greatly appreciated. President Hegeman made an excellent address and delighted the agents by his geniality.

THE CHICAGO CORONER'S jury, which has been investigating the cause of the recent fire and loss of life, has rendered a verdict by which the following persons are held to await the action of the Grand Jury:—Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago; Will J. Davis, proprietor in part, and manager of the theatre; George Williams, building commissioner of Chicago; Edward Laughlin, building inspector, under Williams; William Sellers, fireman of the theatre; J. E. Cummings, stage carpenter; William Mullen, who had charge of the light that caused the fire, and Fire Chief Musham. A conviction is very doubtful, but the ordeal will be a wholesome warning.
