

47 Choice Scotch Shorthorns at Auction

TORONTO JUNCTION STOCK YARDS, 1 P. M.,

February 3rd, 1909,

From the Noted Herds of J. A. WATT and W. G. PETTIT & SONS.

This offering comprises one of the best collections of Shorthorns sold in Canada in recent years, and contains many high-class show animals, including Imp. Prime Favorite =45214=, the grand champion bull of 1907. The 33 females are a choice lot, and are bred along lines that should appeal to the more critical buyers. The man in quest of a herd bull should not fail to attend this sale, as the 14 bulls offer one of the best opportunities of the year. Come to this sale and make your selections at your own price. Send for the catalogue, mentioning The Farmer's Advocate. Address:

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

DESTROYING RED WILLOWS.

How can I kill red willows in a wet place? The land grows coarse grass. Would it be better to drain the land first, or to destroy the willow first? When should they be cut? N. B.

Ans.—Since willows thrive on wet land, the process of eradication would be made easier if the area were drained. If there is a satisfactory outlet, an open ditch should be of great benefit. Cut them off near the ground after the first full flush of the season's growth—probably late June or early July—and pull out larger roots with a team and chain.

INVERSION OF VAGINA.

1. I have a cow that gets very thin in flesh about three or four weeks before coming in, and she shows what I hear people call the reed; she is worse when lying. Is there anything I can give her to stop it?

2. Is there any injury to hens in giving them broken glass as grit?

J. J. B.

Ans.—1. The thin condition of the cow probably is not due to the inversion of the lining of the vagina, which most frequently occurs in the case of cows in high condition. Little can be done by way of prevention other than by placing extra planking on the floor, raising the hind end of the false floor considerably higher than the front. The trouble almost invariably ceases after calving.

2. We have known broken glass to be used for this purpose without apparent injury, but would not advise its use. Broken crockery is preferable.

SPLINT—WORMS—CROOKED TAIL.

I have a driving horse, four years old, has a splint on inside of leg, about one and a half inches below the knee, and goes quite lame at times. What is the proper remedy?

2. I have a horse with worms about four inches long, and as large around as a common darning needle. What is the treatment?

3. Have a brood mare that has raised five colts, four of which carry their tails to the right side. This is not in the mare's breed. Is there a successful treatment for this, or can I have it done by a veterinary?

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. The advertised specifics for cure by absorption of splint and other bone affections have proved satisfactory in many cases. If these fail, blistering may be more effectual.

2. For worms in horse, take three ounces each of sulphate of iron, and sulphate of copper, and two ounces each of calomel and tartar emetic. Mix and make into twenty-four powders. Drug-gist will prepare these. Give a powder every night and morning in feed, or as a drench in a pint of water. After last powder has been given, give a purgative ball of eight drams aloes and two drams ginger.

3. A veterinarian may, by severing the muscle on the opposite side, straighten the tail.

Lump Jaw

The first remedy to cure Lump Jaw was

Fleming's Lump Jaw Cure

and it remains today the standard treatment, with years of success back of it, known to be a cure and guaranteed to cure. Don't experiment with substitutes or imitations. Use it, no matter how old or bad the case or what else you may have tried—your money back if Fleming's Lump Jaw Cure ever fails. Our full plan of selling, together with extensive information on Lump Jaw and its treatment, is given in Fleming's Vets-Pocket Veterinary Adviser. Most complete veterinary book ever printed to be given away. Durable bound, indexed and illustrated. Write us for a free copy.
