

WEAVING SUNSHINE.

"You can't guess, mamma, what Grandma Davis said to me this morning when I carried her the flowers and the basket of apples!" exclaimed little Mary Price, as she came running into the house, her cheeks red as twin roses.

"I am quite sure, darling," said mamma, "that I cannot; but I hope it was something pleasant."

"Indeed it was, mamma," said Mary, "she said, 'Good morning, dear; you are weaving sunshine.' I hardly knew what she meant at first, but I think I do now; and I am going to try to weave sunshine every day."

"Mother," concluded Mary, "don't you remember that beautiful poetry, 'Four Little Sunbeams,' you read to me one day? If those sunbeams could do me so much good, I think we all ought to be little sunbeams!"

After a few moments pause, a new thought seemed to have popped into Mary's little head, and she said, "O, mamma, I have just thought. When Lizzie Patton was here she told me that her Sunday school class was named 'Little Gleaners,' and I know another class called 'Busy Bees.' Now next Sunday I mean to ask our teacher to call our class 'Sunshine Weavers,' and then we will all go weaving sunshine."

It is a good plan. Sunshine weavers will be kindly remembered long after cross, hateful people have been forgotten.
