The Goulds Send Twelve Volunteers.

Mr. Alan Williams presided at last night's recruiting meeting held at the Goulds, St. John's. The meeting was held in the school and was largely attended. The speakers were Lieut. Ross, Sergt. J. Robinson and J. W. Morris. The soldiers related their experiences at Gallipoli and France and pointed out the pressing need for recruits.

The chairman, on behalf of the people of the Goulds, thanked the speakers for their excellent addresses and felt sure they would be well repaid for coming out so far from the city by the response to the call the young men of the place would make.

A Boot Discussion.

A fisherman and farmer met. The latter came from Kelligrewa. The former from Torbay, you bet. And both discussed on fish and brewis. A tradesman passed along the way. "Look here," said he, "my buddy boots." The greatest topic of to-day—Not fish and brewis, tis Buddy Boots.

Weakness

Every movement of the body uses up a definite amount of vitality. When you overtax yourself, or your vitality is undermined by illness, your whole system becomes too exhausted to recover its lost vitality without assistance. Your system is like a plant that is drooping for want of water. And just as water revives a drooping plant—so Wincarnis gives new life and new vitality to a weakened constitution.

Capt. Howard Heard From.

A cablegram was received from Capt. P. J. Howard last night, announcing his arrival at Piraeus, Greece. Capt. Howard is master of the American schooner Arkana, and it goes to show that the genial Captain's previous experiences in Grecian waters were turned to good account. The captain will have many interesting experiences to relate on his return from the scene of war in the far east. It is probable that the Arkana will return to Gloucester. Previous to joining the Pilot staff in St. John's, Capt. Howard made several voyages between Patmos, Patras and Piraeus and other ports of Greece to Marseilles in the south of France in the eighties of the past century.

George Street A. B. C.

The regular meeting of the Class will take place to-morrow as usual at 2.30 p.m. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Guy, will address the Class on the lesson, the subject being "Faithful unto death." A collection for missions will be taken, and it is hoped that all members will be present with friends. It is worth noting in passing that more than 48 members of this class are serving with the First Newfoundland Regiment, eight of whom have made the supreme sacrifice.

Incandescent Gas Lighting.

Possibly, the feature of incandescent gas lighting most frequently noted by casual observers is the great ease with which it is ordinarily adjusted under artificial light. It is readily recognized by those who have had experience with the gas mantle lamp.

In its general effect upon bodily health and comfort, the use of incandescent gas lighting is decidedly favorable. The currents of air set up by the electric light improve ventilation, tending to expel the air vitiated by respiration and draw in fresh air to replace it. Harmful or dangerous gasses are instantly destroyed in the flame. The extent to which this effect takes place may be verified by placing a gas lamp close to a ceiling without any provision for interfering with the up-rushing air currents. The charred particles which collect immediately above the lamp are the remains of dust particles which before passing through the flames were laden with germs and microbes. Actual experiments have shown that the burning of gas lamps in rooms previously containing bacteria, resulted in absolute sterilization of the air.
