

GUTTA PERCHA TIRES

for Rough Roads
and Steep Hills.

Motors, in a country like Newfoundland, need tires that have a tread designed for extra hard service, one that grips the road and insures traction on hills and rough places, and lessens the likelihood of slipping when the roads are wet or sloping.

We know two things about Gutta Percha (Maltese Cross) Tires—they Outlast and Outperform any tire we ever knew about before. Come in and let us show you what the best-made Tires are like.

An Army of Peace.

(From the Nomad in The Boston Transcript.)

Oddfellowship is a thing that abundantly justifies itself merely in the view of itself which it has afforded to Boston this week. These immense numbers of hearty and splendid humans, assembling from all parts of the world, and particularly from these American States—all chatting so friendly with one another, all marching shoulder to shoulder, all delighting so much in their mutually helpful, big society—give one a most engaging idea of what people can do when they get together.

Beholding their martial array founded on love and upbuilding instead of upon hate, one feels that the peace of the world could be safely entrusted to them. The Nomad particularly likes the name that they give to their chief—the name of "grand sire;" it suggests a sort of universal grandfather, who finds his grandchildren the nicest beings in the world and who find him the nicest being; no spankings or shuttings in the closet in that relation; just a good benevolent time all round. The Nomad, following the nature of nomads, as never, to be sure, been a "finer" of anything himself. He belongs to no society or fraternity. Yet undoubtedly he, with everybody else, feels the impulse of the tribal instinct. Birds of a feather flock together. Besides the nations, we have to have our tribes—and that is the reason why there are so many fraternal and benevolent societies. The more of them that there are the better, it is for everybody—especially when they are so useful and so comfortable as the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

JOB'S STORES, Limited

No Sale for Soft Cure Labrador.

Owners of shore Labrador fish are unable to find purchasers, and for several schooner loads now in port $5.10 was the highest offer made. Schr. Olgar G. Fradham, with a cargo of this grade, is discharging at Crosbie's wharf, where the fish will be stored until the owner can make a sale. A few quintals of the cargo have been taken by an East End firm in settlement of an account.

Entered as Solicitor.

After the close of the usual business of the Supreme Court yesterday Mr. Howley, K.C., moved on the petition of Thomas Scanlon McGrath as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court. Mr. McGrath thereupon took the oath of allegiance and of office and signed the roll. On behalf of the Bench the Chief Justice extended congratulations. Mr. McGrath is a son of the late John McGrath, painter and decorator, and nephew of Jas J. McGrath, B.A. He is an ex-pupil of St. Bon's College. In his examination he made an exceptionally good showing and we bespeak for him a brilliant future.

Bought in By Owners.

Yesterday there was only one bid of $5000 made at the Board of Trade rooms for the schooner Dobbie. She was, however, bought in by the owners for $30,000. Mr. Herbert Knight, acting for the latter, who are in England. The Dobbie is a 3 masted auxiliary schooner built at Port Blandford in 1916 and classed Bureau Veritas for 8 years. She is 118 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 12 feet deep with fittings complete.

Embroidery.

The art of embroidery has been practiced from time immemorial—it is said to be as old as the art of dressing. The mummy clothes of ancient Egypt show the earliest extant embroidery, and the "pomegranates" of blue and purple and scarlet" of the book of Exodus were of embroidery.

The art reached its height in the early Middle Ages. In Greece and Rome, laws were made to moderate its use, but without success. The most distinguished artists did not count it condescension to make the designs from which the highest ladies in the land executed their embroideries. No workers were more skilled in the art than the English.
