"HIPRESS"
WITH THE RED LINE 'ROUND THE TOP

We told a man yesterday—

—who asked to see our arctic that if he went all over the world looking for the best that are made he'd end up right in our store and would buy these same Goodrich "Hipress" Arctics.

So he decided to take the tip instead of the trip.

And we say the same to you. You never saw all-rubber arctic and high gaiters that wear like these do. They're the only ones on earth made of auto tire rubber—that's why. And you can always keep them neat because they wash easy.

Come in and say "Hipress" to us and we'll show you something!

HOW MEN LOVE TO BULLY.

How men do love to bully! Much to my surprise the worm turned. Here is an example in a conversation I heard the other day. A man and his wife had to make up their minds how to face a peculiar situation. Either way of dealing with it held some disadvantages. "What would you do about it?" said the man to his wife. She hesitated, then advanced the solution that she thought would appeal to him most. (She told me afterward that personally she preferred the other, but she had suggested that because she thought it was the one with which he would agree. Such are the ways of women.)

He did not want to agree. He was sore because there had to be disadvantages every way and he wanted to find fault. So at once he said temperately: "Oh yes, that would be fine! What would you do about such and such?" naming the disadvantages. Naturally she couldn't answer as there wasn't any answer, and

Critical Perior for Fighters

IS CORBETT'S VIEW.

New York. — Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey have just entered what I consider the most critical period of their training for the big battle at Jersey City, July 3, writes James J. Corbett. Between now and June 30 both fighters must be carried along carefully, and the manner in which they are handled during the next ten days will mean a lot. After June 30 it will be the aim of their training, having built them up to a certain point of physical fitness to prime them for the big fight. Dempsey and his rival are both in very fine physical condition to-day. They have reached the point where it would be very harmful to do too much or too little work.

From what the fighters have done in the last few days I imagine that Kearns and Deocamps have entertained fears that their proteges might overstep the limit. Carpentier has not expended any great amount of exertion in the presence of reporters, it is true, but he has been working very hard in private. And to my notion the slight cut

"Not Near Enough to Heaven."

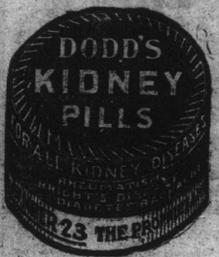

LONDON, Ont., June 2.—That the Methodist Church frowned upon short skirts, gambling, dancing in colleges, schools and summer resorts and the stigma attached to illegitimate children, was evidenced by discussions which took place at the General Session of the London Methodist Conference this morning. The debate arose during reception of the report of the Evangelical and Social Service Department by Rev. A. Murray Stuart.

Rev. S. Anderson of Bradford, introduced the subject of "ladies' attire" but was greeted by a chorus of "Ohs" from fellow delegates. "We would recommend some young ladies to go to bed," he declared. "It is a disgraceful thing. Our women ought to be decently attired at least." "What is the trouble?" asked a member of the conference. "The clothes are a little too far from the ground and not quite near enough to Heaven," he replied. "This report declares that the church is looking upon the presence of gambling with deep concern, endangering society, reaching down to the school boys gambling with marbles. We urge parents and teachers to set their faces against this evil to its final extinction."

Regarding illegitimate children, the report says in part: "We cordially approve of the purpose of the Ontario Government in recent legislation regarding the stigma of illegitimate children by making the father responsible and hope the father will be compelled to recognize the child by distinction of his name."

"We look with a certain degree of alarm on the growing of the dance. We believe it is time for the church to take a more decided stand on this form of amusement and would call the attention of the public to the pernicious influence of dancing at summer resorts."

"This clause was deemed 'too bold,' by the conference and referred back for alteration.

Teutons Cheer Black Watch.

(Toronto Globe)

Britons will smile grimly when they read that Germans threw flowers on a battalion of the Black Watch as it entered a Silesian city. It is a far cry from the legend of the "Englisher schwein" and the Hymn of Hate. The Germans do not sing the old song now, "We have one foe and one alone—England." The change of tune is for the moment sincere. The British Government has been intransigent in insisting that Germany keep her word, but she taken the ground that when Germany complied with the Peace Treaty she became entitled to the protection of that instrument. The Polish coup in 1918 was a casus belli under the Treaty, and Germans have been convinced of Britain's good faith by her refusal to connive at it.

The Silesian problem will not be solved by sending British troops to the disturbed area, but their presence will be a protection to the inhabitants, who have been at the mercy of Polish irregulars in many localities. The Italians, who welcome British reinforcements, have only 5,000 or 6,000 in the whole district. The French have nine battalions of infantry and some cavalry but their sympathies are with the Poles. The British have had only a few officers on the spot, attached to the Inter-Allied Commission. They have won general confidence by their scrupulous impartiality between the Polish and German factions. But German gratitude, which has its roots in self-interest, may vanish upon the publication of the report of the Commission, delimiting the boundary of Upper Silesia. Whatever the decision, it will be a signal for a new explosion of racial wrath and strife. The Polish irregulars have occupied some of the richest mineral sections, and the Warsaw Government claims that the Treaty gives to Poland the areas in which the local majorities in the recent plebiscite were favorable to union with that country.

Fashions and Fads.

Brown, beaver and dark gray gloves will be worn this fall. Black satin and white rayon lace are used in combination. Suits of striped woolen fabric are trimmed with wool fringe. Fruit and flower trimmed felt hats are having a great vogue. Blond stockings are taking the place of the popular gray ones. Silver-edged ribbon flowers add gay color to a Georgette blouse. Suit skirts will be simple, but often have an embroidered border. The narrow plain white collar is used with a deep or oval neckline. The sub-jecker is generally loose and features a narrow string belt.

Do You Wear This Mark?

I suspect the bullying instinct is one of the universal human instincts. It is more developed in the male because the male, on account of his size-long economic supremacy, and his traditional position as head of the house, has more opportunity to exercise it. One of the hallmarks of true civilization is the effort, the individual makes to overcome the instinct to bully. The first step in this process is recognizing the instinct, the second is deprecating it, the third is controlling it. When you find anyone, man or woman, who does this, you find someone who has climbed far in the process of character perfection.
