

Cape Breton Woman Walked the Floor For Hours at Night

Nova Scotia Resident Suffered Agonies From Indigestion—Can Now Eat Anything.

"I didn't have much faith in Tanlac when I began taking it, but I'm convinced now it's the best medicine in the world," said Mrs. D. A. McDonald, of Reserve, Cape Breton, N.S.

"I had lost faith in medicines, as I hadn't been able to get relief from any I had tried but was steadily growing worse all the time. I had stomach trouble of the worst kind and couldn't eat a thing without suffering distress afterwards. I believe I suffered more at night than at any other time, and often would get up out of bed and walk the floor for hours before I got any relief. I used to have violent headaches too, which kept me in bed for days at a time and drove me almost frantic with pain. My nerves got so bad that the least little thing upset me and would start me trembling like a leaf. I felt so miserable and worried, I was about ready to give up."

"I never dreamed a medicine could help me like Tanlac has done. I now eat anything I want and am never troubled with gas or indigestion of any kind. My headaches are a thing of the past, my nerves have quieted down and I sleep as sound as a child every night. I get up in the morning feeling refreshed and strong and go about my housework with a happy heart, as it is no trouble for me at all. Tanlac is certainly wonderful and I am glad of the chance to recommend it."

Violating Game Laws.

Since the withdrawal of the Game Wardens, reports are current that the Game Laws are being violated by those in whose interest they were made. It has of late become the habit of several sports to bring their dogs over the grounds and allow them to run wild amongst any "coveys" that they may scent. On the Three Pond Barrens this practice has become frequent and should be stopped.

To Dramatize the Passion of Christ.

Oberammergau.—Since the decision was made to give the delayed Passion Play in 1922, Oberammergau has taken on new life. Carpenters, painters and masons, many of them wearing long hair and beards which mark them as participants in previous dramatizations of the passion of Jesus Christ, are restoring the open-air theatre and villas which had no attention during the war period.

Busy housewives are preparing their homes for the reception of visitors who will fill the little village next summer. Scene-painters are rebuilding and restoring the representations of parts of the Holy Land where Jesus lived and died and rose again from the tomb.

Nestlewomen are fashioning robes for the apostles and scores of other biblical figures who participate in the play. Although the cast will not be elected by the directors of the play until October, young women who have distinguished themselves in other religious plays given by the Oberammergau folk are fashioning simple robes suitable for the role of Mary in the hope that they will be chosen to enact the part of Jesus' mother, the highest honor which can come to an Oberammergau woman.

The great auditorium which shelters spectators of the Passion Play is a wooden structure supported by steel trusses. It has seats for 4,000 persons, arranged much after the plan of a modern opera house. When the play is offered one end of the auditorium is removed on'tirely, and the stage stands at some distance from the end of the building, in such a position that the mountains furnish a background for setting. The audience is entirely

MAURA'S POLICY.

MADRID, Aug. 9. The Morocco program of Senor Maura, who is reported to have been asked by King Alfonso to form a new cabinet to take the place of the present Ministry, headed by Manuel Alenquer-Salazar, will, according to the report, be that announced by him when Premier. This consists of punishing the rebels before Melilla, and the fortification of the entire sea coast in the Spanish zone in Northern Africa. He also aims at forming a Government for the Spanish zone. It is his belief that the way to win over the tribes in the interior is not by military conquest, but by giving the tribesmen work and protecting them.

McKEOWN'S CLAIM.

LONDON, Aug. 9. The release of John J. McKeeown has made the best possible impression in Ireland, and the majority of papers in London, which comment on the incident, agree that the Government acted wisely. "Release is acceptance of my attitude that my act was an act of war," said McKeeown, "therefore it is clear that it is a final abandonment of any claim by the enemy that the Irish war is murder. If I had not been a soldier of my nation I would not have been chosen as a representative of my people. It is obvious my fellow soldiers in jail and camps must be similarly recognized."

heltered in case of rain and the main part of the stage has a glass roof.

Even among the children of Oberammergau the reverence for the Passion Play is very marked and in imitation of their elders they are constantly acting in the hope of being chosen for important roles in the production given every ten years. As good character is insisted upon as the basic requirement for participation in the play, the danger of being debarred from a part in the historic spectacle is held constant by the village children and is a far better corrective influence than the bogey invented for most children.

Where Columbus Landed

For four centuries there have been dispute and disagreement as to the new world. It is known that he landed on one of the Bahama Islands, but in that widely scattered group there are thirty-six pieces of land, large enough to be classified as islands, and about 700 "cays" or "keys," like those which first landing place of Columbus in the lie along the Florida coast, and in some cases pretty well out to sea.

The early narratives have it that Columbus landed at or on a place which the native Indians called Guanahani, and which the Spaniards named San Salvador, or Holy Saviour. Cat Island has been given as the landing place of Columbus and so has Watling Island. Atwood's Key or Samana has been chosen by some as the place which Columbus called San Salvador, and other investigators who may be termed authorities have picked Turks Island, and others have chosen the Island of Mariguana—Washington Star.

Glam bouillon is delicious served with whipped cream. An old sheet will often make a nice pair of pillow cases.

Young carrots are nice mixed with string beans or peas. Serve vanilla ice cream in eclair shells with butterscotch sauce. If you use large fruits in making marmalade, slice them very thinly.

Tarts are good filled with grape marmalade and topped with meringue. Honey should never be put into the refrigerator, or it will granulate. Cucumbers are nice served with a little vinegar and cream mixed together.

The kitchen window should have its pot of parsley for winter use. Buns will be nicely glazed if brushed lightly with egg milk.
