St. Thomas, August 27, 1899.

J. W. Doyle,—
DEAR SIE.—In reply to yours of the 23rd inst.,
I am as well as I was at nineteen years of age.
Have not had any symptoms of Rheumatism since I have been using your Liniment. Further—While wheeling to Port Stanley I came into collision with another wheelman and injured my knee so that it swelled to twice its natural size. The doctor said it would have to be tapped. I said I thought not—that I had Doyle's Liniment. He wantel to know what the d—I that was. I told him to call in a couple of days and I would show him. He called, and I showed him my knee, from which the swelling had all disappeared. He said:
"Keep right on with what you are doing." I cannot speak too highly of it.

Yours truly, WM. PALMERSTON, of St. Thomas Police Force. St. Thomas, August 27, 1899.

THE SCOTSMAN'S PASSENGERS SAFE

Miss Edythe Hyman, of This City, Was Among Them.

Miss Edythe Hyman, daughter of Mr. C. S. Hyman, of this city, was a passenger on the Dominion Line steamer Scotsman, which was due at Montreal, Sunday, and about which so much anxiety has been felt for the past few days. A dispatch this morning says the Scotsman is ashore off Belle Isle, and that 200 of her passengers have been taken off by the steamer Montford. The Mont-ford is now on her way up the gulf, having passed Heath Point signal station at 8 o'clock this morning. Miss Hyman is returning from a tour of several months in Europe, and her many friends will be greatly relieved to learn of the safety of the Scotsman's passengers. During her stay abroad, Miss Hyman contributed to The Adver-

Young Spicknell's Evidence in the Pottersburg Car Case.

Richard Howard, Thomas Barnes and Samuel Thornton, who are charged with maliciously damaging a street car at Pottersburg on Aug 19, came up before Squire Smyth yesterday afternoon, and the evidence of another witness taken. Owing to the absence from the city of a lady witness, the case was adjourned until Oct. 11, the bail of the accused being renewed. George Spicknell, the 12-year-old son of County Constable Spicknell, of Pottersburg, was the only witness called. He had seen Howard standng near the loop when the car was derailed. Witness was positive in identifying Howard as the man he saw apply a match to a piece of paper and throw it in the side door of the car, at the same time calling for some person to get some coal oil. Spicknell saw Thornton and Barnes, but they were sitting on a veranda near by.

BARTLETT-SAINSBURY. One of the prettiest weddings of the month took place yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in St. James' Church. South London, when Mr. Walter J. Bartlett, of Aylmer, and Miss Edith May Sainsbury, of London, were united in marriage by Ven. Archdeacon Davis, in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives of the P. Sainsbury. She was handsomely attired in a traveling gown of green and castor broadcloth, with cream satin and hat to match. Her sister, Miss Aggie, was bridesmaid, and wore rose silk, with overdress of white organdie and hat to match. The groom was as-assisted by Mr. W. Milroy. Mr. Vivian Reeves, organist of the church, played the wedding march.

A reception was held subsequently at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. George Sainsbury, 98 Bruce street, where the wedding breakfast was served, and a number of congratulatory speeches delivered. Among those who spoke was Mr. Leopold Sainsbury. The young couple were the recipients of many valuable wedding gifts, including five checks. At 2:30 Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett left for their home at Aylmer, attended by the best wishes of their numerous friends. Mr. Bart-lett is connected with the firm of Laidlaw, Watson & Co., Aylmer.

No. 3 committee is down to hard-pan. financial statement was submitted at the meeting last night, showing that uncontrollable expenses for the balance of the year will leave less than $100 to the committee's credit. The committee's appropriation this year was unusually small, and the cost of lighting the city during the strike has been unusually large. There have been 15 or 16 moonlight nights in the past four months that the lights were burned, at a cost of $70 a night, making an outlay of over $1,000 that the committee did not count on. The chairman will interview the chief of police with regard to having the lights turned off

Latest Styles in Ladies' Hats and Bonnets.

This is the season for the doffing of the straw and the donning of winter material in ladies' headwear. The store milliner (if she be an up-todate one) has for months past been laying in a fund of artistic ideas, to augment those of her own originality-(for, you know, ideas of past seasons won't do). She reads, she studies, contracting parties. The bride was she works, she combines-and just in given away by her brother, Mr. Arthur so far as she is capable of combining and executing the best ideas of the best artists, such as Mons. Heitz Boyer, Mme Alyevin, Mangin, Maurice, Mons. Lewis and Linn Faulkner, with those of her own is she successful. Our reporter was attracted to one of the down-town shop windows today, and, like most ladies (though of the male persuasion) he has a perfect mania for pretty hats and bonnets. "Opening day—everybody welcome.

Millinery department on second floor."
The announcement was irresistible on entering the handsome spacious showrooms he met the proprietor, Mr. C. H. Bayley. "Very busy today, Mr. Bayley?" "Yes, one of our opening days, you know. Our millinery is always a drawing card, though this is a busy section of our store. Would say busy section of our store. Would you care to see some of the leading styles? You note, in passing, the endless variety of breasts, birds, grebe, hackles, quills and wings, together with ostrich tips, plumes, etc. All these are much in favor this season, and make real smart effect in trimming. Velvets, plain and mirrored, are the predomin-ant piece material, with a great deal of taffetta silk, and chiffons and malinis. These are articles and ma-terials that are ordinarily marked in millinery stores with a pretty stiff margin," remarked Mr. Bayley; "but margin," remarked Mr. Bayley; "but popular prices are the order in this department, hence the large and increasing trade. The colors most popular at present are beaver, castor, petunia, dahlia, sumatra, and cyrano, though the range of new colors included. though the range of new colors includes many other very handsome shades. Here's a stylish hat, and as pretty as it appears on the stand, it is more delightful on the head. We might enlarge description of 50 other very highly artractive hats and bonnets that were shown, but you must see them to fully appreciate their artistic beauty. Mr. Bayley seems to have instinctive judgment in buying, as new and pretty styles are always found on his counters. His dress goods section is particularly inviting, judging from the busy salespeople politely attending to the demands of the many buyers. "Yes, we're pretty busy these days. Proper goods, proper prices and proper attention to the needs of our customers, brings us a goodly share of pat-ronage. Our trade is constantly growing, and this season is opening par-ticularly bright. Come again and bring your lady friends."

Questions Answered.

KOMOKA .- A and B are neighbors. A says the line fence between their farms is on him. B. has lived on his farm eleven years. There are no stones or anything to show the fence has ever been moved. A has gone and moved his part of the fence over on B. State what steps B can take. Ans .-He can bring an action against him for trespass, and should recover substantial damages, as the act of A in-volves the title to the land in dispute. Consult a lawyer.

LUCAN.-I hired in March for eight months, to work on a farm, and lost three weeks through being sick. Can I make up this lost time at the expiration of the eight months? Ans.-Not unless your master and you agree up-on it. Upon the facts stated, there is no legal necessity for you to do so, as no deduction can be made by him. You were not hired to work a certain number of days, but for a certain time, namely, eight calendar months, from a certain day. The involuntary illness would have justified the master in ending the contract of service, but apparently he did not do so. It is usual however, to make up for lost time under such circumstances, but not as matter of law.

IS DETERMINED

That Windsor Catholics Shall Support Separate Schools,

[From the Detroit News.] "I stated emphatically that I would have separate schools in Windsor, and will have them," said Bishop McEvay, of London, to the News this morning. "I have not the slightest intention of receding one iota from the position I have taken in this matter. Catholics are no better than those of other places, and they must obey the laws of the church. All this talk about sepanate schools meaning an excessive tax rate is nonsense. If the Catholics of Windsor will pay a reasonable tax I'll undertake to make up any deficit that may occur. St. Alphonsus and St. Francis schools are not Catholic schools at all. Why, we dare not even hang a crucifix on the walls. Those that were there were ordered removed by the trustees, and they had a perfect right to do it under the present arrangement. The selection of the teachers for the separate schools I shall leave altogether in the hands of the separate board that will be organized. The board may engage either secular or religious toachers; I'll not even offer a suggestion along this line. But I am determined to have separate schools. I also meant what I said about opening St. Mary's Academy as a separate school if steps are not taken to, convert the so-called Catholic schools into regular separate schools."
