NON-JURY SITTINGS ENDED UNEXPECTEDLY

Two Cases Were Settled and the Third Was Postponed.

The non-jury sittings of the supreme court of Ontario opened Monday afternoon at 2:30 before Chief Justice W. R. Meredith at the court-house. Although three cases were entered for trial the court was called upon to give a decision in any one of the actions, as only one, Fuller against Bonis, et al., was commenced.

The action of Werry against Bell was postponed by an order of the local judge and was also transferred to St. Thomas. The parties in the suit of Harding against the London Canning Company reached a settlement, and the action was dismissed without costs. The evidence of the plaintiff in the remaining action was taken on Monday afternoon, and the hearing was to be continued this morning, but the parties acted on the suggestion of the court and reached an amicable settlement.

The case was one in which the plaintiff asked for an injunction restraining the defendants from operating a stone quarry adjacent to his property in St. Marys in a manner alleged to be dangerous to the plaintiff and his family.

The plaintiff's solicitor, Mr. McPherson, of St. Marys, called a large number of witnesses, the majority of whom are residents of that town and live in the vicinity of the quarry. The plaintiff stated that on numerous occasions stones hurled by blasts in the quarry had fallen on his property. He produced one stone weighing five pounds that had fallen in a tree and broken off a number of branches. The other witnesses also related occurrences when stones had been thrown onto their property.

Mr. T. G. Meredith, who acted for the defendants, stated that the terms of the agreement had been made by the interested parties, but would not be made public.

A feature of the last five or six courts held in London is that the number of cases entered for trial have been settled out of court.

Beekeepers Will Meet Saturday

The beekeepers of Middlesex will hold their spring meeting at the county building next Saturday, April 26, when they will be able to compare winter losses and in some measure forecast what next summer's honey crop will be. The Middlesex association is one of the oldest and most flourishing organizations in affiliation with the Ontario Beekeepers' Association, and now that the movement for a Greater Middlesex is afoot it is expected that the turnout will be larger and more enthusiastic than ever before.

Mr. T. G. Meredith, who acted for the defendants, stated that the terms of the agreement had been made by the interested parties, but would not be made public.

INGERSOLL SOCCER LEAGUE UNDER WAY

Morrow Company Won First Game From Ellis Furniture Company.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, April 22.—A large crowd gathered at Victoria Park last night to witness the opening game of the town football league. Weather conditions were favorable, and interest was at a high pitch. The attendance was unusually large for an opening game, indicating interest greater than ever in the first game of the season. The game, which was between the Morrow Company and the Ellis Furniture Company teams, was keenly contested, being a battle royal from the moment the ball was kicked off by S. A. Gibson, president of the league. In the first half neither team scored, and considerable of the second period had passed before the Morrow Company found the goal for the first counter. This served to increase the efforts of both teams, but the whistle blew with the score standing 1 to 0 in favor of the men from the screw works. The teams: Morrow Company—Goal, Fitzmorris; backs, Pearson, Fuller; halves, Neaves, Hughes, Rider; forwards, Stanley, Soderstrom, Birch, Pettie, Greenway. Referee—C. T. Fish.

ANECDOTE AND EULOGY OF BENCH AT BARS BANQUET

Members of Legal Profession Are "Learned Friends" in True Sense at Festive Board—J. H. Flock K.C., Oldest Member, an Efficient Chairman.

An imposing array of legal talent gathered around the festive board in the Indian room of the Tecumseh House Monday evening on the occasion of the third annual banquet of the Middlesex bar.

While the feast of the law was by no means forgotten, there was little of that professional reserve which usually surrounds gentlemen of the legal profession, and the result was a famous flow of wit and anecdote connected with incidents in the past.

Mr. J. H. Flock, K.C., was voted into the chair as being the oldest member of the Middlesex bar present.

The secretary, Mr. U. A. Buchner, read regrets from Chief Justice W. R. Meredith and Sir Geo. G. H. Jones, who were unable to be present.

Proud of Judiciary.

After proposing the toast to the King, which was heartily responded to, the chairman made a toast to the bench. "I think we have a right to be proud of our judiciary," he said. "Whatever Government is in power, they always try to select the men best fitted to serve the public. Many of our county judges are well fitted to take higher duties."

He expressed the opinion that the judicial system of Canada was better than that of the United States. "Our judges know that they are on their good behavior," he said. "I know of only one attempt to bribe a Canadian judge, and that failed."

He coupled with the toast the name of Judge Macbeth.

"The bar of London," he remarked, "might well take interest in the bench, for no town is better represented on the bench." Justice McMahon and the late Justice Street were both at one time members of the Middlesex bar, he stated.

Cordial Relations Always.

The death of the late Justice Street he characterized as one of the greatest losses Canada ever sustained. He was proud that the bar produced such men. In concluding he referred to the cordial relations which had always existed between the bench and the members of the bar in London.

"The Ethics of the Law" was then proposed by Mr. J. H. Flock, K.C., who said that the bar should be proud of its name.

Mr. M. D. Fraser, K.C., then rose to propose a toast to the "Future of the Law," which was heartily responded to.

Mr. W. R. Meredith, who acted for the defendants, stated that the terms of the agreement had been made by the interested parties, but would not be made public.

Service of Praise Another Success For Mr. Wheeler

Delightful Musical Evening at St. Andrew's Largely Patronized.

Splendid Choir Assisted by Scottish Soloists of Fine Talent.

The services of praise, which are given from time to time in St. Andrew's Church by Mr. Charles E. Wheeler and his choir, are looked forward to by London music-lovers as events of rare enjoyment, and the large attendance present at Monday night's recital testified fully to this fact.

The choir and soloists, assisted by the Scottish vocalists, Mr. Shirley Jackson, tenor, and Madam Shirley Jackson, mezzo-soprano, rendered an exceptionally pleasing and varied program, which reflected much credit on Mr. Wheeler's excellent training.

A cantata entitled "Victory Divine" occupied the first portion of the evening. Mrs. Charles Wheeler, soprano; Mr. George White, tenor, and Mr. W. A. McCutcheon, bass, being the soloists. The cantata depicted three scenes relative to the death of Christ, "in the garden," "the earthquake," and "at the tomb." The big choir did excellent work, the chorus, "It is the Hour of Morning," in which Mrs. Wheeler sang the solo parts, being especially well rendered. In the duet, "By Gift of Love," by Mrs. Wheeler and Mr. George White, the fine blending of their voices was very noticeable.

An entire cantata was a rare musical treat from the opening solo by Mr. W. A. McCutcheon, to the burst of triumph in the finale chorus, "Death is Swallowed Up in Victory."

An Appreciated Number.

The choir chorus, "O Holy Father," by Marchetti, in the second half of the program, was also a most excellent number.

Madam Shirley Jackson possesses a soprano voice of exceeding sweetness and expression, and her selected solo, "Home, Sweet Home," was sung with a pathos that vibrated to the hearts of many present.

Her two mother songs, "My Treasure" and "The Sun is a-Sinkin'" proved favorites also. The duet, "Thou I Leave Thee," an old Scotch song, was sung by Mr. and Madam Shirley Jackson without accompaniment, and Mr. Jackson's Scotch song, "The Lea Rig," was perhaps one of his best numbers.

Miss Mary Sheehy, always a favorite contralto soloist, sang Tamar's "O Holy Saviour" in her usual finished style.

Mr. Wheeler's Numbers.

As usual, in his solo, Mr. Wheeler favored his audience with a few original selections, and the "March in F" by R. Goss-Custard, a spirited number of massive harmony, and Vincent's "Tavanay," a concert duet, rendered splendidly the possibilities of the church organ under Mr. Wheeler's skilful touch.

The complete program was a series of musical delights, and the choir, leader, choir and soloists are to be congratulated upon its entire success.

After the recital those taking part were entertained at the home of Mr. William Allen Young, Queen's avenue, where refreshments were served, and an exceedingly pleasant time enjoyed by all.

Bakers in Court.—The Parnell-Dean Steam Baking Company and Mr. Joseph Johnston acknowledged a breach of the city's bread by-law in the police court this morning, and were fined $5 and costs each.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Walton, 4 Maryboro Place, wish to express their sincere thanks to all their friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses to their son during his illness, and also for their loving kindness and sympathy in their sad bereavement.

WILD WOMEN TURN TO BOATHOUSES

The Suffragette "Arson Squad" Busy in the Suburbs of Birmingham.

MRS. BELMONT WARNS

American Suffragist Leader Says Militant Methods May Come to the United States.

[Canadian Press.]

London, April 22.—An "arson squad" of militant suffragettes succeeded during the night in burning down the Handsworth Park boathouse in a Birmingham suburb. Four pleasure boats and a large quantity of equipment were destroyed.

With the opening of the boating season attempts to destroy skiffs and shells are expected, and along most of the rivers and lakes a close watch is kept by special patrols night and day for suffragette boats and their crews.

"You had better stick to the needle and drop the revolver," was the police magistrate's advice to Annie Bell, the suffragette sentinal arrested outside Holloway jail on the night of April 9 during the imprisonment of Mrs. Pankhurst.

Miss Bell, who had been found in possession of a revolver, with which she said, "If it were not for the fact that I would have shot him," was sentenced today to three weeks' imprisonment. She refused to be bound over to keep the peace for a year, and told the magistrate, "Your advice is not of any use at all."

Praises Militants.

New York, April 22.—Praise of the militant suffragettes in England and predictions of serious trouble in America if women do not get the ballot were Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's farewell theme as she prepared today to sail tonight for Europe as a delegate from this country to the International Women's Suffrage convention in Budapest, opening June 15.

Mrs. Belmont said she approved of everything the English "wild women" have done, and that if woman suffrage is not effected in New York in 1915 militant methods may prevail here.

"The English women will get the vote now before we do, and that will be a disgrace," she said. "People here do not know it, but Mrs. Pankhurst was told by Arthur B. Hour and other big men that militant methods must be used if the women would win. Men never won their freedom without shedding blood, and the women will not get theirs without fighting."

Health and Good Roads City's Needs

Engineer Chipman Refers to Conditions Prevailing in London Now.

"STORM SEWERS FIRST"

A significant passage in the Chipman report on storm sewers is as follows:

"The necessity for the prompt removal of the rainfall from the city streets must be apparent to every citizen. The paving of streets and improvement of roadways are delayed, building operations impeded, and vehicular traffic at times practically impossible, due to the non-removal of rainfall.

Menace to Health.

"In addition to the inconvenience and loss sustained by the residents of the city streets not properly drained, there is the menace to public health. This latter danger is increased, where to relieve the surface flooding, connections have been made into the sanitary sewers, the sewage then being flooded back into cellars and basements by storm water.

Half Without Storm Sewers.

"The central business section of the city is now served by a system of combined sewers, constructed prior to 1892. From time to time since 1892 a few drains have been laid for the removal of cellar water and street water, without regard to any system. Fully half of the city is unprovided with storm sewers."

Sewers Before Roads.

"In 1892, when the population was 32,000, the need of storm sewers in the outlying sections of the city was not present. Today, with a population of 49,000, there are demands for pavements and improved roadways, in the sections that were considered as suburban twenty years ago, and which demands are being met by the council in advance of the construction of storm sewers."
