Billings Also Much Better-Expect Attendance Records To Go.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Sept. 11.-Announcenent was made here this afternoon by Mayor C. E. Raven that Wednesday afternoon would be proclaimed by him as a half holiday in order that everyone interested in baseball would be able to attend the big Gait-St. Thomas senior O. B. A. A. fixture at Pinafore Park. He declared that in making the proclamation he felt that he was acting according to the general feeling of the entire community, who hoped to see St. Thomas stage a come-back against the Ter-riers and make a third game necessary on neutral territory in order to determine the team to meet the win-ners of the Port Dalhousie-Hamilton series in the semi-finals for the championship of Ontario.

The forecast here is that the big-sest crowd in the history of baseball in St. Thomas will invade Pinafore Park. The Galt fans and team are coming by a special train and have reserved a block of seats in the local Leafs Take First—Second lon and surrounding cities and towns have reserved seats. Secretary W. Dake announced this afternoon that the entire grandstand was sold out and that no person without a ticket would be permitted to sit in the grandstand. Alerts leave on the 12:20 C. N. R. train today for Brantford, where they will meet Guelph Outfitters in a sudden-death game to decide the series. On Saturday's showing, Alerts should have no real difficulty in disposing of the Outfitters, even on grange land. The surroundings should be somewhat unfamiliar to Guelph, top, so that point evens out satisfactorily.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Marys, Sept. 11.—Rumors of all binds and descriptions have been going the rounds in the Stone Town in connection with last Saturday's semi-final O. A. L. A. intermediate lacrosse match between Hamilton and St. Marys, held in Hamilton, when the local Alerts were defeated 13 to 2. Some have it that the locals have defaulted; others that they are protesting the game, while still some others claim the team will not be physically able to put in a team tomorrow (Wednesday).

To settle all doubts, according to an official of the St. Marys Lacrosse Association today at noon, there has as yet at least been no protest forwarded to the O. A. L. A. headquarters at Toronto. The second of the home and home games will be played on Wednesday, and in spite of the eleven-goal lead, the locals under Captain "Billy" Lavelle have by no means lost all hope.

They are going to play lacrosse for the full sixty minutes, and have hopes of overcoming the heavy odds against them. In spite of reports to the contrary, the team is in fairly good condition, although it is doubtful if Lou Lavelle will be able to play on account of injuries received in Hamilton last Saturday. One of his ankles is badly swollen. Whatever the outcome of the round, the game on Wednesday will be a real lacrosse battle.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

ST. MARYS TACKLE Down the Line In All Sports DEMPSEY WINDS on in Hamilton this season. After years of trying to put the game over, familton has at last warmed up, and thousands instead of hundreds line the field. Mike Collins, who coached London and nearly put the national pastime on its feet here, started the climb of lacrosse in Hamilton, and some of the present success must be ascribed to Mike's pioneering. Today Hamilton meets St. Marys in the Stone Town with an 11-goal lead to start with. This 11-goal lead was a distinct surprise to Lavelle's Alerts, who apparently thought the Hamilton game would be just a mere matter of form before Alerts, according to habit and custom, went into the intermediate finals. It was anything but a matter of form, unless it was the better form shown by Hamilton. The rarer mountain air and this victory has put a greater strain than usual on the Hamilton ballyhoo, but the heavier air on the St. Marys flats and young "Slewey" Stewart and that other nimble veteran, Billie Lavelle, and their fellow-townsmen may tone it down this afternoon.

Everything favors Dempsey on Friday-experience, cleverness, fighting spirit, mentality, everything, except that he probably has to take an even break or slightly less on the punch. At least 100,000 fight fans will gamble the price of admission on that little bit of extra punch Firpo may have.

Nicknames come in a roundabout way sometimes. Fans around the Mint League circuit probably thought that "Punch" Knoll, portly leader of the Mint League champs, got his either through his habit of punching out timely hits or possibly his slight tendency around the waistline to plumpness. "Punch" busted these natural conclusions right on the nose here last week, after a party of local fans had taken these two guesses and a lot more. Punch, it seems, was a member of a gang of small boys whose sand lot was taken over by a Negro revival meeting. Brothah Bunch was one of the most fervent of the camp meeting leaders, and after the last amens had died away Punch used to play the role of Brothah Bunch as the gang held camp meetings of their own. "Brothah Bunch" Knoll it was until through the process of 25 years of minor and major league baseball

London, Sept. 11.—Unusually keen interest prevails tonight in racing circles throughout the country over the outcome at Doncaster tomorrow afternoon of the St. Ledger stakes, the last of the five great races for three-year-olds, known as the "Classics," that feature the flat racing season in England.

There are a number of interesting circumstances that have combined to make tomorrow's St. Ledger the most interesting, from the viewpoint of the racing man, of any race of the season. In the opinion of many, the Doncaster classic is the best test for the three-year-old, as, falling as it does in September, the mares' month, the colts and fillies are more evenly matched than in the earlier races. Apart from this, however, and the honor and financial gain that accrues to the owner of the winner of this oldest of the classics, interest centers chiefly in the running of Papyrus, the winner of the Epsom Derby and the heavily-played favorite for tomorrow's canter over the town moor of Doncaster.

With his American adventure in the offing—the contract for which is expected to be signed today—there is moor of Doncaster.

With his American adventure in the offing—the contract for which is expected to be signed today—there is much speculation as to whether Bernard Irish's colt will carry the "double crown"—the Derby and St. Leger victories—across, the Atlantic. Should he do so, it will only be in accordance with family traditions—and this is another attractive feature of tomorrow's race. The last horse to win both the Derby and St. Leger was Rock Sand, a grand-father of Papyrus, in 1903.

The opinion of most racine critics tonight is almost solidly in favor of Papyrus, despite the fact that for 20 years the winners of the Derby have ben bowled over like ninepins on the town moor. Papyrus' most serious rival seems to be M. Goculdas' coit Parth, who ran third in the chief Epsom classic, and recent wagering has been mostly confined to these two coits.

Today, the opening day of the meeting at Doncaster, was favored with glorious weather, and the town moor bore the customary festive appearance. All that now remains to make Leger Day a complete success from the public's point of view is that the sun should continue to shine and the favorite win.

FIRPO SPARKLING

Associated Press Despatch.

Sarátoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 11.—
Trainéd to a state of physical perfection, Dempsey today virtually reached the end of his five-weeks' training swind for the defence of his title against Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night. The champion will wind up his conditioning tomorrow, exercising just enough to léosen up his muscles, but will not do any boxing. Dempsey finished his boxing round this afternoon with a four-round workout against a trio of sparring partners. Experts said at no stage of his training had he worked so impressively. He was lightning fast on his feet, tireless in his savage attack, and his punches were timed perfectly. He cast aside all restraint while boxing two rounds with Jack Burke, the Pittsburg light-heavy-weight, unleashing his punches with such fury that Burke, bleeding and groggy, was on the verge of collapse.

George West, British middleweight, and Alex Trambitis, middleweight, of Portland, Ore., were the champion's other sparring partners for a round aplece.

They, too, left the ring leg-weary and

They, too, left the ring leg-weary and with bleeding mouths.

Throughout the workout Dempsey breathed normally and perspired freely, indicating to hie handlers that he is as "right" as skilled training can make him. His legs are lean and thin, his broad shoulders and trim upper body do not carry an ounce of fat.

The champion's svarring partners and other camp attendants packed their bags and departed immediately after today's workout. All of them were presented with ringside tickets by the champion.
