THE EGYPTIAN AGREEMENT.

Responsibility of the Powers-The Control of the Suez Canal. LONDON, March 18 -In the commons this afternoon Mr. Childers said the convention, which was signed by the powers for a settlement of the Egyptian financial question, provided for a loan of £9 000,000, which was internationally with the English internal administration of Egyptian affairs. The normal annual axpenses of the Egyptian government are fixed by the agreement at $\frac{1}{2}6,185,000$, in-cluding $1,000,000 to defray the cost of naintaining the army of occupation. The agreement provides for the extension of axation to all foreigners in Egypt. It

A TRAGEDY OF THE TRACK.

Two Men Hacked to Death in Ireland-

DUBLIN, March 18.—On the Cork and Bandon railway to-day were found the bodies of two men who had been frightfully hacked to death with knives, and fully hacked to death with knives, and thrown across the track to be mangled beyond recognition. The victims had evidently been engaged in a terrible struggle with their assailants. The tragedy is surrounded with mystery, but the police think the men were passengers on a train and were murdered for the purpose of robbery, and their assailants having serobbery, and their assailants having secured seats in the compartment with them, and that the latter, after having been fatally stabbed, were thrown out of the car. There is no clue for the detectives to work upon.

The police have learned that four men who had been celebrating St. Patrick's day at Cork, started to walk along the Brandon railroad. They were drunk and a quarrel occurred. The men fought despensely with knives and two men were perately with knives and two men were killed. The survivors were badly cut but managed to drag the dead bodies to the railway track so that they might be run over by a train and the evidence of the fight destroyed. The two survivors have

Hon, Mr. Fraser said in introducing his resolution "concerning new egislative and departmental buildings,' that the present action of the government their part, and hoped it would commend itself to the house. The long-felt want for legislative buildings was going to be submitted to the attention of the country for them to decide through their regresentatives whether or net they were to be erected. When the matter was before the house on a previous occasion the want was acknowledged to be of such a character as to suggest their erection at once, and although some of the members had voted against that motion, it did not express their real views on the subject, as they voted against the principle involved in they voted against the principle involved in the motion. Assuming, then, that it was acknowledged there was a necessity for the buildings, and that the house was in favor of their erection, the next question was in connection with the cest of the buildings. Several years ago the house voted $500,000 for the erection of new buildings, but in receiving tenders for same it was estimated that the sum was not sufficient to erect edifices worthy of the province. It was deducted from correspondence carried on at that time, that no sum short of $750,000 would answer the purpose desired, and the government was going to ask for on at that time, that no sum short of $750,000 would answer the purpose desired, and the government was going to ask for this sum, while he could guarantee that expenditure would not be exceeded by one single dollar.

A proposition had been advanced to add a new fire proof wing to the present buildings for the use of the crown lands department. The scheme was not practical, however; the contrast between the new addition and the buildings now occupied would put the latter to ridicule, notwithstanding the annual expenditure of some $25,000 that was laid out on repairs. With regard to the site proposed, the one in the Queen's park was of the most acceptable character and could be secured without the outlay of one dollar. The province (to which it belongs) could use it for any purpose at discretion. If selected, he could guarantee the finest site in the country. The expenditure of $750,000 could be met in this way. The property at present ocupied could be disposed of at the least at $300,000. The property in connection with the legislative buildings, situated near the asylum, is valued at $150,000; thus $450,000 could be raised without a single effort. The balance, $300,000. without a single effort.
