CHILDREN'S STORY

BY MISS SYLVIA

Origin of Christmas

Many, many years ago the people did not know about God or the angels. They were very ignorant and were very sorry for them. The angels would send his son to earth to help the people. One winter night the angels were watching the stars. It was a star-light night. The angels were sitting on the ground and the sky became bright. They looked up at the sky. They saw a bright light and many beautiful things. They were afraid. The angel said "Peace on earth good will to all men." The shepherds listened and the angels went back to heaven. The shepherds saw a large bright star. It hung over a house in the sky. They walked to the village and many people and told them of the angels and the star. Some people did not believe them. The shepherds searched for the place where the star shone down upon. They found a stable. They went to the stable. A man and woman were sitting there. A pretty little baby lay in a manger. Three wise men came from the east. They knelt down before the baby. They gave some beautiful gifts to the baby's parents. The shepherds knelt down also. The baby was the man was Joseph and the woman was Mary, his mother. This was the first Christmas. God gave his son to the world, because he loved them. The wise men gave gifts to show their love for him. Your friends give you Christmas gifts to show they love you. Your friends give you love them. God commands us to love one another.

Santa Claus

Santa Claus is a jolly old man. You have ever seen him? He has a long white beard and white hair. His eyes are blue and twinkling and his cheeks are apple red. When he gets cold, his nose is red too. Santa Claus wears a red suit, a red hat, and wears fur trousers, jacket, and mittens. He lives at the North Pole, which is always cold at the North Pole. Santa Claus has a big house. It has many rooms. I think his wife keeps the house. Santa Claus and his wife have many children. I do not think they grow up very much. Many men and women live with Santa Claus. They work for him. They make drums, trumpets, balls, picture bells, skates, guns, many toys and other things. They are very nice to the little people. Santa Claus has a book. He knows all the boys and girls names and he keeps the names in the book. When a little boy or girl is born, he puts a cross by their name. In December he looks over his book and counts the crosses. Sometimes he hears the children are good again. He rubs out the ugly crosses. He gives nice things to good children. In November and December Santa Claus and his little people are very busy. They put many toys and candies, nuts, raisins and oranges into the stockings. Santa Claus has no horses. He is cold at the North Pole for horses. Santa Claus has twenty-four reindeer. Do you ever see reindeer? His reindeer are not very large. They have small antlers. They can run fast and high. He has a large sleigh. In December 24th Santa Claus and his little men put all the toys and candies into his sleigh. Then they get the twenty-four reindeer to the sleigh. Santa Claus puts on his big fur coat, cap, mittens and boots, then he climbs into his sleigh. He cracks the whip and away they all go over the snow. They ride over the hills, over the ice and through the forests. When it is dark Santa Claus drives his sleigh into town. They leap upon the tops of the houses. Santa Claus tells them to stop. He climbs out of the sleigh and takes out his big pack. He puts it on his back. Then he goes down the chimney and listens. He hears children talking, he will go away. If the children are asleep he will go down the chimney into the bed room. He walks very quietly. If they are good children he fills their stockings with nice things. If they are naughty sometimes he puts switches in the stockings.
