

In answer to the eighth question, we are pleased to find that a majority of the Divisions have admitted lady visitors.

The answer to the 9th question is unfavorable, with but very few exceptions. It is impossible to see an opening for a new Division, unless we are wholly alive to the great necessity of such valuable organizations.

In answer to the tenth question, we find in a majority of cases there are a small number of periodicals taken, but upon the whole we find them rather poorly supported; and we would beg to suggest that the members of the various Divisions be impressed with the necessity of a more liberal patronage of the Temperance periodicals of the day.

In answer to the eleventh question, we find that a Temperance lecturer is most generally called for.

In answer to the twelfth question, we are informed that Intemperance generally abounds; but this only should induce us, and all Temperance men, to more renewed and active energy in behalf of our noble cause.

In answer to the thirteenth question, we learn that a large number of Clergymen belong to the Order, and some, who do not belong to the Order, are ever ready and willing to assist the calls of humanity; but, nevertheless, it is a deplorable fact that there are a large number still standing aloof, and exerting an influence to the destruction of both body and soul of numbers, and particularly over those whom they are placed in the ministry.

In answer to the fourteenth and fifteenth questions, we learn that the Physicians are about equally divided upon the subject of Temperance; but the teachers of the youth are generally in the right place, and we suggest the propriety of every temperance man exerting all the influence he possesses against the employment of teachers in their various localities that are not total abstinence men.

Your committee feel that they have not done that justice to the subjects presented that they necessarily demand, as our limited time will not admit of a more minute investigation of the subjects at present.

All which is respectfully submitted in L. P. & F.

JOSEPH ROGERS, Chairman.
VINCENT HARRIS,
