

P. M.—Was very quiet all day, a little mild delirium. About 8 o'clock without warning became maniacal, requiring some considerable effort to restrain him from injuring himself and others. I was sent for, and had hardly reached his bedside when he seized his penis with his right hand and extended it to a far greater length than I thought it was possible for a human penis to be extended, at the same time exclaiming loudly, "you are the cause of all my trouble." Unfortunately, his wife heard this remark, and it gave me endless trouble afterwards. It was, however, the ground-work for that subsequent investigation which enabled me to establish the specific character of the disease. Forty minims of Battley was given, producing sleep in less than half an hour, which continued till 4 a.m., when he awoke and became noisy, when 40 minims of Battley were given and he fell asleep in a short time, sleeping well till 9 a.m. Blue ointment was ordered to be rubbed into each groin night and morning.

February 5th.—The history of the case during the past five days has simply been a repetition of the previous eight days, with the exception that the delirium was not quite so violent. Sleep was obtained most of the time by Battley's solution, but, having again failed, hyoscine (Merck's crystals) was again tried. It did not produce sleep, but it evidently made the patient quieter. Has steadily taken the 500 grams of iodide of potash daily. The blue ointment was discontinued to-day.

February 7th.—Patient slept well last night under a single dose of Battley. Is decidedly better; very little delirium.

February 8th.—Slept well last night after a 15m dose of Battley, and is fairly rational. Battley discontinued to-night, and to have 1-25 gr. of hyoscine.

February 9th.—Had an excellent night, and is mentally quite himself. The last few days, in spite of his general condition, power in the legs has been gaining. To day is able to lift his left leg extended straight off the bed at least six inches and right about four inches. Can draw up both legs and place sufficient force on them, with aid of
