THE HAIR.

which is admitted to be woman's " crown and glory," will now be the subject of a few paragraphs at the special request of constant reader of the "Ladies' Corner.' Without undue vanity one may, and ought to, devote care and attention to this natural adornment of woman which is spoken of as such even in Scripture. Hair should receive the care we devote to choice plants, for, after all, what is hair but a plant. Those who have studied the matter most carefully consider that the three things which injure this silky growth are "want of cleanliness, want of air and perspiration." Ist, "Want of cleanliness "-French women. Parisians in particular, who understand the subject thoroughly, dwell with emphasis, and reiterate in every treatise on the matter. the absolute necessity of keeping the scalp perfectly clean by thorough washing at feast once a fortnight. ous chemicals which form the component parts of even the most highly ex-tolled toilet soaps are injurious. The old recipe, the yolk of one or two eggs is an excellent substitute for soap and is said to cleanse as well as nourish the hair. The object of washing being merely to remove dust, dandruff, or prespiration, the head should not be kept very long in the water, as doing so removes the natural oil which sustains and beautifies the buir, and the want of it leaves it dry and unmanageable for some time. The and thing mentioned as being essential is "air," and to carry the matter still further I would add sun, provided it be not too powerful, is also exceedingly beneficial for the hair. Those who can, without taking cold, spread their their backs out in the carry size. flowing locks out in the open air-in mild weather be it understood, will find the benefit. Hundreds of men become bald simply from the habit of keeping their hats on during a great part of the day. Hats, which, though fitted with socalled ventilators, are, in reality, almost. if not quite air tight. The heat that these hard hats of close texture produce is one of the causes of premature baldness. This evil could easily baldness. ## Best Body Brussels Carpets.

Since my anouncement of best, choice, five-frame Body Brussels at special prices, salesmen have been booking large and numerous orders, measurers, cutters and fitters overrun with pre-sing demands upon their taxed energies, and the lost easemble presents an assurance of the purchasing capacity of the public when prices reach a point below the perfectly clean by thorough washing at feast once a fortnight. This should be done in a utersal sufficiently large to hold abundance of water,—an ordinary basin is much too small. The water should be tepid, or lukewarm—when rainwater can be had it is very much softer and better for the hair. No scap should be used or if any, only the very best quality, as the scent, caustic, and vari-quality, as the scent, caustic, and varitheir flock, and who will be able to direct us in dispensing advantageously whatever we can afford to give.

Mothers, also, whatever their condition in life, should have a deep interest in the poor, considering it an obligation to fulfil toward them in proportion to their means, and training their children to aid in ministering to their relief. Whatever hardship wealthy mothers may have in the performance of good work in the r own homes they have not the fear of starvation and poverty to contend with that many poor women, burdened with worthless intemperate or infirm husbands have to endue. In such homes where is the leisure for teaching the children? often too poor and thinly clad to be sent to school, and are, consequently, left to grow up unloved and uncared for in cheerless, uncomfortable homes.

Children's sympathies are easily enlisted in the interests of the poor. All that is necessary is to remind them of the many little ones, who, less fortunate than themselves, are ill-fed, ill-clad, without a ray of sunshine in their homes. and to whom a pretty picture or a toy is an unknown luxury. For these the discarded and unused toys can be brought to light, and, if broken, mended; a few of the colored prints annually received with the many monthly, weekly and daily publications that come into our homes, can be selected, as well as old story and picture books, which can be made to look almost new by fastening the loose pages, and adding a cover of bright cambric or some other light material, thus enabling the younger ones among us to aid in brightening the lives of many neglected little ones in dark and gloomy homes.

We may not have much spare time at our disposal, yet there are few among us who could not devote an hour or half hour each day to some special purpose without interfering with our daily routine. However, we would all do well to apply the leisure moments or intervals that occur during the daily hours of labor, study or occupation, to some profitable use. A moment in itself is of little account, but if we add together the odd moments of many successive days we soon acquire time in which to accomplish what, otherwise, we might consider impossible. These moments are "golden coins" with which, I trust, we all may purchase many intellectual, moral and spiritual treasures.
