

Business of the House

Mr. Douglas: Could I ask the minister this question? This would give us the figure at which these houses could be sold if the only purposes was to clear off all liabilities for C.M.H.C.

Mr. Nicholson: Yes.

Mr. Douglas: Is this figure anywhere near the price at which the houses are being sold?

Mr. Nicholson: It was $4,381,005 at the time, when there were 630 houses still to be sold.

Mr. Stenson: Mr. Chairman, would the minister consider some time in the future the matter I raised regarding taxes?

Mr. Nicholson: I will undertake to meet with the hon. member and give him the information he has requested today.

Mr. Prittie: Mr. Chairman, I would be quite satisfied if the minister would take note of the questions asked and reply to me personally or by letter.

Mr. Nicholson: I have taken note of the question and I can answer one of the questions asked now. I can assure the hon. member that if an approved lender or builder does not correct his practices he is struck off the list. The builder and the lender are treated in the same way. I will give a more complete answer to the hon. member either in writing or, if he prefers, in my office.
