

Coming to the bottom of page 17, I should like to read the second last paragraph, which is as follows:

"All the nations of "Christendom," as is well known, have violated the everlasting covenant. A modern instance is as follows: For the purposes of enlarging national territory and satisfying the ambition of a dictator, Italy prosecuted a war against Abyssinia, in which many were killed. In Spain political and ambitious men have made a rebellion against the government, causing many human creatures to be slain. Both as to the slaying in Abyssinia and as to the war in Spain, the leading religious organization on earth, to wit, the Roman Catholic Hierarchy, has not only approved, but aided and abetted such unrighteous war. The Papal system, therefore, is guilty of breaking the everlasting covenant with reference to both Abyssinia and Spain. The same rule applies concerning Germany and its assault on Austria and Czechoslovakia.

The book "Salvation" from which this has been quoted, was written before the Allied Nations entered the War; and the same theme was the subject of resolutions of various churches from 1918 to 1940, many of which were not even prepared to concede that war in any sense could be justified."

Q. September, 1939? A. I am not just sure of the date.

Q. Was there not a re-printing of the book in 1939?

A. I certainly do not know that. There may have been, because --
