Yesterday's win was, too, a real one, with no it's and but's about it. Best of all about the whole race, however, is the fact that Capt. Burton regained a large part of his reputation a yachtsman. To the lay mind it doesn't seem possible that a man who spent his lifetime on the sea and in yachts could make mistakes glaring enough n two races to undo his career, but just that had almost happened to the Brit-When the races are over details of the conferences aboard Lipton's eam yacht will be extremely interesting.

General is untried in the longer distances, except in private trials, and it these he has made the long road without any difficulty. He's not a sprinter in any sense of the word, but he apparently has the endurance, and Hamilton and tford supporters believe that in him another Longboat has been discovered.

HOME-AND-HOME GAMES TO DECIDE W. F. A.

KNOTTY LEE QUITS: TURNS IN UNIFORM

BRANTFORD, July 20.-Like a bolt from the blue came the resignation of Knotty Lee as manager of the Red Sox here this morning. and all efforts of the friends of the peppery pilot to get him to reconsider his decision were unavailing. The bolt came as a result of last night's game, in which Lee and George Orme treated the stands to a real ball players' argument on the field. O'Hearne, a new umpire, had just started to work here in front of his boss, President Maines and when he called Orme out on a close decision at the plate Brantford players surrounded Lee ordered his players back, as it looked as if the umpire was about to make wholesale ejectments. The fans started to ride Knotty for get-ting after Orme, more or less of a Red Sox hero, and the players got up the argument after they got to the dressing-room. Lee imagined this morning that his bosses were dissatisfied and promptly quit, al-though members of the management assured him his services were appreciated and his contract was good for the year. Knotty could not be placated, however, and said at noon today he was through for good, and his uniform was turned in. No decision has been arrived at as to Lee's successor. There were cheers on Sir Thomas' steam yacht Victoria when Shamrock swept first across the line today, but there was a hush when her crew worked feverishly to free a jib topsall that flow for the first for sooned of the meets. There was the smallest that has turned out for any of the meets. There was the fouled within the first few seconds of the contest. This fouling permitted Resolute to glide into the lead.

For part of the first leg Resolute kept to the fore, but when she hit a soft spot the Irish craft slipped again into first place, edging along until she was half a mile affead. To the surprise of yachting experts, a fancy little staysail rigged on the challenger served her better than Resolute's big baliconer.

Spectator craft grouped at the first turn greeted Shamrock with tooting whistles, as she rounded 600 yards in the lead. Away on the second leg they sped, with the challenger catching every catspaw and Resolute rolling in the dol-

Resolute made a brave showing at the beginning of the third leg, and, picking up at the turn, fought her way home under the guidance of Captain Charles Francis Adams, II., disputing every second. The thrills were all saved for the last twelve miles of the thirty-mile triangular sail. Both yachts had lazed along in a vagrant breeze, Shamrock steadily drawing away from her glistening white pursuer, until the challenger came within about two miles of the second mark. There she caught a freshening northwester and spurted up.

Although it looked like Shamrock are with only ten miles to slide down to the finish, Resolute had a seeming advantage of bringing up a better breeze. However, the breeze softened astern instead of freshening and although Resolute tacked to leeward under ballooner, Shamrock under spin-maker and balloon jib, sailing a straight course, gained nearly a minute in the run.
