Minister of Crown Lands Unseated Because He Personally Employed Wm. J. Robinson Reported for Committing Corrupt Act in North Grey Election.

Conservatives Ready to Proceed With Charges Aiming at the Disqualification of Mr. Davis, but Liberal Counsel Asks and is Granted a Stay.

N. market, Sept. 22.—(Staff Special.) -By the decision of Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice Teetzel this morning, North York is without a representative in the legislature, and Premier Ross is without a majority. Hon. Elihu Davis was unseated on the Robinson charge. Only two charges were investigated in the three days of the trial. The first said, while he and his learned brother had reached the same conclusion, each had done so by a different process of reasoning. This was not a case of disputed facts, and having ascertained the facts it was necessary to apply the act to find if there was an evasion of the act. True there was no correction act to find if there was an evasion of the act. True there was no corruption attached to the matter, but the question was "Is there a penalty fixed by the statute for the employment of an agent who has been reported for a corrupt act?" The facts show clearly this. If it were a question merely of agency has enough been shown to establish agency on the part of Robinson? There is evidence that he appeared in the is evidence that he appeared in the riding on Feb. 11, was found taking a riding on Feb. 11, was found taking a prominent part in looking over the voters' lists, engaged in telephone messages, arranged for meetings and distributed bills. His lordship continued:

Clearly an Agent.

"He was hand and glove with the chairman of that section, doing various kinds of activities, and at work all the time from Feb. 11 or 13 to the day of polling. He was not disturbed, but went on doing work in that conspicuous way in charge of Sutton. I think that it clearly establishes agency of a prominent character. As I understand the English cases, the personal engagement is not in writing, but where the candidate is in personal touch with the man. The candidate here unquestionably knew Robinson; was introduced to him; knew he was an active man; participated in the benefit of the la-

Davis Had Notice. The chancellor then took up the ques tion of personal knowledge of Robinson having been reported for corrupt acts. "On this evidence Mr. Davis had notice, and not only notice but personal knowledge of the facts which are the al knowledge of the facts which acts here. He knew of the controversy in North Grey, and that the one charge on which the case was decided was that of the hiring of a rig. Mr. Davis is not singular in believing that was an illegal act, but not a cortain rupt practice. Many lawyers have made that mistake. It is not proven a corrupt act, but the provision of the act is that it shall be deemed to be a corrupt act. It is not to be wondered at that Mr. Davis should make this misthat Mr. Davis should make this his-take, but the error which he made, tho freeing him from moral culpability, does not free him from legal responsi-bility. He must have known there was a judgment, and that the act Robinson

Mr. Blackstock asked leave to proceed with the personal charges against Hon. E. J. Davis. Mr. Aylesworth objected. "You can't kill a man who is already dead."

On the suggestion of Chancellor Boyd, the petitioner agreed to the remaining charges standing until the appeal is decided. The Conservatives declare the evidence sufficient to disqualify Mr. Davis.

Mr. Davis does not necessarily lose his seat in the cabinet. Both Hon John Dryden and Hon. J. M. Gibson have been unseated, but continued in the cabinet until re-elected.

While the Japanese are reported to be slowly advancing on Mukden, there has been no fighting worth of note between the opposing armies under Gen. Kuropatkin and Marquis Oyama. The latter, according to the military critics at St. Petersburg, is likely to pursue tactics quite different from those essayed by the Japanese at Liaoyang, and it is expected that the attack will come upon the Russian front and flanks rather than in the form of an enveloping movement.
