IMPORTANT CIVIL SUIT

Lengthy Litigation Finished in Moncton on Saturday—
General News.

MONCTON, May 20.—A somewhat lengthy civil suit was brought to a close in the city court Saturday. On the 7th of March last, Abram R. LeBlanc, contractor, brought suit against J. J. McDonald, to recover the sum of $70.25, balance on contract, and $300 extra. The case has been going on before Magistrate Kay, at intervals ever since. Nearly one hundred sheets of foolscap were used in taking evidence.

The defendant claimed that the work was not done according to contract, and after paying $440 of the $510, originally agreed upon, declined to pay more. The court decided in favor of the defendant, no cause of action.

At the eighth annual meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid, Wednesday, the following officers were elected for the year: Mrs. C. W. Robinson, vice-president; Miss Agnes McEwen, secretary-treasurer. The body of John Gratton, aged 74 years, was brought here today from St. John and forwarded to Buctouche for interment.

The Y. M. C. C. gave a very enjoyable whist party in their hall on Wesley street this evening. A large number was present.

GOOD SHOW TONIGHT AT THE YORK

When the curtain rings down on the initial production of The Parish Priest in York Theatre this evening the large audience will leave the building feeling that it has had a good wholesome lesson, something that has done plenty of good, as well as serving a delightful source of entertainment. The Gage Stock Co. has been making a long series of successes in this place, and it now ranks among the great rural plays of the day. Its quaint characters, its simple pure fun, its conspicuous character, the good priest, Father Whalen, are all essential parts, and are well taken by the leading members of the aggregation. In all there are over twenty people in Mr. Gage's company. This includes specially Miss Annabelle, Ethel and Bonnie, and Messrs. Henry and Shep Derah survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

YOUNG WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

PERIE, Pa., May 20.—One woman was killed and three other persons seriously injured in an automobile accident yesterday near Girard. In turning a sharp curve the machine crashed into a telegraph pole. Mrs. Julia G. Young, aged 26, wife of Albert W. Young, of Cleveland, was the dead woman. She was dashed against the telegraph pole and had her skull fractured. Her husband was badly bruised.

"THE CHRISTIAN" TONIGHT

The Kirk Brown Company closed the first week of their engagement at the Opera House, on Saturday evening, with the second production of By Right of Sword. There was a large audience present, and the play was much enjoyed. For tonight's bill The Christian will be repeated. The repertoire for the balance of the week includes: "Othello," "Sarah Bernhardt's version of Camille," "Sherlock Holmes," "Shannon of the Sixth," "Alone in London," and "Dangers of a Great City."

OBITUARY

WOODSTOCK, N. B., May 21 (Special). Adolphus Derrah died at his home here last night aged about 40 years and 9 months. The deceased was one of the best known employees on the C. P. R., having been employed on the road for many years and up to October last, when poor health caused his retirement. A widow and five children, Messrs. Annabelle, Ethel and Bonnie, and Messrs. Henry and Shep Derah survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow.
