In Paradise could bloom.

For sin could harm or sorrow fade
Death came with friendly care
These opening buds to Heaven conveyed
And bade them blossom there.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN.

IMPERIAL THEATRE HAS LATEST GOSSIP

Items That All Movie Fans Will Be Interested in Reading.

Today and Saturday May Allison the pretty blonde Metro star, will be seen in her latest success, entitled "Held in Trust," a pictorialization of George Kibbe Turner's Red Book magazine fiction. This is a most elaborate production. The kiddies are having a great scramble to find the name for the prize walking doll and the big double-runner out of the title of the new January serial "Pirate Gold." Strange to state nobody has yet hit upon either name although thousands of ballots have been cast already. The mainline tomorrow will bring about another flurry no doubt. The prizes are on view in the window.

In answer to numerous telephone enquiries let it be known that the Imperial's annual Christmas playlet and Santa Claus visitation will commence next Friday, 17th, the day school closes for the holidays. This year the little play will be greater than ever. It is entitled "The Indian Child, or Santa Claus to the Rescue." There will be 35 children in the piece with choruses, dances, a regular plot and a grand fairyland finish. Santa Claus will visit all children in the audience.

Adult patrons of the Imperial are sincerely advised that Monday's immense production "The Devil's Passkey" is one of the remarkable films of the year—one of the extremely few actual art masterpieces. It is not rough or indelicate, sinful or suggestive but point moral with trenchant effect. Eric von Stroheim, the producer, is an idealist in the cinematographic art and his new feature will have to be seen to be fully understood as to its value. For this engagement the Imperial repeats to the audience that it is a masterpiece of art and matinee for adults.

A SENSATIONAL MID-AIR CLASSIC AT OPERA HOUSE

Change C. G. M. M. Flag

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—The Canadian government merchant marine has adopted a new flag. AN "EMPTY" COMPLIMENT

IN FACT A PAIR OF EYES.

When the janitor of this hall appeared this morning to clean the floor, he found a pair of imperial coat buttons, with labels of green and gold, which he turned in to the police.

Whiskey, standing silent guard on the front door step. The odor from the street was in the air, and the truth, the whole truth, etc.

Stuck in between the bottles was a small slip of white paper on which was written in a good hand, "Best wishes to Mary Schofield." A large number of burned match ends were evidenced.

Indicated that a "party" had been in progress at some time during the night. While acknowledging the thoughtfulness of his well wishers, the man took upon the action as rather an empty compliment.

A RED CROSS EXPERIENCE.

That there is unemployment in St. John is a fact. It is a fact which is evidenced by an experience of the secretary of the provincial Red Cross recently, though if all the unemployed were in this case they deserve every assistance. The secretary had a table in the rooms of the Patriotic Association which she wished moved to the Red Cross rooms. A man was standing by and she asked him if he would mind carrying it down for her. He agreed and took the table to the rooms. While there he told her that he had been out of work since Saturday, and had a wife and young child who were in actual want. He said he had been doing his best to get work but to no avail. He remarked that the table was shaky and asked if there was a hammer and nails about. When they were produced he set to work and strengthened the legs of the table, working about an hour. When he finished he was produced to pay him for what he had done. He would not take any money from a society which had done so much for the men overseas, he having fought for two years in the Dardanelles.

THE GOVERNMENT AND IRELAND

London, Dec. 10.—In his speech today on Ireland, Lloyd George said there has been no negotiations between the government and the Sinn Fein, but that the government had been in touch with intermediaries, and this had enabled the government to reach certain conclusions.

The government, he said, was convinced that a majority of all sections in Ireland was anxious for peace and a fair settlement, and the government was equally anxious for peace and a fair settlement.

With evidence at hand that the Irish section in control of the "organization of violence, murder and outrage," was not yet ready for real peace, however, the premier said, the government felt it could not go on to continue and intensify its campaign against this "highly organized and desperate minority."
