A FATAL FIRE.

THE LELAND HOTEL AT SYRACUSE N. Y. BURNED THIS MORNING.

It is the Most Disastrous That has Visited the Place for Years—Numbers Killed by Jumping From the Windows—Heart-rending Scenes.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE GAZETTE.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. Oct. 16.—The most disastrous fire that has visited Syracuse in many years was discovered in the Leland hotel at 12.30 o'clock this morning.

An eye witness of the fire says he is positive that at least 25 persons lost their lives and many more are more or less injured. So great is the confusion and excitement that the identity of those killed and injured is wholly unknown. Many lives were lost by people, crazed with fright, who jumped from the windows.

One man says he saw seven or eight people jump from different windows on one side of the building, within the space of four minutes. The building was provided with iron fire escapes on the outside and ropes on the inside, which were the means of saving many lives.

The hotel was built two years ago. It was six stories high and contained 400 rooms. The pecuniary loss will not fall short of half a million.

The scenes and incidents of the fire were heartrendering in the extreme. One woman was being lowered from a window by a rope and had reached the 3rd story when the rope became ignited. It parted and the woman fell to the pavement. Her brains were dashed out and her body flattened into a shapeless mass.

A man and woman were seen locked in each other's arms in a window on the fifth floor. Below them was a perfect sea of flames. No possibility of escape except by window was open to them. No assistance could reach them. The woman seemed to be anxious to jump but her husband was earnestly entreating her to desist. The woman made one last effort to jump, she was restrained by her husband and both fell back into the room which was a mass of flames.

At a window on the fourth floor directly under this a woman appeared at a window. She was surrounded on all sides from the interior of the room by fierce flames. She seemed irresolute as to whether to jump to the pavement and finally sank back into the flames.

The frightful shrieks of the guests and the crackle of the flames could be heard for blocks away.

A woman appeared at a window with a baby in her arms. Her pitiful cries for help were heard until the flames gathered around her. The woman was told to throw out a rope or jump. She threw out a rope and as she was climbing out of the window the flames enveloped her and she fell back into the building and perished.

Seven or eight men and children jumped from the upper stories to a shed in the rear of the building, the victims were half naked.

One woman lay on the ground where she had falled tearing her hair from her head, her hair had caught fire and it was with difficulty that the flames were quenched.

It will be impossible to learn definitely how many were burned to death as the bodies of a number of the victims will never be found.

The proprietors of the hotel are Warren J. Leland and VanBuren Leland who are also proprietors of and interested in various other hotels in different cities throughout the United States.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 16.—The Leland hotel, which was the most modern and finest appointed in Central New York is to-day nothing but a mass of smouldering ruins. Fire discovered near the kitchen on the second floor at 12.45 this morning and inside of 15 minutes the building was in flames from end to end and before 30 minutes had elapsed the walls had fallen in with the exception of the northeast corner.

When the flames began to sweep through the hotel the night clerk set the automatic fire alarm bells ringing awaking the inmates who rushed frantically to the fire escapes and so far as now known all succeeded in escaping except four persons. Many lives were saved by the patent fire escape, a piece of webbing and rope with which every room was equipped.

Some of the scenes witnessed in the burning building were agonizing in the extreme. On the fifth floor four women appeared at a window; their screams for help were heard above the din and roar. The firemen shouted to them to stay where they were, a hook and ladder was placed in position but the overhead wires prevented them raising the ladder and the minutes seemed hours while one of the laddermen mounted the rounds and cut the wires. While the men were hoisting the ladders one of the women jumped, evidently with the hope of reaching the net which was held beneath but she struck the wires and fell to the sidewalk seven feet from the net. Her death was instantaneous.

When the ladder was put up it was too short for the women to reach so one laderman ran up the ladder standing on the topmost round heroically reached up and helped down three women.

On all sides men and women could be seen droping from the windows or sliding down the fire escapes. On one roof of the boiler house at the west side of the building at one side of the building at one time lay 6 or 7 persons injured and unconscious. They were removed to places of safety.

So far as known the dead are:—Annie Cummings, New York, 24, killed instantly; Wm. E. Harropin, Elizabeth, N. J., aged 40, died at 4 o'clock this morning; Rose Schwartz, aged 23, hotel domestic, died this morning, and an unknown woman, age about 25, began to work Tuesday as a domestic.

WILL BE NO EXTRA SESSION.

Congress Not to be Called Together Again—Cabinet Meeting Called to Consider the Subject.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—It is announced to-night as officially determined that there will be no extra session. No sooner was Mr. Harrison back in the White House this forenoon than he sent to the cabinet officers to meet him. The principal topic at the meeting was the proposed session. It is understood that Mr. Blaine declared strongly against it. The cabinet officers who advocated it did not present arguments which were sufficient to overcome Mr. Harrison's timidity and desire to avoid all responsibility not absolutely forced upon him.

Mr. Hoar's list of 43 senators who requested that a session be called was referred to, but as opposed to this was presented the suggestion that the force bill could only be passed in the Senate by ignoring the rules and declaring it adopted. This could be done at any time the majority saw fit to agree to it, and did not require any change of rules any lengthening of the session.

It was urged by Mr. Blaine that it would have a bad effect upon the congressional elections to call a special session now, when the Republican orators are on the stump boasting of the effectiveness of the new rules of the House to enable anything and everything to be done that the majority desires.

Mr. Harrison was glad to have the matter settled and off his mind, and hoped to hear no more about it.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

At 1 o'clock the Hon. Mr. Blair commenced his powerful and telling speech. The court house is packed, hundreds having to go away being unable to obtain even standing room. The city is crowded with voters from the country districts. The Attorney-General will address the electors to-night at the government committee rooms in Fisher's building.

Mr. Phinney, M. P. P. is here, some say, to speak in the interests of the opposition party.

The horses and sheep maintained their old time pre-eminence and were pronounced first rate. Messrs. Dewell, Edwards, Douglas, Murray, and Goodspeed shewed fine specimens in the horse and cattle departments. The hackney stallion Lord Bardolf exhibited by Mr. Sewell, the Wilkes colt shewn by G. W. Blair exhibited a fine Ayrshire cow and Mr. Sewell shewed some fine pure bred Jerkshire boars, F. B. Coleman a Jersey bull and A. D. Thomas a fine Jersey heifer and two milch cows.

In the roots department C. H. Harrison of Maugerville had on view some magnificent specimens of Norfolk turnips, Egyptian beets and yellow globe marigolds. Carrots were well represented by products from the Murray farm and from J. D. Camber of Berry Hill, who showed some good assorments.

One of the features of the show was the fruit display of James Camber of Berry Hill. Over thirty varieties were shewn: Fameuse, Alexander, Bishop pippin, Ben Darres, Duchesse, Nonpareil, Golden russet, and other choice specimens, arranged in a neat show case.

Miss Perley's exhibit of grapes was much admired.

In the fancy department specimens of home industries were prominent by the ladies of the town and county. The lace samples, quilts, homespun, matts, fancy knitting and Berlin samples of Misses C. Estey, R. Sloat, M. Conway and Goodspeed were very fine.

In the poultry exhibit Messrs. J. A. Edwards, A. D. Thomas and L. Goodspeed were prominent exhibitors. Mr. Edwards had on view a fine speeimen of Cochins and silver spangled Hamburgs. The show was a decided success and a great number of visitors are attending the races this afternoon.

The torchlight procession and display of fireworks will take place tonight. The races are being held this afternoon.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 16.—In the Chamber today, Sir Henry Parkes, the premier, declared the country would suffer less at the hands of an enemy than it had suffered through the present strike. He described the strikers' action as almost tantamount to revolution, but the government was determined to be supreme.

Sir Alfred Stephenson is trying to arrange a conference between the strikers and employers. At the Coalcliffe mines non-union men are at work under police protection.
