MORNING'S NEWS. TAKE NO BRIBES.

The death occurred on Saturday of Margaret A., wife of John Jenkins. Deceased had suffered for about eight years with an internal complaint. She was taken to the hospital on Tuesday last and on Thursday an operation was performed, which proved unsuccessful. Her wish to die at her home, Long Wharf, was fulfilled, and on Saturday she was removed from the institution. About fifteen minutes after being taken into the house she expired. Mrs. Jenkins was a woman of deeply religious character and bore her illness with Christian resignation. Besides her husband, she had numerous relatives and friends, who will truly mourn her demise. Deceased was a daughter of Margaret and the late Archibald Worden.

If God is the real ruler of all nations the first principle of practical wisdom is to find out His will. Citizenship thus becomes a duty, not a franchise.

2nd.—This practical atheism in polithis is exhibited also in the violence and virulence of partisanship.

Rev. Father Raynor animadverted upon the the fact of voters selling outright their votes for a three or a five dollar bill; of men standing on street corners seeking to buy such votes. The buyer had no right to sell or the purchaser to pay for such an article. Both were wrong from a moral point of view. Each was as guilty as the other. The voter was selling something that did not belong to him and the politician was defrauding the state.

The reverend gentleman concluding exorted his hearers to do the best they could under such circumstances; to be true men and steadfast in using that right which was theirs.

There is a saying that in Gloucester they run a crape factory for their own needs, and though this is an exaggeration the annual total of fatalities is an eloquent proof of the risks that are run. As these winter herringers make for home they run the chance of being sunk by the storns or of being driven ashore on the Nova Scotia coast by the northeast gales. Sable island brings up many of them. If there is a weak rope, a worn sail, or a rotten spar in a vessel, it is certain to be found out on this voyage, and an accident often brings fatal results in its train. THE NOMINATIONS.

When matters quieted down a little a gentieman advanced to the front and asked Mr. McKecown what it was he said or did to a certain conductor. There was another outbreak and when Mr. McKecown could make himself, heard he replied that if the gentleman meant the late David McGuarrie. the story referred to was untrue. A certain gentleman had asked him about it shortly meant to election and the made an appointment of the story was the story was until the came of the story was until the came of the story was until the came of the story was untrue. That gentleman fad he made of the story was untrue. That gentleman said Mr. McKecown and Mr. McKecown and Mr. McKecown and Mr. McKecown with a wave of his arm, wits there, pointing to Col. J. R. Armstrong. (Cheers and yells.)

Col. Armstrong walked to the front of the stage and emphatically denied that he went to see McGuarrie or had any conversation with him on the subject.

QUEENS CO.

GAGETOWN, Feb. 22.—Hon, L. P. Farris and J. W. Carpenter, government, and Harry Woods and A. Camp, opposition, were nominated today. In the absence of John R. Dunn, who had been out campaigning and was detained by bad roads, L. P. D. Tilley prepared and filed the nomination papers. Mr. Tilley with Harry Woods and H. B. Hetherington addressed a meeting Friday night at the Narrows, and they all drove over to the nomination in the morning. An understanding was reached between the parties that no technical question would be raised in regard to the nomination proceedings, and though a point was raised by the government agent, who claimed that Mr. Tilley did not complete the payment of the deposit of one of the candidates until an instant after twelve o'clock, the objection was dropped by consent in accord with this understanding. The sheriff thereupon gave his receipt for the money and declared the four candidates duly nominated. This matter having been settled in a satisfactory manner, the candidates addressed the electors present, Mr. Farris delivering the first speech, Messrs. Woods, Carpenter and Camp followed.

FREDERICTON, Feb. 22.—Nomination proceedings here were decisively in favor of the opposition cause and candidates. The government candidates showed the white feather in a manner never before exhibited at the nomination proceedings of the party. Not only did they refuse to meet the opposition candidates in debate before the electors, but they entirely ignored the sheriff's court and made no appearance at the Court House where the nomination took place. When Sheriff Sterling at two o'clock declared that Whitehead, Campbell, Allen and Burden for the government, and McLeod, Pinder, Robison and Young for the opposition had been nominated, and that the poll was demanded, the Court House was crowded with electors expecting to hear the Issues of the campaign discussed by the candidates. None of the government nominees were present, and the word was passed around that they would address their friends in the committee rooms, which will accommodate, when crowded, about one hundred persons. The audience at the Court House remained to hear the opposition candidates speak, and but soldom has such an enthusiastic political gathering been assembled in Fredericton.

Miles E. Agar was the first speaker. He dealt with the fallacy of the attempt on the part of the government to make the issue one between liberals and conservatives, which it was not. He also dealt with the Fort kent dam and presented that matter with great clearness, evoking frequent applause. His discussion of the general policy of the government was searching, and won him the enthusiastic support of the meeting.

F. M. Anderson dealth with the Muskoka deal; the lumber industry and its treatment by the present government; the board of works management, and particularly the acts of the board in relation to the roads and bridges throughout St. John county. The agricultural policy was also well handled, as well as the question of the wasteful expenditures for salaries and fees to members of the government.

J. B. M. Baxter spoke of the attack which the government candidates made upon the labor question, and dealt with their attitude towards the employers' compensation act. He also referred to Hon. Mr. Dunn retaining a swamp vote in his constituency.

The meeting, which was pronounced by all hands to be the best political gathering ever held in Milford, came to a close with cheers for the candidates.
