Plenty of Weapons

"For the time being very large bodies of lawless elements in the city possess deadly weapons and plenty of ammunition; for the first time the whole city is involved, and not merely a restricted area, where the factious lives; for the first time the principal victims have been law-abiding people, who have been shot down, not for political or sectarian reasons, but in wantonness. The lawless element over a wide area is being drawn into the conflict while those who, hitherto, have held aloof from any battles are gradually but surely coming to the conclusion that they must take up weapons. The proceedings at Derry possess every element of civil war without any interference worthy of the name from the forces which the Government is supposed to control.

"The descent of Sinn Féin, en masse, from the countryside, answered or preceded by a large movement in Ulster, either of which seems possible at any time, will immediately precipitate matters in such a way that the military forces may be regarded.

Bent On Vengeance

"Unionists are said to be pouring into the city bent on vengeance, but there is also an exodus of people from the city by road and train. It is reported that artillery has arrived."

In another despatch the Belfast correspondent of the London Times says it is stated, on good authority, that as soon as the necessary reinforcements have arrived Londonderry will be surrounded in a blockade.

A destroyer entered Lough Foyle yesterday afternoon and took up a position off the city. Newly arrived troops were welcomed enthusiastically by the population.

The hospitals in Londonderry are filled with wounded, mainly soldiers. The newspaper staffs are housed in one or two districts but many of the residents in the worst area have had to leave their homes at the mercy of the mobs and there has been some looting.

YALE CONFERS HONORS ON AMBASSADOR GEDDES

In Presenting the Honor to British Representative Fitting Tribute Was Paid by Prof. Lyon.

New Haven, Conn., June 23.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, has received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at commencement exercises of Yale University today. The French Ambassador, M. Jusserand, and General Pershing were also among those who received honorary degrees.

The presenter of the degrees was Professor Wm. Lyon Phelps. In presenting the degree to Ambassador Geddes, the Professor said, after mention of his career:

"The most essential factor in establishing the future Peace of the world is absolute harmony and sincere friendship between Great Britain and the United States. All who speak the English language, in every corner of the earth, are members of one family; nothing should interfere in this union. Today Yale honours herself in adding to her list of honorary graduates a friend, a neighbor—yes in spirit and in blood, a brother."

One Great Essential To A Woman's Health Is Her Nerves.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long. Instead of sick and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is that they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. Is it any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flashes, faint and dizzy spells, swooning and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired-out, weary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N. S., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from nerve trouble. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor, I could not walk across the floor without trembling, I had hot flashes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

PARTY LEADERS CONFLICT OVER THE INDEMNITY

The leader of the Opposition, said Sir Robert, had not yet given to the House his views on increased indemnity. The Prime Minister, however, proposed to do so. Representations had been made to him by members of the House comparing indemnities paid to members in the United States, Australia and in the provinces of Canada.

He was aware, said Sir Robert, that conditions had changed materially since 1905 when the last increase was put through. Summed up, Sir Robert said, he was not averse to having his views known, and they were as follows:

First—He thought, in justice to a large majority of the members of this House, the indemnity ought to be increased and that it was too low at the present time.

On the other hand there was in his mind, and he commended it to honorable members on both sides of the House, a grave and serious doubt whether it would be in the public interest, whether it would be in the interest of parliamentary institutions or whether it would be in the interest of members themselves, to press for such increased indemnity at the present time.

Replying to Mr. Burnham, who asked if that principle should not apply to all wage earners, Sir Robert said they must consider themselves in a different position to other wage earners because they were charged with the care of the public purse.

Increases mentioned to him had been to $4,000 and $5,000. Several deputations from portions of the civil service had been to him with urgent appeals on the hardships they would have to suffer under present rates of pay.

As the Prime Minister clearly intimated that the Government has no intention of bringing in a bill or other wise providing money for increased indemnities, it would seem that the matter is closed for the present session.

Hon. W. S. Fielding thought a logical case had been made out for an increase, but it should be made to apply not to the present Parliament. Cries of "No, no," from both sides of the House greeted this, and Mr. Fielding pointed out that the public was unreasonably sensitive on the matter. He next suggested that an additional $500 be given for the present session and the annual indemnity be raised to $1,000, but not made effective until summer heat, Government officials are worrying about coal prospects for next winter, declaring that there is certain to be a shortage with the price ranging as high as 350 francs a ton for the cheapest grades of bituminous, which is largely coal dust. This figure is more than ten times the price before the war.

An effort has been made to increase importations from England and the United States, but these have been met with the assurance that the limit has been reached, due to the unexpected demands of Italy, Belgium and Germany, while mine supplies are being reserved for the Russians if the Allies decide to reopen commerce.

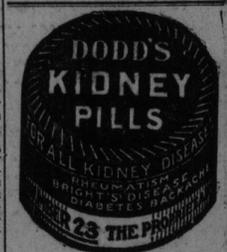

Even the warning that coal ration cards may again be necessary fails to thrill the straw hatted Parisians. They merely smile optimistically and point to the gradual reduction of the high cost of living, hoping that December will be as mild as last year.

C. M. A. HAVING NO TRUCK WITH SOVIETS

Issue Denial to Reports That They Were Entering Into Trade Negotiations With Soviet Russia.

Montreal, June 23.—R. W. Gould, Secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here, stated this morning that he had been given authority to say that the Association had absolutely no knowledge of any of its members having accepted contracts nor entered into negotiations with any representatives of the Soviet Government for the export or delivery of Canadian manufactured products of any kind to the Soviet Government of Russia.

A painful mistake is reported from North London. It appears that a young lady who went to a fancy dress ball as "The Silent Wife," was awarded the first prize for her clever impersonation of a telephone girl.

Closing of The
St. John Art School

Admirable Exhibition Yesterday—Prizes Awarded Members of Senior and Junior Classes—Admiration and Favorable Comment.

The closing of the St. John Art School for the summer months took place yesterday when prizes were awarded members of both the Senior and Junior classes for their work during the year. The exhibition was given under the auspices of the St. John Art Club and elicited much admiration and favorable comment.

It was opened to the public at three in the afternoon and closed at ten in the evening. Over 100 examples of work in oils, water colors, and charcoal were on view, consisting of portraits, landscapes and studies from still life.

Of particular interest were several sketches of scenes along the river, and in the city, and also portraits in oils of C. H. Flowering and John Rogerson.

The senior class work was judged by M. V. Paddock, director of the school, and Mrs. Elias Alward, and the prizes were awarded as follows:

Water Colors—Helen Ryan, "Girl's Head";
Oils—Helen Ryan, "Girl in Pink";
The landscape prize was awarded Miss Julia Crawford for interesting series of landscapes.

The advanced class was instructed by Miss Alice Hagerty who also had charge of the "Friday Night" class. The prizes awarded the Junior Class were as follows:

Tinted Charcoal Drawings—Gretchen Skinner, "Pitcher and Apples";
Charcoal Drawing—Est. Gladys May, "Pitcher and Apples"; 2nd, Lillian Clarke, "Dish with Orange and Grapes"; 3rd, Alan Price, "Pitcher and Apples"; 4th, Viola McArthur, "Jar and Apples."

A special prize was awarded Lillian Patterson's "Bowl, Candlestick and Book."

Honorable mention was given two water colors, "Jar and Rose," Doris Harbour, and "The Birches," Edith Mitchell. The Junior Class was instructed by Miss Elisabeth R. Hoff.

An interesting feature of the display was the poster exhibit, the S. P. C. A. having offered four prizes.

The first prize in the senior class, $5, was won by Miss T. Crawford. The title of the picture was "Anytime-Anytime," and depicted a disappearing in the distance an auto, which had run over a dog on a country road and the timely arrival of a Good Samaritan, in the person of a tourist.

In the junior class, the first prize $3, was given to Miss S. P. Roberts for her picture of "Treat Us Kindly." It represented two rabbits, in black and white, facing each other. The work was done singly and bravely in a posturesque manner.
