

1865.

May.

31 DAYS.

CHRONOLOGICAL EVENTS.

|       |  | Sunrises rsets s | Moonrises rsets s |
|-------|--|--------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1 M   | International Exhibition opened, 1862.       | 7 21 s                   | 0 18 M. S                 |
| 2 Tu  | Moon's First Quarter, 4.4 p.m.               | 4 32 r                   | 0 52 "                    |
| 3 W   | First Sir Robert Peel died, 1830.            | 7 24 s                   | 1 21 "                    |
| 4 Th  | Clocks first introduced, 1368.               | 4 28 r                   | 1 46 "                    |
| 5 F   | Bonaparte died, 1821.                        | 7 27 s                   | 2 10 "                    |
| 6 S   | Battle of Prague, 1757.                      | 4 25 r                   | 2 32 "                    |
| 7 S   | 3rd Sunday after Easter.                     | 7 31 s                   | 2 54 "                    |
| 8 M   | Charles II. proclaimed, 1660.                | 4 21 r                   | 3 15 "                    |
| 9 Tu  | Schiller died, 1805.                         | 7 34 s                   | 3 41 "                    |
| 10 W  | Mutiny at Meerut, 1857. Full Moon 8.23 p.m.  | 4 18 r                   | 7 23 A. R                 |
| 11 Th | Easter Term ends.                            | 7 37 s                   | 8 24 "                    |
| 12 F  | Massacre of Europeans at Delhi, 1857.        | 4 15 r                   | 9 22 "                    |
| 13 S  | Mars sets 0.33 a.m.                          | 7 40 s                   | 10 14 "                   |
| 14 S  | 4th Sunday after Easter.                     | 4 12 r                   | 11 0 "                    |
| 15 M  | Vaccination first applied, 1796.             | 7 43 s                   | 11 40 "                   |
| 16 Tu | First Paris Exhibition opened, 1855.         | 4 9 r                    | Morn.                     |
| 17 W  | London & Southampton Railway opened, 1838.   | 7 46 s                   | 0 15 M. R                 |
| 18 Th | Moon's Last Quarter, 6.39 a.m.               | 4 6 r                    | 0 44 "                    |
| 19 F  | Crimean medals distributed, 1855.            | 7 49 s                   | 1 12 "                    |
| 20 S  | Death of Columbus, 1506.                     | 4 3 r                    | 1 40 "                    |
| 21 S  | Rogation Sunday.                             | 7 52 s                   | 2 7 "                     |
| 22 M  | Cambridge Easter Term divides.               | 4 1 r                    | 2 37 "                    |
| 23 Tu | Sir John Franklin sailed, 1845.              | 7 54 s                   | 3 12 "                    |
| 24 W  | Queen Victoria b. 1819. New Moon, 10.49 p.m. | 3 58 r                   | 7 24 A. S                 |
| 25 Th | Ascension Day. Holy Thursday.                | 7 57 s                   | 8 29 "                    |
| 26 F  | Napoleon I. crowned King of Italy, 1805.     | 3 56 r                   | 9 25 "                    |
| 27 S  | Calvin died, 1509.                           | 7 59 s                   | 10 13 "                   |
| 28 S  | Sunday after Ascension.                      | 3 54 r                   | 10 52 "                   |
| 29 M  | Charles II. entered London, 1660.            | 8 2 s                    | 11 22 "                   |
| 30 Tu | Alexander Pope died, 1744.                   | 3 52 r                   | 11 49 "                   |
| 31 W  | Mutiny at Lucknow, 1857.                     | 8 4 s                    | Morn.                     |

NOTES OF THE MONTH.

The turf begins to look up—the greener the better for knowing ones. This custom is supposed to have originated in a "race for a dinner," cupe, plates and stakes being the object in view. Tetotallers oppose "Malt for Cattle Bill."

Rome refused a spirit licence by the Pope; Rome being already well supplied, and opposition not allowed.

The extreme delicacy of President Lincoln as shown by the omission in his advertisement of "No Irish need apply." Confederate back-bone not yet broken.

Fare for the driver,
but not fair for the horse.

When is a woman not a woman? When she is a Ruler.