

" There is a river the streams whereof shall make glad the City of God, the holy place of the Tabernacle of the most High."

" Yes, God shall help us and that right early."

SERVICE: The man of ambition and sympathy starts out in Life with the Ambition that he is going to do his share in helping the needs of his fellow-men. With enthusiasm he puts his whole soul into this venture. It may be in the Community where he lives; in the Church or State. He does his best to lend a helping hand to those in need; only to find that after years of honest effort he meets with ingratitude, suspicion and opposition. Often those he helped the most are hardest in their scorn.

How often Christ warned his disciples against these dangers; sufferings, disappointments, scorn, opposition. All these he said they would have to meet. And that they might be able to bear it all, what did He say? "HAVE FAITH IN GOD."

By Faith in God they need not be afraid, depressed or in despair. By Faith they would have a strength by which they could attain and overcome.

Did anyone meet scorn, derision, opposition, ingratitude, - even unto death as Christ Himself - but He overcame and was victorious over the Grave. And that by Faith in God his Father.

When the world builds its memorials to the Great, it is to the Men of Faith who in the midst of Great
