Solid Praise for British.

Mr. Hamilton Holt, editor of "The In dependent," one of the strong and healthy weekly magazines of the U.S., was in England during the fateful days and weeks following the 21st of March ast when the German armies on the Western Front were carrying all before them, and he is now publishing his im-pression of that time. Last week he had an article entitled "When England was at Bay," the concluding paragraph of which is a fine tribute to the British people, which Mr. Holt, like many Americans refer to as "The English."

This is what he says: And may I say right here to the eternal honor of Bng land that during the entire time I was in Europe I never heard a single Englishman criticize the French army or the American army or any other army except his own; I am sorry that I cannot say the same of the American officers or the French officers whom I met. I may further say that during this most critical period in the entire war, when any day the news might have come that the Bnglish retreat had turned into a rout, I never heard a single whimper from a single Englishman. The papers were not telling the public the worst and the nation knew that things were being held back. But there they stood with their backs to the wall ready to do cr to die. It was glorious to see such universal fortitude in the face of such dire calami What a contrast to the whining and ty. What a contrast to the winning the fearsome scurrying to cover of the Germans when the Allies began to get them on the run. Old England does not advertise her virtues, but when the crisis comes she is always there.

Bowen's Blunder.

Bowen awoke with a start. It was his vife's birthday and he had neglected to bring her a present the night before He desided to resort to strategy. Hur rying downstairs, he placed a large plate on the hall table and let the dog in the house. When Mrs. Bowen came down he met her smilingly and with much courtesy sald: "My dear, this being your birthday, I brought home a beautiful cake for you." With happy anticipation, she followed just in time to see him kick the dog and stare in apparen astonishment at the empty plate. "The brute!" he cried savagely, "He's eaten your cake!" "How could he?" the wife asked, in surprise. "See, he still has his muzzle onl"

Child Burned to Death.

er of the townline Bentinek and Sullivan, received a telephone message on Sunday that his grandson, Gar- Wilfred Niesen vin Ewart Becker, the four-year-old son Robert Kuntz of Herman Becker who died of wounds in France on Sept. 1, had died as the re. Antonette Kunkel sult of his night clothes catching fire from a coal stove. The little fellow came downstairs early in the morning and it is supposed that he had ignited his night clothes from trying to burn paper in the coal fire. His screams brought in a neighbor woman who threw a mat around the child and put the fire out, but the little chap was so badly burned that he lived only two hours. The mother was upstairs when the accident occurred.—Chesley Enterprise.

Examinations Deferred.

Owing to loss of time by the flu students who are preparing for departmental examinations will be given a couple of weeks longer to prepare next summer before trying the papers set by the Edu-

This will bring the examinations into July where they had been for years until there was a particularly hot spell early in July a few years ago and somebody who got too hot under the collar got the ea of Dr; Pyne, who was always easily im preshed by fadists, and he put the date of examinations about the middle of June thus cutting off about two weeks of pub lic teaching in combined high and public schools such as Chesley, for the presid ing examiner would not allow school to be carried on while students were writing on examinations for certificates.

Dr. Cody, the new man at the Educa tional helm, has put the exams. back where they formerly were, and after the flu has gone to limbo the date will likely remain in July, for we have just as ho waves in June as in July. In fact for several years there has not been over two weeks all summer that have been uncomfortably hot.

Toronto is said to have more than its share of hard coal for this season of the year, and supplies are being held up at the border by the United States Government authorities. Fuel dealers in Toronto will not admit that there is more coal there now than should be, but state that a great deal of coal has been consigned to Toronto for re-shipment, and that the probabilities are that the notice of reshipment has not been forwarded to the proper authorities. Some claim that the railways are really the cause of the restrictions on the import of coal in to Canada. In many places these restrictions are said to be virtually borgo. Welland is said to be
