OCTOBER 7

AMUSEMENTS

D 3 Nights and Sat'y Matinee Sat'y Matinee RS., FRI. and SAT. OCT. 8 - 9 - 10 Attraction De Luxe XTY YEARS A OUEEN" e and Reign of Our Late ved Queen Victoria

-In-Wondrous Parts and 9 Marvellous Scenes ES-Evening 25c. Saturday Mat., 15c, 25c.

Monday OCT. 12 MARIE TEMPEST Supported by GRAHAM BROWNE er all-British company, di-rom the Play House, Lon-VRY ARTHUR JONES' COMEDY

ARY GOES FIRST " Playing Royal Alexandra Toronto. Lower Floor-5 rows $2, $1.50, 8 rows $1, balance alcony-$1 and 75c. Gal-25c and 50c. Mail orders Seat Sale Friday.

00000000 ANT THEATRE

USICAL LUCIERS-4 Rlending of Melodious Melody LLIAMS & FORD efined Entertainers

THE HURLEYS medy Conversational

Acrobats isode The Million Dollar Mystery

first authentic pictures of Canadian Troops at Valcar-The Duke of Connaught ing 25,000 of our boys preto embarking for the front.

 VISIT AINT OLD QUEBEC

BRANTFORD DAILY COURIER LAST EDITION

FORTY-FOURTH YEAR

Hard Fighting Between the Cavalry Continues and the North Sea is Reached---Antwerp Has Suffered Serious Damage.

[By Special Wire to The Courier]

LONDON, Oct. 9 .- (2 p.m.) - The military fortunes of General Von Kluck and his one-armed adversary commanding the Allies' cavalry are being rapidly made or marred within sight of the North Sea, which sets a limit to the outflanking movements, the accomplishment of which for so long has been the supreme goal of the rival generals.

The storm centre gradually has extended northward. The battle of Aisne already has been merged into the battle of the Somme and the battle of the Lys, and if the long left tentacle of the Allies continues to stretch out in its present direction the finale of the titanic struggle may be fought out on the banks of the Scheldt, and may decide the fate of the beleaguered fortress of Antwerp, now a prey to German howitzers and air craft.

Whether or not the garrison of Antwerp will be able to stand its ground until the fate of the attempt to relieve the fortress is decided, it is impossible to foretell, as the situation is liable to change vitally with each round of the German 16-inch siege guns.

While some pictures of the bombardment of Antwerp may have been overdrawn, it is nevertheless fully confirmed that the damage done by the incendiary shells and bombs showering upon the citadel from the German howitzers and air craft is extensive.

The aerial raid on Dusseldorf, presumably by British airmen, is confirmed by the German official communique, which admits that the cover of an airship in the hangar was demolished.

From the same source it is admitted that the Russian army invading East Prussia is again back at Lyck, the scene of one of the eacher Mascovite successes rne report that the youthful Grand Duchess of Luxemburg is a prisoner of the Germans is reiterated to-day, though official confirmation is lacking.

BRANTFORD, CANADA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1914

ONE CENT

LAST

EDITION

SCOUTING AEROPLANES ARE A GREAT AID. TO GERMAN ARMI

tle line in France which has now almost reached the North Sea, and taken in conjunction with the fighting which extends across the Belgian frontier to the northward of Lille, makes a gigantic front, sprawling like a snake half across Belgium and practically all of northeastern France.

Though separate conflicts, the siege of Antwerp and the battle of the Aisne are thus becoming more and more closely rleated and both the Commans and the allies are making the most desperate efforts to crush each other and smash through the ever lengthening right and left wings respectively. It is contended that the Ger-mans failed in their great effort to drive a wedge through this re-gion and the latest Paris com-munication contends that the situation is stationary, though most violent fighting continues. If Antwerp falls, it will prove the ineffectiveness of modern for-tifications against the even more modern guns, for Antwerp is the last ord in ingenious barriers.

To the east the situation on the East Prussian frontier is becoming more like what happened in France after the German invasion and retreat. Being driven from Poland the Germans are making a stubborn stand and with reina stubborn stand and with rein-forcements from Koenigsberg will doubtless give a battle, which will determine whether the Germans will again invade Rusisa in this

All reports of the surender of Przemysl appear to be premature as were various reports about the beginning of a battle at Cracow.

SCOUTS DELIVERING MESSAGES TO GERMAN AEROPLANE

In the above illustration is shown German soldiers taking messages from an aeroplane, which shows that one of the most striking changes which has arisen in tactical methods in the present struggle has been the combination between the aerial and artillery arms in the German army. The assistance which the aeroplane has given to the gunners in enabling them to find the exact range of the hostile trenches has been remarkable. By day the German monoplanes have daringly hovered over the hostile lines and have indicated to the batteries the most vulnerable positions of the hostile trenches. At night time the German aeroplanes have been fitted up with a small portable search light, by means of which the enemy's trenches have been clearly visible, whilst at the same time small bursting charges have been also dropped into the trenches. These flare up and burn for several minutes, and so help the German batteries to range at night with more or less accuracy. The officer pilots of the German Flying Corps greatly prefer the Taube monoplane to the Albatross and Euler biplanes, which they chiefly use for work with the artillery arm, as they are so much more stable and mobile. The German airmen consider themselves out of danger of bostile fire at a range of 2,000 feet, but as so many of them have been brought down in the recent fighting it is very doubtful if they are immune from fire at anything like that height.

ng Antwerp, the last

or earlier.

King Albert is vario as leading a part of army out of the city ich and having Zelssacte, a village on the frontier. Refugees from A continue to pour into I They report that the a guns already have, done werp's inner forts is said to, begun at 12.30 o'clock Thu morning. Two of these forts are reported to have been silenced and fire is said to have started in four parts of the city.

The most recent statement by the German war office stated that the Germans had crossed the flooded area along the River Nethe and continued to make pro-

The general situation west has undergone no says a French official a and Lassigny. An artille is occurring in the Woey trict. Otherwise nothing portance on the right or on the center of the allies is reported by the French.

The Paris announcement says that Montenegrin troops continue their advance on Sarayevo, the capital of Bosnia. A similar re-inspiring spectaclebilization of Canadian roops at Val Cartier here the glories of Wolfe Montcalm lend a befitting ronment to "Present Day ory in the Making." rvice nightly at 7.00 P.M. n Montreal to Quebec.

ousand Islands, Torono, and Niagara Falls delightful vacation trip.

ly service. Stops at all im-tant points en route. Low senger fares.

ar Famed Saguenay eamers from Quebec to ienay leave 8 a.m., Tuess, Wednesdays, Fridays and irdays. or particulars apply local ticoffice or address passenger artment.

CANADA S. S. LINES, LIMITED. -11 Victoria Sq., Montreal. +++++++++++++++++++++++

THE WINTER IS COMING LL AT FRED BREAR-LEY'S, 89 Murray St. And have your windows and weather-stripped before

Over 150 satisfied customers

s reported from Brussels that the are making preparations for that city.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, Oct 9—The Times' Boulogne correspondent, who has been on the scene, relates some phases of the fighting on the French left wing. The correspondent says that he went unsuspecting to Arras on September 13. The battle of Arras began October 1, and the whole region became a veirtable inferno. All around was an un-ceasing hail of shells and shrapnel, violence, destruction and death. "On the previous Thursday,

"On the previous Thursday, the correspondent continues, "the allies were battering at the gates of Cambrai. On Friday the en-emy developed a vigorous coun-ter attack from Valenciennes on Lens and from Cambrai and Bo-neume on the allies position south paume on the allies position south and east of Arras. "On Saturday the enemy great-ly reinforced, attacked with great violence all along the line. The ly reinforced attacked with great violence all along the line. The allies were compelled to fall back from Lens and Douai, fighting stubbornly the while. The en-stubbornly the while. The en-emy occupied Bethune and sent troops into Lille, firing from windows as they went. "When I left Arras the enemy's shells were bursting within three kilometers of the town. I since have heard that shells fell in the town and that three streets were

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

LONDON, Oct. 9-A despatch to the Chronicle from Rocendaal, Holland, dated Thursday evening

"Severe fighting is proceeding outside of Antwerp. I am inform ed that shrapnel struck the Aras-mus hospital in Fontaine street, breaking many windows. In Turn-hout, and its vicinity many houses have been destroyed. "It is reported here that the set on fire. The enemy did not enter Arras. They swept around it. They cut a line betwen Arras and St Pol, seeking to effect a junction with their Bethune force.

Even Hospitals

"They came into contact with strong French reinforcements and were driven back in the south. In the north they retired to La-basses, with their right wing resting on Lile. The tide of the battle has been stemmed perhaps has turned in favor of the allies. "This battle of the north developed with amazing suddenness as may be gathered from the diary of my experiences." The diary describes the begin-ning of the battle on October 1, and goes on to say: "As darkness fell the tired, blood stained soldiers began blood stained soldiers began streaming into Arras and for hours the air resounded with the din they. made. Throughout the night the boom of guns could be heard in the distance from the east and southeast.

"The next morning opened quiet in town, but the roar of guns was still heard and apparently as the day advanced the sound was coming nearer, but the citizens showed a stout heart and Germans have been compelled to retreat for a short distance. "A number of Ursuline nuns have arrived at Breda, Holland, from Londerzeel, near Malines, maker, their second the second terms of ter wehere their convent was destroyed by the German fire, although ed by the German nre, although they were nursing there, it is said, hundreds of wounded. The wounded were courageously re-scued by Belgian soldiers, who dashed through the flames to get them out.

(Continued on Page Four.)

Are Under Fire

LONDON, Oct. - - The official press bureau to-day gives an eye-

[By Special Wire to the Courier]

press bureau to-day gives an eye-witness' narrative of operations in France, supplementing that of October 3. It follows: "Wednesday, the 30th of Sep-tember, merely marked another day's progress in the gradual de-velopment of the situation, and was distinguished by no activity beyond slight attacks by the enemy. There was also artillery fire at intervals. One of our air-men succeeded in dropping nine hombs, some of which fell on the enemy's rolling stock, collected on the railway near Laone. Some of the enemy's front trenches of the enemy's front trenches were found empty at night, but nothing much can be deduct-ed from this fact, for they are frequently evacuated in this way, no doubt to prevent the men in the back lines from firing on their comrades in front of them. "Thursday, October 1st, was a most perfect Autumn day, and the most peaceful since the two forces became engaged on the Aisne. There was only desultory gun fire as targets offered. During the night the enemy made a few new trenches, and a French aviator dropped one bomb on the railway station and three bombs on the troops massed near it. "The weather on Friday, the

and, was very misty in the early hours, and it continued hazy until two in the afternoon, becoming thicker again at night. The Ger-mans were driven out of a mil, mans were driven out of a mili, which they had occupied as an ad-vanced post, their guns and ma-chine guns, which supported it, being knocked out one by one, by well directed artillery fire from a flank. During the night they made the usual two attacks on the customary spot in our lines, and as on previous occasions were re-pulsed. Two of their trenches were captured and filled in. Our were captured and filled in. Our loss was six men wounded. "Up to the 21st September, the air mileage made by our airmen since the beginning of the war amounted to 87,000 miles, an aver-age of 2,000 miles per day, the to-tal nearly equalling four times the circuit of the world. The total time super time the air was 1,000 time spent in the air was 1,400

Hours. "There are many points con-nected with the fighting methods of either side that may be of in-terest. The following description was given by a battalion com-mander who has been at the front size the commencement of hossince the commencement of hos-tilities, and has fought both in the open and behind entrench-ments. It must, however, be borne in mind, that it only represents the particular unit. It deals with the tactics of the enemy's in-

"The important points to watch are the heads of valleys and ra-are the heads of valleys and ra-vin s and woods, especially those on the sides of hollow ground, and all dead ground to the front and flank. The German officers are skitled in leading troops under cover in closed bodies, but once the latter are deployed, and their is no longer the direct personal leadership, the men will not face heavy fire. Sometimes the advance is made in a series of lines with the men well opened out at inter-vals of five or six paces; at others vals of five or six paces; at others it is made in lines with the men almost shoulder to shoulder. But it is followed in all cases by sup-ports in close formation. The lat-ter either waver when the front line is checked, or crowd on to it in moving forward under the orin moving forward under the orders of their officers, and the mass forms a magniticent target.

"'Prisoners have described the fire of our troops as pinning them to the ground, and this is certainly borne out by their actions. "'When the Germans are not heavily entrenched no great losses are incurred in advancing against them by methods in which the British army has been instructed. For instance, in one attack over fairly open ground against about an equal force of infantry sheltered in a sunken road and in dited in a sunken road and in dit-ches, we lost only ten men killed and sixty wounded, while over 400 of the enemy surrendered. After some men had been killed, each side had the support of a battery of artillery, but the fight for superiority of infantry fire took place at range of about 700 took place at range of about 700 yards, lasted only half an hour. By this, time the Germans were wavering. Some of them put up white, but others went on firing and our men continued to do the same. Eventually a large number of white flags improvised from handkerchiefs, pieces of shirts, white biscuit bags, etc. were ex-hibited all along the line and many of the men hoisted their helmets on their-rifles. "In the fighting behind en-trenchments the Germans endeavor to gain ground by making advances in line at dusk or just before dawn and then digging them. selves in, in the hope no doubt that they may eventually get so near as to be able, as during manoeuvres, to reach the hastile trenches in a single rush. They never have succeeded in doing never have succeeded in the succeeded in this against us. If by creeping t p in dead ground they do succeed in forwarding their position by night they are easily driven back by fire in the morning. A few of deavor to infilct losses by sniping.

Sharp hooters also are oft in non Are Closely Allied---Lonced in trees or wrigging about until they get good covor. Their remedy is to take the initiative don Sees Cause for and detail men to deal with the Assurance.

enemy's sharpshooters. "'Few night attacks have been made against us. Previous to one of them, a party of the enemy crept up close to the British line (By Special Wire to the Courler] LONDON, Oct. 9-So far as and set alight a hayrick, so it should form a beacon on which the center of the attacking line England knows this morning Antwerp, the latest of the be-leaguered cities of Belgium, is still holding out against the Ger-man onslaught. King Albert has withdrawn from the city toward marched. Generally, however, in these night and early morning at-tacks widely separated one from Ostend, where the administration is now fully established, but practhe other, and making every endeavor to obtain any advantage from cover. Light balls and is now fully established, but prac-tically the entire Belgian field army has remained to resist so long as possible, the fire of the great German guns, the horrible effects of which were made so plain at Liege. From the standpoint of those pations opposing Germany the searchlights on some occasions have been used. Latterly these attacks have become more and more half-hearted.

"'Against cur men the enemy never has closed with the bay ations opposing Germany the hope was that the defenders could hold out till the allies delivered some decisive blow along the batonet.

"'The German trenches I have seen were deep enough to shelter a man when firing from a standing position. As regard our own men, there was at first considerable reluctance to entrench, as always has been the case at always has been the case at the commencement of fighting. Now, however, having bought their experience dearly, their de-fences are such that they can deny the German artillery." "On the lighter side of the picture is the following anecdote which is current at the front, al-though its absolute with is not youched for. On a secent occathough its absolute truth is not vouched for. On a recent occa-sion, a British cavalry subaltern, who was cut off from his men, hid himself in the edge of a wood by a road. It was not long before by a road. It was not long before he saw an unsuspecting armed German soldier patrolling the road. He could have shot the man without warning, but felt that it would be akin to murder to kill him in cold blood. In order to instill a little of the spirit of com-bat into the affair, the subal.er u crept from his cover, ran up be-hind the "bosch" as our Fren h allies would call him, and gave him a ferocious kick. Instead of showing fight the startled and ran for dear life, leaving the sub-altern laughing too hard to altern laughing too hard to

A despatch from Athens says that German officers have placed large German guns in the forts on the Dardanelles and the Bos-

LACE CURTAINS 30 pairs (single patterns) lace curtains, 1-3 less than regular. On sale Friday at Crompton's.

for many days. The Austrian war office, in its

The Austrian war office, in its most recent communication re-ported successes against the Montenegrins and a decisive blow against the Servian invaders of Bosnia and Vishegrad. * The latest reports from the eas-tern theatre of war are that the Russians,who invaded East Prus-sia and later were defeated and driven back to the Niemen River, have again invaded East Prussia, driving the Germans back as far as Lyck. On the other hand the Germans are in force in Russian as Lyck. On the other hand the Germans are in force in Russian Pcland, having reached almost to Warsaw, while the Russian move-ment west through Galicia is meeting a stubborn resistance from German and Austrian for-ces. The Russians claim to have captured one of the forts at Prz-emysl. A similar claim was made several days ago.

OFFICIAL FRENCH NOTICE

1By Special Wire to The Conrier? PARIS, Oct. 9 .- The following official announcement was given out in Paris this afternoon:

out in Paris this afternoon: "The general situation has un-dergone no change. "On our left wing, the two op-posing bodies of cavalry are still operating to the north of Lille and of Labasse and the battle continues along the line marked by the regions of Lens, Arras, Bray-Sur-Somme, Chalons, Roye and Lassigny. "On the center of the Oise and on the Meuse, only actions of on the Meuse, only actions of minor importance have been reported.

"On our right, in the Woevre district, there has been an artil-lery contest along the entire

"In Lorraine, in the Vosges and in Alsace, there has been no

"In Bosnia, Montenegrin troops have continued their advance in the direction of Sarayevo as far as the fortified line which pro-tects the city at a distance from it of eight kilometers."

HEARTH RUGS

Special Axminster hearth rugs at Crompton's. Patriotic price of $2.65 Friday.

the braver men sometimes remain behind at close ranges and en-shoot.'

phorus.