Those who know buy DE LAVAL Cream Separators

Creamerymen—Because they are experts in the handling of cream and know by long experience that the De Laval skims cleanest and wears longest. That is why 98% of the World's creameries use the De Laval exclusively.

Experienced Dairymen—The De Laval is the universal favorite among big dairymen. They know that no other separator will give them such satisfactory service.

Old De Laval Users—Whenever a man who has used an old model De Laval decides to purchase a later style machine he invariably buys another De Laval.

Men Who Investigate—If anyone takes the time to investigate the merits of the various cream separators, either by finding out from other users what kind of service their machines have given or by testing other machines out against the De Laval, the chances are a hundred to one that his choice will be the De Laval. More De Laval machines are in use than any other make.

There is a reason. Come in and we will tell you why.

More than 1,500,000 DE LAVALS now in use.

Culture

If the crop does not come as quickly as expected, it can often be improved by rolling with the ordinary land roller. In cases where crust is forming the roller will help to pulverize it, and if the land is too loose it will pack the soil more closely around the seed and assist the germination.

A great many growers roll their fields three or four times after the crop starts to come, as rolling will never damage the beets even when two or three inches high, and almost invariably improves the condition of the soil.

It is particularly necessary to cultivate after each shower, so as to break the surface and thus conserve the moisture. This question of conserving soil moisture is a most important one for every farmer to understand. To grow the ordinary crop of root or grain requires from 18 to 22 inches of water. During the growing season the rainfall is usually about ten to twelve inches. It is necessary, therefore, to have stored in the sub-soil a large amount of water during the winter and early spring for the use of the crop in the dry months of summer. Any soil which is hard on top, particularly if it is inclined to crack will lose moisture very rapidly while in that condition. The careful farmer must keep a well cultivated mulch of three or four inches on the surface to prevent evaporation. This applies both before the crop is planted as well as during the growing months.

If a second hoeing is required this should be done about three weeks after the thinning, or when the plants are about ten to twelve inches across. This second hoeing is recommended in all cases where there are any weeds, and is practised by a great many good growers regardless of weeds, for the extra cultivation it gives to the land. The rows are ordinarily planted about twenty inches apart, and the plants left ten to twelve inches apart in the rows.

In very rich, loamy soil, where the beets are inclined to grow out to the ground, they should be left a little closer as to compel the roots to go down into the soil for room. This will not only make a heavier crop of better quality but will also eliminate a good deal of the waste in topping.

HARVESTING

It is very important to harvest the crop when it is ripe. Too many farmers believe that while the other crops should be harvested when they are ripe, that the beets can be harvested at any time. This idea is entirely wrong. From our observations we believe it to be just as important to harvest beets when they are ripe as it is to harvest a crop of wheat, oats, corn or any other of the farm crops. If not harvested they are likely to take second growth, by which they not only lose heavily in weight, but also deteriorate considerably in sugar.

In this country it usually takes about 140 days to mature the crop. The general appearance of the field should tell the experienced grower when the crop is ripe. The tops will flatten down so as to run the rain away from the roots and about one-third of the lower leaves will turn a golden brown shade. If there should be any doubt it can be determined by pulling a few beets when, if they are clear of fibres, it is a sure indication that the roots are not taking anything more from the soil and should be harvested at once. If the roots are not being delivered promptly after harvesting, they should be protected from the sun and frost by covering the piles with leaves, but every effort should be made to get them to the factory at the earliest possible moment after taking from the ground, as they will then waste up in the factory to the manufacturer.

If the reader has followed us closely he will observe that we have endeavored to impress five points, the importance of which can scarcely be over-estimated.

- (1) Thorough preparation of the soil.
- (2) Shallow planting.
- (3) Early thinning.
- (4) Frequent cultivation.
- (5) Harvesting the crop when it is ripe.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Kentville People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them

Sick kidneys give many signals of distress. The secretions are dark, contain a sediment.

Passages are frequent, scanty, painful. Backache is constant day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells are frequent. The weakened kidneys need quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, backache, and urinary disorders. Kentville evidence proves this statement.

James Foster of Gasperean, N. S. says:—"For several months I had been very much troubled with lame and sore back which inconvenienced me very much in working. The pains in my back were so severe at times that I would have to stop my work. The kidney secretions had also been highly colored and contained a heavy sediment. I had tried various remedies to relieve me but without receiving any benefit from them. I then learned of Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement and procured a box at J. D. Clark Pharmacy and found in them almost immediate relief. To-day I feel as if I had a new back as it does not trouble me in the least. The kidney secretions have also cleared and I feel better generally." Sold by Dealers. Price 50 cents. The R. T. Booth Co., Lt. Fort Erie, Ont., Sole Canadian Agents.
