HON. F. B. CARVELL SHOWS NEED OF FOREIGN CREDITS

Speaking recently in the house of Commons, Hon. F. B. Carvell showed clearly the need of Canada providing large credits in order to promote export trade. He said:

"We realize that it will be our duty for the next five or six months, or possibly a year, to do all we can to secure business for the country and we are doing that. But it is not as easy to get business on the other side of the Atlantic as we thought it would be. We thought that all we would have to do would be to go over and say: 'We have a million feet of lumber to sell; who will give us the most for it?' The trouble is not that Europe does not like to buy our lumber and the other produce that we have, but they have not got the money to pay for it. That is the real difficulty. As my hon. friend, the Minister of Finance stated yesterday, we are compelled to furnish credits; that is we have to put up money in Canada to buy the goods from our own people, then turn around and sell them to foreign countries and take our chance of getting the money back. We will get it back in time, but it means a heavy financial burden that the Government has to carry."

In buying War Savings and Thrift Stamps the people of Canada provide the Government with the funds that make possible these huge advances. Thus employment at good wages is provided for all classes, while those who invest their money in these Stamps receive a substantial interest return.

BABY CONQUERS FIT OF TEMPERAMENT
During the recent filming of her picture entitled "A Little Patriot," which plays at the Family Theatre beginning Thursday, Friday and Saturday Baby Marie Osborne, the little Pathe star was instructed by her director, William Bertram to tell her father in the story, Jack Connolly, that she wanted him to be a soldier. Mr. Connolly would then answer that he could not join the army because of himself and her mother of the picture Marion Warner. Then Marie was to answer him: But Daddy, I want you to be a soldier, a little more coaxing and when Jack again refused Marie was to break forth in tears: But Daddy I want you to be a soldier, and with this weeps bitterly.

Marie took in the instructions very solemnly, as she always does, seeming to pay no attention whatever to what Mr. Bertram was saying, but in reality not missing a word, then she looked at him a long moment, and finally said: "But I don't want to do it, with all the finality of a sovereign."

Mr. Bertram looked almost helpless for a moment, then pleadingly said: But Marie we must do it, it's in the story." Marie looked at him again. "I'm not going to do it, I say," Mr. Bertram again pleaded. Marie's lips began to quiver. "I won't do it, I won't do it, I don't want to work today," and two bright tears trickled down her cheeks. The little girl stood still for several minutes, her baby hands clenched. Then suddenly she wiped her tears away and turned to her director "All right, Mr. Bertram, I'm ready."

Even the prop boys on the set were affected and a catch came to everyone's throat, the little wonder had argued herself into the mood of the scene.

A WORKMAN'S WAGES

"Supposing I do buy a War Savings Stamp, paying $4 for it, how will that help either the country or the Government?" It is quite possible that quite a few people have asked themselves this question. The answer is: $4 will pay the wages of a skilled workman for one day and it will also give the Government for five years this money for much-needed work.

"But," it may be asked, "how may the paying of $4 for a War Savings Stamp make possible the payment of a workman's wages? Well, in this way. If the Canadian public through the purchase of War Savings Stamps, or other forms of government securities, places enough money in the hands of the Government to enable it to grant credits to France, Belgium and other war-devastated countries for Canadian supplies, Canada will get large orders both for manufactured articles and for agricultural products. If this is not done, then only a small proportion of these orders will come to Canada. The greater portion of them will go to the United States, which is prepared to grant such credits.

Only through the continuance of the huge export trade built up by Canada during the war can Canadians hope to experience anything like a continuance of that industrial activity that has been a feature of the last few years. But if this trade is maintained it will be largely through credits which the people make possible through lending their money to the Government.

"So it works out that the more money subscribed through the sale of War Savings Stamps, the more there will be placed at the disposal of the Government for credits. The more credits the more foreign orders, and

TO INVITE GRAND FLEET

Secretary Daniels Wants British at New York.

Washington, March 20. - Navy department officials yesterday said Secretary Daniels during his trip abroad probably would invite the British Government to send the Grand Fleet to New York for a visit during the coming summer. Such an invitation was extended informally by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt when he was in England just before the signing of the armistice.

FOOD FOR LAYING BIRDS

Most Economical Ration, in View of Conditions, Discussed.

Contagious Abortion Makes Necessary the Sale of Valuable Animals at a Sacrifice - The Disease, However, Will Yield to the Treatment as Explained.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

A PULLET requires more feed than a hen if it is intended that the pullet produce eggs. A bird to lay well must have a surplus of feed over and above body maintenance. This excess of feed above body maintenance goes either towards growth, fat, or egg production.

Poultry feeds are divided into two classes: one, whole or cracked grains, commonly called scratch feed, and the other, ground grains, commonly called mash.

Scratch feeds are generally fed at night and morning and are scattered in straw in order to induce the birds to scratch or take exercise. A mixture of two or more kinds of grain usually gives better results than one single grain, largely because individual birds' appetites vary from day to day. A good mixture for the winter months might contain as much as fifty per cent. good corn, either whole or cracked; if corn could not be had and the birds were accustomed to eating buckwheat, the buckwheat would answer nearly as well, or one could use twenty-five per cent. buckwheat and twenty-five per cent. corn. To the corn or buckwheat could be added twenty-five per cent. of barley, ten per cent. of wheat screenings, and fifteen per cent. of good oats. If one was obliged to do so, almost any of the grains could be fed alone with the exception of oats. There is too much hull or husk on oats to use entirely as a single feed.

At present for a mash feed we are using the standard hog feed. If the ground grains are to be fed moist or mixed with cooked household refuse then the mixture should be one that will mix to a crumbly state, but if fed dry in an open hopper the above is not so important.

The mash feed is the one where the animal meals are generally given. The amounts vary from ten to twenty per cent. of the mixture. The animal meals used are commonly high grade tankage and beef scrap. Where one has plenty of skim milk or buttermilk the other animal feeds are unnecessary. Some use green cut bone; cooked refuse meat, such as livers, lights, beef heads, etc.

A very good mash can be made of one part each by measure of shorts, barley meal, and ground oats. Corn meal could be used in the place of the barley or with it. If one is short of green feed or roots, it would be well to add one part of bran. Perhaps the simplest mash to feed from an open hopper is rolled or crushed oats. We have used this, when the birds had milk to drink, for a number of years with excellent results. Laying hens require plenty of green feed. Cabbage is one of the best green feeds. Roots are very good, but clover leaves should be within reach as well as the roots. Sprouted oats are used to a large extent on poultry farms. When the birds get accustomed to a green and succulent food it is generally wise to give them all they will eat. A pen of fifteen pullets will eat a fair-sized head of cabbage almost every day or one hundred hens will eat a peck of sprouted oats day after day.

Grain and shell should always be within easy access. -Prof. W. R. Graham, O. A. College, Guelph.

Abortion Should Not Be Neglected.

Some cases of abortion are the result of injury to the dam due to a fall, or bad feed. In such cases the dam is not likely to spread to other members of the herd. With the majority of abortion cases, however, the trouble is due to an infectious disease which is very readily spread to other members of the herd. The disease apparently is localized almost entirely to the uterus. Here an inflammation is produced which may result in the expulsion of the foetus, dead or alive, at any period of gestation. In most cases of infectious abortion, however, the foetus is expelled dead. A frequent complication of such a case is the retention of the foetal membranes by the dam. If these are not removed after a few hours, death from blood poisoning is almost sure to occur.

The bacilli which cause the disease are present in large numbers in the fluids, foetal membranes and foetus. Consequently, every care is necessary to prevent these from contaminating anything with which other stock is likely to come in contact, either directly or indirectly. All should be gathered up carefully and burned or else buried deeply in quick lime. Then the hands and clothes of those in attendance should be thoroughly washed with a disinfectant, and a strong disinfectant used freely all around the stall, particularly on the floor.

The dam should be kept in a stall by herself, as there will be a daily discharge from the vulva which may last for weeks. Disinfectants should be freely used in the stalls, and the external genitalia, thighs, tail and back of udder should be washed daily with a satisfactory disinfectant solution. For this purpose a two-per cent. solution of lysol is strongly recommended. Strict attention should be paid by the attendant to the thorough disinfection of his hands or other parts of his person or clothes after handling the patient.

The dam should not be bred again until some weeks after all discharge from the vulva has stopped. -Prof. D. H. Jones, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

DR. ARTHUR B. COBB
Dentistry.

AS A LAST RESORT ONLY do we use plates in our Dentistry.

In nine cases out of ten where plates have been used our Crown and Bridge Work Specialists could have accomplished the work without the necessity of a plate.

Just as bridge engineers build great spans across seemingly impossible chasms, demanding only TWO SECURE POINTS for their foundations, so do our bridge work Specialists set in place rows of pearly, natural teeth that do everything as well as natural teeth could. These Dental operations are nothing short of marvelous. They bespeak the skill for which this Office is noted.

AND it is gratifying to know that this skilled Dental service can be yours at extremely reasonable cost. As an example - $35 for a crown of excellent quality and Bridge work at same rate.

The courtesy of an interview and a thorough examination are offered entirely without charge.
