SLIPPING AWAY.

They are slipping away - these sweet, swift Like a leaf on the current cast; With never a break in the rapid flow, We watch them as one by one they go

Into the beautiful past. As silent and swift as a weaver's thread, Or an arrow's flying gleam; As soft as the languorous breezes hid,

That lift the willow's long golden lid, And ripple the glassy stream. As light as the breath of the thistle down, As fond as a lover's dream, As pure as the flush in the sea shell's throat,

So tender and sweet they seem. One after another we see them pass Down the dim-lighted stair; We hear their sound of their tread In the steps of the centuries long since dead,

As sweet as the wood-bird's wooing note,

As beautiful and as fair. There are only a few years left to love; Shall we waste them in idle strife? Shall we trample under our ruthless feet Those beautiful blossoms, rare and sweet, By the dusty ways of life?

There are only a few swift years - ah, let No envious taunts be heard: Make life's fair pattern of rare design, And fill up the measure with love's sweet

But never an angry word.
