Auction Sales.

OTTAGE FOR SALE AT AUCTION.

Mr. J. C. Currie will offer for sale on Saturday, April 16th, at 12 o'clock, a good cottage, with large garden attached, situated on St. George's street, opposite the site of the old St. George's Church. The house is in excellent repair. This property will be sold to the highest bidder.—J. C. CURRIE, Auctioneer.

AUCTION SALE OF VALUABLE

TOWN PROPERTY.—The vacant lot corner of East Street and Court House Square, known as the McConnell property, having a frontage of 16 ft. 8 in. on the Square, will be sold by public auction, on SATURDAY, APRIL 16th 1881, at 12 o'clock P. M. This is a corner lot and one of the most eligible business sites in town, and will be put up subject to a reserved bid. Other particulars made known at time of sale. J. C. CURRIE, Auctioneer. 1778-4.

A FAMOUS MISSIONARY.—Rev. Dr.

McKay, the celebrated Formosa Missionary, will preach in Knox Church, Goderich, on Sunday next, morning and evening. Dr. McKay has done a wonderful work on the Island of Formosa, and is now going through Canada, telling the story of his labors among the Chinese and seeking aid for his Mission. It is to be hoped he can be prevailed upon to lecture in Goderich. At one time, Dr. McKay taught school in the little village of Maitlandville, just over the river; but little did his hearers then think that in a few years he would be reckoned one of the greatest missionaries that have been known since Paul travelled through Asia Minor and to Rome. The Church will probably be crowded on Sunday to hear the great missionary preach the same truths which have turned so many Chinese heathens to Christ.

IN THE MARITIME COURT OF

ONTARIO.—Application of Suburban "William Wallace" under a commission for sale, issued out of the said Court, in the matter of the ESTATE OF HENRY DE APRIL, 1881, at twelve o'clock noon, the Suburban "William Wallace," of about 21 1/2 acres, together with her lands, appurtenances and also now lies at the Port of Goderich, Ontario. Terms—Cash or one month thereafter, without interest. Dates—1st March, 1881. Commission taken by ROBERT GIBBONS, Esq., Deputy Registrar. Solicitors, Goderich. 1780.

NEWS ABOUT HOME.

TOWN TOPICS.

Goderich milliners are said to lead the county in styles, and are good advertisers.

OCULIST.—Dr. Roseburgh, of Toronto, will be in Goderich on Saturday, 7th of May, at the residence of Mr. J. R. Miller.

The building lot corner of the Square and East street will be sold on Saturday by public auction. It ought to bring a good figure.

PERSONAL.—We omitted to give the name of Major Cooke, among the list of Huron officers at the banquet in London to Col. Taylor.

AT CONFERENCE.—The M. E. Conference is now sitting in London, and Rev. Mr. Francis is at present in that city with his brother ministers.

EARLY CLOSING.—The principal stores, of the town have decided to close at 7 o'clock every evening except Saturday. They began the practise for this season on Monday evening last.

The London Advertiser dubs Mr. Jos. Kidd "The Salt King of the West," and informs us that our townsman was in London last week buying boilers for his Goderich works.

Mr. VanEvery Dickson, of Wroxeter, was the phonetic reporter for the Court of Assize held here during this week. He is one of the regular law reporters under a yearly salary.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.—Services will be held in the Roman Catholic and Episcopal Churches to-day, it being Good Friday. Special services will also be held on Easter Sunday in both churches.

An obituary notice of Mr. Hillary Horton, of Colborne, who died on Saturday last after a brief illness, will appear next week. The deceased was much respected, and his funeral was largely attended.

The American flag proudly floats in the spring breezes before the residence of Hon. John Hibbard, American Consul. Mr. Hibbard now resides in the brick mansion formerly occupied by Mr. Hutchison.

PRIME NURSERY STOCK.—Intending growers of fruit who would like to get stock to name, should read the large announcement of George Leslie & Sons on fifth page. These gentlemen have made a splendid reputation for themselves as upright dealers.

SPRING OPENING IN MILLINERY.—Miss Stewart's spring opening on Wednesday was one of the events of the season. The millinery display was grand, and an admiring throng of ladies filled the store until late in the evening. Our lady readers should visit Miss Stewart's and see for themselves.

Mr. H. P. O'Connor, who ably conducted the Crown business during the present Assize, is an old Goderich boy having studied law with M. C. Cameron, M. P., and is now one of the leading lawyers in the County of Bruce. We prophesy his entrance into Parliament at no distant date.

MILITARY FUNERAL.—The remains of the late Major Thos. Dickson, who died last week, were on Wednesday last conveyed to the cemetery with military honors. Goderich infantry company led the funeral cortege, which moved slowly along to the weird music of the "Dead March." Major Dickson was a well known citizen, and at one time was in business in town.

Twelve cases will come up before the sitting of the Chancery Court next week. One of the most interesting will be that of the Village of Brussels vs. Ronald. The defendant was the recipient of a $20,000 bonus for removing his work-shops, and carrying on his business in Brussels, and it is claimed that he failed to fully carry out his part of the agreement.

THAT ABANDONED CASE.—The charge of assault brought against R. Thompson by Wm. McKean was dismissed by Mayor Horton on Monday last on the evidence adduced. The grand jury have also thrown out a bill against Robert Thompson for unlawfully wounding Wm. McKean. Mr. Thompson complains of our having used the term "transmission" in describing the case, and claims that he didn't bite McKean's nose. McKean declares that Thompson did bite his nasal organ, and he, perhaps, knows as much about it as anybody. We suppose it is only fair to give Thompson the benefit of the doubt; certainly the case was not legally proven.

THE NUPTIAL TIE.

The Wright Man in the Right Place.

An interesting event marriage of J. J. Wright, of the "Point Farm," and Miss Sutherland of Goderich—showers of Rice and Stippers Calcare.

On Wednesday last an event over which Goderich has been on tip-toe for some weeks past was finally consummated, in the marriage of J. J. Wright, Esq., the enterprising, energetic and well-known proprietor of the "Point Farm," Goderich's famous summer resort, to Miss Ellen Sutherland, third daughter of the late David Sutherland, Esq., of Almonte.

The interesting ceremony took place at "The Rookery," the summer residence of Mrs. Albert Crane, and was conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon Elwood, Rector of St. George's Church, Goderich. John C. Currie, Esq., of Goderich, County High Constable of Huron, gave away the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Bessie Wright, of Aylmer, Miss Currie, and Miss Mabel Cameron, daughter of Mr. C. Cameron, Esq., M. P., while Messrs. Marshall Wright and Thomas C. Wright kindly assisted the groom on the occasion.

The bride was arrayed in a dress of ashes of roses silk, trimmed with satin cord and tassels, and trimmed at the neck and sleeves with Spanish lace. The travelling costume was of grey cloth, trimmed with satin-bonnet of satin, with cardinal ties and roses, and a handsome grey plume. Travelling ulster of grey cloth; hood faced with cardinal. The trousseau was from the establishment of R. B. Smith & Co.

After the ceremony had been performed, the usual kiss was bestowed on the bride by the groom, and as it resounded through the room, it gave unmistakable evidence of the enthusiasm which actuated the principals. Then there were the congratulations of the friends present, the signing of the documents, and other et cetera incidental to events of the kind.

An adjournment to the dining room was next had, where a most elaborate wedding repast had been prepared by Mrs. Crane. In the centre of the table stood a monumental wedding-cake, and stories high, surmounted by banners, adorned with an elaborate representation of the rose and thistle entwined, emblematic of the blending of the English and Scotch nationalities in the bride and groom. The initials J. J. W. and E. S. were also interwoven, and carried out the allegory of the joining of two in one. Everything in connection with the solid substantial to the sparkling champagne, testified to the hospitality of the hostess, who seemed to enjoy the happy event as heartily as any one present, the principals, of course, excepted.

Here for an hour and a half wit, repartee, banter, sentiment and good wishes were indulged in by the company composed of Mr. Albert Crane, Miss Crane, Major Crane, Miss Esther Crane, Ven. Archdeacon Elwood, Miss Wright, of Aylmer, Mr. Marshall Wright, Mr. Mrs. and Miss Currie, Miss Mabel Cameron, Mr. Thos. C. Wright, Mr. Mitchell of the Star, Mr. D. McGillicuddy, of THE SIGNAL, and that, but by no means the least, the bride and groom, without whose presence it would have been awkward to get along under the circumstances.

At the conclusion of the breakfast, Ven. Archdeacon Elwood proposed the toast of "Mr. and Mrs. Wright," and in doing so paid a high tribute to the bride, whom he had known for many years. Mr. Wright responded in a feeling manner, and expressed his gratitude to the Archdeacon for his advice and assistance to him during the years of their acquaintance.

Mr. T. C. Wright proposed the toast of the "Press," which was responded to in a felicitous fashion by Messrs. Mitchell and McGillicuddy. The health of the Ven. Archdeacon was proposed by Mr. J. J. Wright, and duly responded to by the rev. gentleman.

Mr. Wright next proposed the toast of Mr. and Mrs. Currie for their kind assistance in bringing about the happy event. To this toast Mr. Currie replied stating that he hoped the journey of the new couple would be one of unadulterated joy, that no obstacles would ever be in their path, and that if they had any troubles they would be little ones.

The toast of "The Hostess," coupled with the names of Mrs. Crane and Major Crane was then, proposed by Mr. Wright, and endorsed by Messrs. Mitchell and McGillicuddy. A pleasant tribute was paid to the hospitality of the American people in general and the family of the hostess in particular, by the different gentlemen who spoke.

Mrs. Crane and Major Crane both thanked the company for the appreciation of their efforts to make the event a successful one.

It was now, 11.30 a. m. and the party adjourned to proceed to the station, as the happy couple purposed leaving by the noon train on their wedding tour, which will comprise a visit to Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York and other points of interest. All being in readiness the carriages were entered, and amid a shower of rice and a volley of slippers from the inmates of "The Rookery," the bridal party drove rapidly to the "Square." Here a novel sight presented itself. The sidewalks were

JUSTICE FASTING.

Judge Morrison Attends the Hungry Lawyers and Jurymen.

The fingers of the time-piece in the court room were pointing to one o'clock, on the first day of the Assize Court, when Mr. M. C. Cameron asked His Lordship, Justice Morrison, if he would be so kind as to adjourn the Court for luncheon.

"The jurymen as well as the members of the bar would be the better for a little refreshment," urged the lawyer.

"I do not care to adjourn the court when there is much work to do," was His Lordship's reply. "At Stratford, this circuit, the jury very patiently waited until nine or ten o'clock at night."

"But your Lordship might like—" "Oh, I never take luncheon when trying cases," was the astounding remark.

"Ah! my Lord, we are not all built on the same cast-iron principle," pleaded Mr. Cameron.

Judge Morrison laughed, and said kindly: "If the jury are agreeable we will adjourn for half an hour. Is it your desire, gentlemen?"

The eager eyes of the twelve hungry jurymen were fastened upon the Judge, and they rose to their feet like one man, and bowed their grateful assent.

The members of the bar seized their papers, and with the jury and spectators, rushed for dinner, while His Lordship remained alone in the court room, a fasting martyr to duty.

FASHIONABLE MILLINERY.

A Signal Reporter Visits the Chicago House.

"How long are you from Chicago, Mr. Copeland?" asked a SIGNAL reporter, as he entered the Chicago House on Wednesday morning, and was greeted by the affable proprietress.

"About a week, sir," returned Mrs. Copeland.

"And you got the very latest styles, I presume?" "Well, yes," was the reply, and she proceeded to chat pleasantly about her trips to that centre of fashion in the West. "I have many novelties," she continued, "and there are some exceedingly pretty things, I can assure you, see here."

And before the reporter's gaze were spread in rapid succession some beautiful samples of velvets, satins and plushes, so fine in texture, and so soft to the touch, that, man though he was, the reporter could not restrain his admiration.

"Here is a pretty thing in Italian lace," said the lady, and she handed a beautiful specimen of that work, in the form of a bonnet, to the visitor. "Our Loughorns, Tuscan, Milan, and all other sorts are very pretty, too," she went on to say, as she pointed to the articles named. So many pretty things were shown to him, that the reporter cannot even mention them all in the space at his disposal.

Mrs. Copeland is an extensive importer of American goods, and she makes it a point to get the newest French and American novelties. The Chicago House is devoted entirely to the millinery trade, and from the most exquisite bonnet to the simplest hat, everything in the millinery line is made up in a style to suit all classes.

The advertisement of the Chicago House, on fifth page, is one of the features of this issue.

West Riding of Huron Spring Show.

The fine weather on Wednesday brought out a large attendance of spectators at the annual spring show of the West Riding of Huron. The exhibition of horses was large, there being no less than twenty-two entries, and some of them notably the imported heavy draughts of J. J. Fisher, were first class animals. Only four bulls were shown, a fact which reflects but little credit upon the persons interested in this class. It is a pity that in a section where there are so many superior bulls, only two animals in two classes could be found to face the judges. However, the animals shown were good, particularly "Matchem," a young bull shown by Mr. Alexander Young, of Kintail.

The judges were Messrs. John Cunningham, Hullett; John Warrington, West Wawanosh; and Jas. Torrance, Gladerich township.

Marine News.

A notice from the Marine and Fisheries Department gives permission to change the name of the steam tug Stanley, to Josephine Kidd.

The Chicago vessel owners' association has decided to levy an assessment of 5c. per ton on all tonnage of members, for the purpose of supporting the organization.

The ice is still in the harbor and at its entrance, but is fast rotting. A good shower and a lively off shore breeze, however, will be needed to break it up and open navigation here.

For additional marine news see 6th page.

Horses for Dakota.

Messrs. McNaught and Dickson shipped from here yesterday for Fargo, Dakota, a carload of fine horses as I've left this station this season. The most of them were purchased in the northern part of this county and in South Bruce. They will average about 1,400 pounds, and are fine, brice, clean limbed animals. The average price paid for them here was about $120 each.

Mr. John Dickson accompanies the lot to Dakota, and we hope he will make well out of his venture. At any rate we can assure the Dakotans that they will have as fine a lot of horses to select from as can be picked up in this the best section for horse flesh in Ontario.

On the occasion of his last visit to Dakota, and before leaving Fargo, he met the Wilcox party on their arrival there, and assisted them to unload their cargo. He states that owing to snow blocks and other delays, they were on the road some nine days from leaving here. Before leaving here he had been represented to them that they could get their effects into the land of the mighty Eagle without paying duty, but when they arrived at the lines this delusion was speedily dispelled, and the Yankee Customs officers made them all disgorge, and duty was collected. This is another salutary warning to intending emigrants not to be led away by the plausible stories of American land agents, but to rely more upon their own knowledge than common sense. The stock which the party took with them was pretty well used up when they reached their destination. Mr. George Fowler had to lose two of his horses in Fargo, having got cast in the cars and were trampled upon, and Mr. E. Walker had a valuable animal die on the road. While in Fargo Mr. Dickson met our old friend I. Mr. Wm. Leaf, and sold him five horses. We are glad to learn that Mr. Rae has struck a good thing in a large company of capitalists as a bonus organized in Fargo to manufacture bricks near that city as an extensive scale, and Mr. Rae has been awarded contracts in connection with these works from which he expects to derive liberal profits. May his expectations be more than realized, as he is well deserving of a rich take.—[E]s postor.
