posted as any man in Western Canada the science of fire fighting and or public water and light works generally and he gave his impressions of the situation here this morning in a concise way when he said that Edmonton had been well advised as far as it had some More fire-fighting apparatus, he said, is needed in this city, a new and larger engine, more steamer hydrants, another fire hall and some few other things of minor importance. Not one collar, he says, has been wasted. Everything that the city has is good, but to meet the rapidly growing wants, this must be supplemented. In three years that he has been chief of the committee in Win nipeg, they have enlarged the numerical and mechanical strength of the fire fighters and apparatus three-fold, and sure system on which they will use a and one-half inch nozzle with 300 pound pressure a force which will bat ter a hole through an 18 inch brick wall almost as tast as a hotchkiss gun. Speaking of the power proposition, he said that using producer gas for fuel at the present price of coal, the city should be able to supply electrical energy at $12 per horse power per year. With a possibility of 75c coal, which the city may be able to avail itself of by raising its own fuel from its own shaft at the power house, the price $10 per horse power, probably the low- ficers were elected.

Speaking of the water question, Alderman Gibson sail that the Saskatch wan water was as good as any in the world and with filtration to collect the sediment, it would be as blue and clear take be higher up.
